Tanker Blast Rocks Dallas

By GARY GARRISON

DALLAS (AP) — Residents returned today to North Dallas homes abandoned after two propane tankers of a 55-car freight train exploded Sunday night. There were no reports of injuries.

The blast just before 8 p.m. shook much of the north side of the city. Flames could be seen 50 miles away.

"Every building within a half-mile radius has been damaged to some extent," said Pete Nunez, a fire department spokesman.

Windows in nearby warehouses and office buildings were blown out and parts of one small warehouse were demolished. Officials said light evening traffic and the absence of a normal number of workmen prevented deaths or serious injuries.

Investigators had no immediate explanation for the explosion, although they were trying to determine if the Santa Fe train had derailed just before the blast.

Two other propane tankers and four cars containing dangerous vinyl chloride were pulled safely away from the smoldering wreckage of the

Veteran Lumberman Stanley Nowlen Is Dead

Stanley Nowlen, longtime member of a family lumber business that traced its history back to the earliest years of the City of Benton Harbor, was dead on arrival at 12:30 p.m. Sunday in St. Joseph Memorial hospital.

Mr. Nowlen had served some 58 years with the Nowlen Lumber Co., retiring in 1976 when the business was sold to new ownership. He went to work at the family lumber yard in 1918, and was a partner in the firm many years. The lumber company, under prior owners, had been established about the time the old Benton Harbor ship canal was dug to allow lake sailing ships to dock in Benton Harbor. His father, Bert, had joined the company near the turn of the century.

Mr. Nowlen, 85, was born in Benton Harbor on March 15, 1891.

His home was at 2253 Pawnee Path, Stevensville.

Surviving are his widow, the former Freeda Long, to whom he was married in 1965; two sons, Grattan "Bud" Nowlen, St. Joseph and Thomas T. Nowlen, Benton Harbor; two stepsons, Craig Kettlehut, St. Joseph and Kurt Kettlehut, Boca Raton, Fla.; seven grandchildren; three brothers, Thomas A., Benton Harbor, Hilton, LaMesa, Calif., Gene, Laguna Beach, Calif.; sister,

Mail Order Fraud Booming Business

By JEFFREY MILLS
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — If you're looking for a quick way to get rich, lose weight, grow hair, remove wrinkles or become a better lover, you're a target for a fast-growing, half-billion dollar industry — mail fraud.

Postal Service officials say the swindle-by-mail business is so sophisticated it has developed a legitimate offshoot. One promoter is peddling the names of his best customers, a "prime sucker list."

Anyone looking for a start in swindling can purchase the list legally. That way he doesn't have to drum up his own clientele.

Officials responsible for policing mail fraud say it is both diverse and booming. "The variety of stuff around is amazing," said George Davis, assistant general counsel for the Post Office.

The Postal Service estimates swindlers who made about $194 million two years ago upped their take to at least $514 million in fiscal 1976.

Postal authorities stress that most of the $60 billion-a-year mail order industry is reputable. But they warn consumers to be suspicious of products and direct-mail offers that seem too good to be true.

Recent examples include a cream to "quickly enlarge the bustline up to five times while sleeping" and a "youth mask" guaranteed to produce the "equivalent to a miniature facelift."

Unscrupulous promoters have used the mails to sell the public worthless diet pills, fake medical devices, phony investment plans, pseudo cures for baldness and impotency, so-called aphrodisiacs, and fake devices to remove wrinkles and increase the length of fingernails.

One rip-off artist had a religious twist, soliciting priests for donations to help win canonization of John Neumann, a 19th century Philadelphia bishop who already had been chosen for sainthood.

To combat mail-order promoters who advertise falsely or who fail to furnish the product they promise, the Postal Service can stop delivering them their mail, cutting off the supply of cash. Or it can move under the nation's oldest consumer protection law, the 1872 mail fraud law, to seek jail terms against the operators.

Enforcement of existing laws ran one company out of business, but may have put it into an even more lucrative field, Postal Officials say.

Postal Service attorney Thomas Ziebarth said a group was advertising "a new line of incredibly practical, unwoven polyester and rayon-blend towels. Set of five for $1." The towels turned out to be a paper-like substance, and the firm was shut down, Ziebarth said.

Undeterred, the operators bought space in trade publications to advertise sale of its "prime sucker list," persons who had been conned by the towel business.

The Postal Service can watch, but not touch the sucker list advertisements, Ziebarth said, adding they appear more lucrative to their owners than the inexpensive towels.

"You can't make much on a $1 product, but they had a mailing list that wouldn't stop. Apparently, there is a market for this sort of thing," Ziebarth said.

River Valley Will Battle South Haven

Host River Valley drew South Haven for the first round of the Class B district basketball tournament at River Valley in the drawing held this morning.

The Rams, Wolverine conference leaders, sport a 13-5 record, while River Valley stands 12-6. Lakeshore drew a bye and will face Tuesday's Paw Paw - Coloma winner Thursday night.

Were it left to me to decide whether we should have government without newspapers or newspapers without government, I should not hesitate to prefer the latter. — Thomas Jefferson.

Carter Dabbling In Brinkmanship

Throughout his tenure as Secretary of State in the Eisenhower Administration, John Foster Dulles came under persistent criticism for what the political commentators called brinkmanship.

The term referred to his penchant for taking a hard line with the Soviet bloc on any and all issues, extending at times to what appeared to be pushing Uncle Sam to the brink of World War III.

Sufficient time has yet to elapse before the historian can point with some degree of analytical confidence if this boldness served its intended purpose.

John F. Kennedy promptly reversed the course by holding back the aerial support needed to guarantee any degree of success for the Bay of Pigs invasion into Cuba. Then a year later personally confronted Khrushchev in a shouting match which bluffed the Russians into withdrawing their missiles from Cuba.

Nixon and Ford followed a softer line, first to arrive at detente with the Kremlin and then to keep this lukewarm accommodation from turning cold.

Lyndon Johnson essayed a mixture of formalized conciliation towards the Kremlin as an institution and outright warfare against its spiritual allies such as North Vietnam.

Carter seemingly is setting off on the experimental tangent of throwing several darts at once to see which may hit the target.

He has stated on several occasions it is imperative for world peace that Russia and the U.S. put real meaning into SALT, the Strategic Arms Limitations Talks, which are still more shadow than substance.

The Arab community pegs him as an avowed ally of Israel, yet last week he banned the sale of the concussion bomb to Israel whose military leaders were counting on this development to neutralize some highly versatile missiles supplied by the Soviets to Israel's hostile neighbors.

While cancelling Ford's expert order of the new weapon, Carter wrote a warm personal letter to Andrei Sakharov, the Nobel prize winning scientist turned Russian civil rights leader, expressing approval of Sakharov's fight to free the Russian public from the Kremlin's mental repression.

Though Jody Powell, Carter's press secretary, contends the letter is a personal commendation from one man to another, it is scarcely the same type of communication common to international student pen pals.

The Kremlin views the letter as an official attempt to interfere in Russian internal affairs.

Powell argues the letter is no different than the Soviet controlled press extolling the virtues of Angela Davis, the anti-American militant, and that it is in perfect accord with the Helsinki agreement to extend civil liberties on a global concept.

It is the priorities which the Sakharov correspondence opens to question.

France and England have a long heritage in civil rights of their respective vintages, but, that never prevented either from warring against one another in years gone by.

Russia and Red China are thought control governments, but that does not prevent them from staging huge military forces on each side of the Siberian border.

So what has the greater chance of preventing another world conflict?

Agreement between the two greatest powers that the conflict would be a reciprocal disaster, or,

Trying to induce one of them to import the other's concept of human rights.

Carter may have an ace up his sleeve in attempting the latter gambit, and if he does, that's wonderful.

However, telling one government how to treat its citizens is not the stuff from which diplomacy is made.

G-G-G-Goosebumps Are Great For Your Health

If there are many silver linings in the weather clouds this winter, they are few and far between. From immediate cold and drought crises to potential floods in the spring and even possible gasoline shortages next summer, the short term outlook could stand considerable improvement. Since little has been done about the long range energy outlook, there is little to cheer about there either.

So it is with some gratitude the advice from the American Medical Association that lowering the thermostat to 65 or even 60 degrees is better for your health. The advice is not new, only more timely. For years the AMA has held the position that the average American home is too warm to be healthy.

Higher temperatures, AMA spokesmen say, remove moisture from the air and aggravate respiratory diseases. Too much heat also contributes to coughs, dry noses and throats and dry itchy skin.

Officials of the National Institutes of Health agree. Because "viruses grow better at warm temperatures reducing the heat even to 60 degrees inside won't do any harm to your health, and it may even be healthier as far as respiratory diseases are concerned," confirms John Blamphin of the NIH.

Admittedly, it may take some adjusting to accept goose bumps as a sign of a healthier environment.

Editor,

This letter is a response to Dean Slowik's letter of Feb.16.

It seems to me that the C.E.S. is trying to put our local ambulance services out of business. Rampart ambulance service is a fine local service and together Action and Rampart do a fine job of taking care of our local needs.

Instead of using our local assets (Rampart and Action ambulance companies) our local politicians feel that they should form their own governmental agency. In trying to put Rampart and Action ambulance out of business our local authorities are putting local people out of business and out of jobs not to mention that there will be two more businesses run out of the area.

I think that the politicians of our area especially those of Benton township are trying to give our local businessmen a dirty deal. As other letters to this paper have stated the manager and president of Rampart ambulance, Steven Reed, has been raised and educated here in Benton Harbor and he and his brother, Phillip Reed, have devoted much of their lives to our community. They are fine examples of what our area has to offer. Very few men of 24 have run a business as well as Stephen Reed has.

Rampart and Action we wish you luck.

OPPOSES WARNKE NOMINATION

President Jimmy Carter
The White House
Washington, D.C.

Dear President Carter:

I have just learned that Mr. Paul Warnke has been nominated to serve as both chief negotiator for the SALT agreements, and Director of the U.S. Arms Control and Disarmament Agency, I see that Mr. Warnke is at the present time listed in the files of the Justice Department as a foreign agent of Communist Algeria, that is Registration Number 2564.

It is my understanding that Paul Warnke wrote in Foreign Policy while campaign manager for George McGovern as his chief national security advisor that the idea that our country must remain ahead of the Soviet Union in military power is only a "Fallacy that inflates defense spending."

Please, Mr. President, withdraw this nomination.

A few days ago I wrote to you about maintaining the sovereignty of our Panama Canal. Now I am reading that Sol M. Linowitz has been named as chief negotiator for a new Panama Canal Treaty. It has been revealed that the Justice Department shows Linowitz was a registered foreign agent of the Communist government of Chile while under the rule of Salvador Allende, Registration Number 2222; also, as of February 1, Linowitz was an "Active" registered foreign agent, Number 2440, for the interests of Colombia, Panama's neighbor.

Mr. President, you have repeatedly stated that you have nothing to hide but who in the world do you have advising you? We are American citizens, working hard and paying our taxes, and many of us are Christians who love the Lord and America and we are pleading with you to make appointments who are of this caliber.

Mrs. Irma Collier

Do You REMEMBER?

— 10 Years Ago —

The Great Blizzard of 1967 will go down in history as the most expensive ever in St. Joseph. City Manager Leland L. Hill reported Monday night the 22-inch snowfall cost St. Joseph $42,043, bringing this year's snow plowing and removal expenditures to $53,859.

— 25 Years Ago —

Ten rural school districts of the Coloma area faced with a skyrocketing student population, overcrowded schools and no sign of relief, met last night in the Coloma high school to hear one possible answer. The answer advanced — a reorganization of the ten into one — came from a committee of representatives of each of the districts. The plan they advanced, if voted in, would unite the assets and deficits, the blessings and the evils of the ten districts into a common pool. The ten districts are: Boyer, Bundy, Clymer, Coloma, Curtis, Gray, Ingraham, Pier and Washington.

Evangelist Eke, who a few months ago rented the Latter Day Saints church, is contemplating buying a tract of 30 acres and building a number of cottages to house factory employes and care for summer tourists.

Bush Joins GOP Line For 1980

WASHINGTON — Add another name to the list of potential Republican presidential candidates for 1980: George Bush, freed from the tongue-tying restraints of the Central Intelligence Agency, is back on the political market.

Bush, 48, one of the GOP's most articulate and versatile figures, has just returned to Houston to resume a business career and rebuild his partisan political credentials in case opportunity beckons four years hence.

Although Congress has barely finished counting the 1976 electoral votes, the line of Republicans who may seek a shot at Jimmy Carter in 1980 keeps growing. Bush is merely the latest addition to a list that includes:

Ronald Reagan, John Connally, Elliot Richardson, Donald Rumsfeld, Sen. Howard H. Baker Jr., Illinois Gov. Jim Thompson and the defeated 1976 ticket, Gerald R. Ford and Sen. Robert Dole.

Even before he unpacked, Bush dashed off to Alaska for a round of Lincoln Day speeches, his first political appearances in three years. (As head of the U.S. mission to the People's Republic of China and later as CIA director, he avoided partisan events).

"I'll be doing some of that kind of thing, hopefully to help the party," Bush told us. "I've told people that, sure, I want to stay alive politically."

Bush won't need to scratch around for invitations. As GOP national chairman for 20 months in 1973-74, he delivered hundreds of speeches on the rubber-chicken circuit during the darkest days of Watergate, when Republicans needed all the help they could get. The party activists haven't forgotten his dedication.

Bush can also count on assistance from a small but talented group of political operatives who returned to Houston from Washington at the same time he did.

Among them are James Baker, a long time Bush ally who won almost universal praise as Ford's campaign manager last year, and Pete Roussel, a former Bush aide at the GOP National Committee who worked at the Ford White House under two successive chiefs-of-staff, Rumsfeld and Richard Cheney.

Like Bush, Baker and Roussel insist it is premature to talk seriously about 1980. "It's fair to say that George would look at it," Baker said. "It's something he obviously hasn't ruled out and if he decided to do something, I'd certainly help."

"George has never said he is going to run for President," Roussel said, "but if you're asking whether I think he should, I'd say it would be hard to come up with a better guy. The only way we're going to beat Carter is with a guy from this area, from the South, and George has across-the-board appeal within the party."

Bush has more going for him than geography and talented supporters. He has unusually broad experience in elective office (two terms in the House), party politics (chairman of the GOP) and government service (ambassador to the United Nations as well as the China and CIA posts). A moderate conservative, he has admirers in both the Reagan and Rockefeller wings of the GOP.

His biggest apparent drawback — the lack of a visible base in the form of a Senate seat or other office — could prove to be an asset in disguise.

Our last two elected Presidents, Carter and Richard M. Nixon, had been out of office for two years when they captured the White House. Both were able to devote full time to campaigning, unfettered by competing duties or demands on their time, and the grind paid off.

Big Labor Unions Work On Carter

WASHINGTON — President Carter's relationship with the labor movement is shaping up as an uneasy but functioning truce.

Big labor played a crucial role in Carter's election and expects to be rewarded accordingly. And the political climate is definitely more favorable than it was during the eight Republican years. But so far Carter and labor are not exactly marching as one.

First, Carter refused to pick George Meany's only choice, John Dunlop, as Secretary of Labor. But then he selected a pro-labor professor who has been promptly embraced by the unions.

Next Carter proposed an economic stimulus package which labor considered too small and too slow. The AFL-CIO didn't even wait until after the inauguration to begin complaining and lobbying Congress for changes. Congress now seems to lean more toward labor's position than Carter's. Carter has indicated he will duck a confrontation and go along.

Carter asked labor not to press for other legislation until the jobs and tax package was passed. The AFL-CIO has dutifully been stressing that measure as its first priority.

But the building trades unions are impatient to revive the common situs picketing bill, which would permit one striking union to shut down an entire construction project even though the other subcontractors on the job had no labor grievance.

Common situs passed both houses last year, but was vetoed by President Ford, who claimed that it was too inflationary. Carter has indicated that while he is not thrilled about the measure he will not veto it.

The AFL-CIO executive council will meet in Miami later this month to set its priorities for the rest of the year. It is expected to decide to make an early push for a strip-mining bill and repeal the Hatch Act, both measures which passed Congress last year and were vetoed by Ford.

Carter supports strip-mining legislation, but he has not publicly expressed a position on the Hatch Act repeal, which would permit civil servants to participate in politics. He may not favor it. Some feel that it would politicize the federal government even to its lowest levels, and Carter has insisted he wants to make government less partisan.

The biggest controversy for which labor is preparing is another effort to repeal 14-b, a section of the Taft-Hartley law which permits state right-to-work laws. Carter, after some confusion about his position during the campaign, has said he will sign such a bill but not lift a finger to help get it passed.

Either way, it is going to be a whopper of a battle. Twenty states, including the entire Deep South, have right-to-work laws, which allow workers to hold a job without joining a union. Right-to-work forces are raising $5 million to fight repeal; the unions can be expected to match it and more.

House Minority Leader John Rhodes claims that repeal doesn't have enough votes to get out of committee. The outlook for repeal appears more favorable, however, in the Senate.

Another N-Dump Hearing

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A second public hearing on nuclear waste disposal in Michigan will be held March 15 in Lansing, the governor's office said. An earlier hearing was held in Alpena, the proposed site of nuclear waste dumping. A third hearing will be held in the Detroit area in April. The March 15 hearing will begin at 2 p.m. in the Law Building of the State Capitol Complex.

Homeowner Applicants Sought

SJ Still Has Fixup Funds

The City of St. Joseph has about $6,000 remaining of federal community development money earmarked to assist low-income property owners in making repairs to their homes.

Depending on his income, a homeowner may qualify for up to $2,000 of this money in the form of an outright grant or for an interest subsidized home improvement loan.

St. Joseph building inspector Clyde Durham, coordinator of the program, said the city is seeking applicants for the remaining money.

The city has already spent about $26,000 of the $32,300 it received from the federal government in the past two years for home rehabilitation loans and grants. The money was used by 14 homeowners.

The city is seeking another $16,000 to continue the program, according to Dick Kiesel, city assessor. The money is being sought in the city's application for third-year funding under the federal community development act.

St. Joseph homeowners wishing to apply for some of this money should contact Durham at city hall.

For an interest subsidized loan, the homeowner must have assets of less than $18,000 (not including his home, car and personal effects) and an annual income of less than $12,000. The subsidy would pay all but three per cent of the interest on a home improvement loan.

For a direct grant, the applicant must have assets of less than $5,000 and an annual income of less than $7,000.

St. Joe Barber Retiring After 47 Years On Job

BY LARRY MacINTYRE
Staff Writer

During the 47 years that Benjamin Sims has been a barber in St. Joseph, he has seated as many as five generations of a family in his barber's chair.

His barbering days will soon come to an end, though, as Sims has made a deal to sell the barber shop he owns in partnership with his son, Benjamin Jr., at 1801 Lake Shore drive.

If all goes as planned, Sims, 68, will work his last day in the shop Friday, March 4.

On the following Monday, the shop is to open under the ownership of Dennis Bauer, 30.

Once the shop is sold he will take up permanent residence in Battle Creek which is the home town of his wife, Mary.

"It's just like leaving a relative...there are so many memories and the people were so nice," Sims said of his impending departure from St. Joseph. Sims said he has lived in the Twin Cities area since 1921. He said he is selling his home at 554 Boynton street, Benton township.

Sims, who came to St. Joseph with his parents about 10 years earlier, began his barbering career in 1930 when he went to work in a shop on Main street owned by the late Frank Green.

Haircuts had dropped from 35 to 25 cents back then when the depression started, he said. Now, they are $3.50.

Since then, Sims has watched a good many of the toddlers squirming under his scissors grow into adults, and he has enjoyed keeping track of them.

He said he has given haircuts to five generations of the Merchant family, of which the most recent two were Howard Merchant, a Whirlpool engineer, and his sons, Michael and Thomas.

Sims said that when he first went to work for Green, the old barber gave him a piece of advice that has stood him in good stead ever since.

"Old barber Green told me there were three things I should never do: don't argue politics, don't argue religion and don't talk about people because you might be talking about the customer's cousin."

A year later Green died. Sims moved on to another barber shop at 1505 Niles avenue owned by the late Horace Hart.

That shop was located right across from what was then St. Joseph high school and was later Milton junior high.

Sims, a 1929 graduate of St. Joseph high, said he old school was deeply saddened to see the building being torn down.

In 1934, he and another barber named Charles Mitchell bought the shop from Hart. Then in 1955, Mitchell sold out to Sims' son, Benjamin Jr.

In 1962, the father and son barbers moved into their present building which had been a gas station before it was remodeled.

Sims said the barbering business was very good from the end of World War II up until the Beatles became popular in the early Sixties.

"We laughed at them, but we didn't know that their hairstyles were going to kill us," he said.

Before the Beatles, men would get haircuts every couple of weeks. Since then, it's every couple of months, Sims said.

He said that in the past 10 or 15 years the city of St. Joseph has gone from 16 barber shops to six.

Sims plans to keep active by doing some barbering in nursing homes in Battle Creek.

Sims' son, Benjamin Jr., lives at 1781 Broadmoor drive, St. Joseph township, and a daughter, Michelle, lives in Harvey, Ill. Both are married. Benjamin Jr. recently was promoted to personnel and safety manager at Superior Steel Castings Co., Benton Harbor, where he has worked since 1974.

Benjamin Sims Sr. said his present wife, Mary, is his third. They were married about two years ago. His first two wives died, leaving him a widower twice. "I guess I'm one of those guys who can't live alone," Sims said.

Everett Groseclose, public affairs director of The Wall Street Journal, as the featured speaker. His topic was "Bringing Wall Street to Main Street.

Arlys Derrick, women's editor for the Herald-Palladium, was chairman for the Michigan communications contest. She was also a member of panel on computerized printing and the newspaper of the future.

Also attending the conference were Mr. and Mrs. Bryce Engle, Watervliet.

BH City Hall Gets Soaked

A four-inch water main, which services the city hall broke today about 7 a.m., sending hundreds of gallons of water into the street and into city hall's room and boiler room, Rollie Curtis supervisor of the city's water department said.

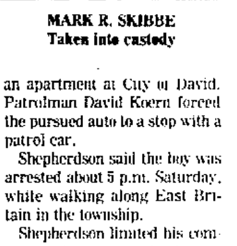
Curtis said because of a backlog of work, a private contractor will be called in to restore service. Water was expected to be flowing to city hall by tommorow, said Curtis.

SANDBURG WIDOW DIES

ASHEVILLE, N.C. (AP) — Lilian Sandburg, a suffragette and the wife of poet and historian Carl Sandburg, died Friday at age 93. The Sandburgs were married 59 years, until his death in 1967.

Pair Arrested On Charges Of Armed Robbery

An "intensive investigation" into an armed robbery last Thursday of the Kentucky Fried Chicken take-out restaurant in Benton township resulted in the arrests Saturday of a 21-year-old man and a boy, age 15, according to township Det. Robert Shepherdson.



MARK R. SKIBBE

Booked on a charge of armed robbery and lodged in Berrien county jail was Mark R. Skibbe, 21, of City of David apartments, East Britain avenue, Benton township.

The boy, from Benton Harbor, also was booked on a charge of armed robbery and lodged in the Berrien county juvenile detention center, Berrien Springs.

The robbery occurred about 9 p.m. Thursday, when two robbers barged into the restaurant at 1957 M-139, wearing pillow cases for masks and carrying sawed off rifles. Cash totaling $390 was stolen from a safe. Entry was gained when en employe answered a knock on the door of the restaurant, which had already closed for the night. Police found two sawed-off rifles and a pillow case outside near the restaurant during a search.

Shepherdson said Skibbe and the boy are not suspects in another armed robbery about 5 p.m. the same day, that netted two youths $37.30 from the Kayo service station, 1403 Territorial road, Benton township. One reportedly held a pistol.

Shepherdson said Skibbe was arrested about 6 p.m. Saturday, following a brief chase along Martin Luther King drive, after officers watched a suspect leave an apartment at City of David. Patrolman David Koern forced the pursued auto to a stop with a patrol car.

Shepherdson said the boy was arrested about 5 p.m. Saturday, while walking along East Britain in the township.

Shepherdson limited his comments about events leading to the arrests to a statement that police conducted "an intensive investigation." Shepherdson said the prosecutor's office will be asked to authorize the armed robbery charge against Skibbe.

Skibbe also was booked on another charge of driving while his operator's license was suspended.

Shepherdson said the 15-year-old boy would be petitioned into juvenile court.

Whirlpool Will Start Hiring

Whirlpool's St. Joseph division has recalled all remaining laid-off workers and intends to hire new workers this week, according to Erv Kreter, manager of communications.

Increased demand for the 29-inch automatic washer produced at the St. Joseph division has opened up the new jobs, Kreter said.

Over the last couple of months, all the workers who remained on lay-off following settlement of a work stoppage last summer have been recalled, Kreter said. The company is now interviewing for factory jobs. Kreter said he doesn't know how many new employes will be hired.

About 1,650 workers were employed before the company lockout over failure to reach a new contract. All but 135 of those are back at work, Kreter said. Some of the 135 chose not to return to work, he said. Others have retired.

He Caught Ride Right Into Jail

State Trooper Ralph Drumm of the Benton Harbor post said he jailed a freeway hitchhiker Saturday, but only after:

—Issuing a ticket for hitchhiking on I-94 and explaining the law against freeway hitchhiking;

—Driving the hitchhiker to the post and providing him with a map on which Drumm traced legal hitchhiking routes;

—Driving the hitchhiker to a point near I-94 in Benton township where he could resume the trip by thumb.

Drumm said the hitchhiker, identified as Frederick A. Stover, 32, Grandville, said he didn't care if he went to jail. "Within 15 minutes," he walked back onto the freeway, Drumm said. Drumm said Stover then was arrested and lodged in jail after being booked on a charge of refusing to comply with an order given by a police officer.

Drumm said he first encountered the hitchhiker on eastbound I-94, Benton township, while on routine patrol about 9:25 a.m.

BUCHANAN BLAZE: Fire early Sunday morning destroyed 25 by 40-foot barn at the Ralph Schaber farm, on Glendora road, north of Buchanan. Richard Flenar, Buchanan township fire chief, said cause of 4:45 a.m. fire is being investigated. He said two bicycles, roto tiller and lumber were stored in barn and total damage will exceed several thousand dollars. Photo shows township firemen spraying water on flaming building. (Staff photo)

Teachers Filing Labor Grievance In New Buffalo

NEW BUFFALO — An unfair labor practice suit against the New Buffalo school board will be filed with the state department of labor by the Michigan Education Association on behalf of the New Buffalo teachers association.

The announcement was made this morning by Daniel Lisak, president of the New Buffalo Education association.

Teachers at New Buffalo have been working without a contract since the start of school last fall. Their old contract expired June 30, 1976. Two state mediation sessions have failed to end the dispute.

In its suit the BHEA contends the board has not bargained in good faith; has stated no salary increases would be granted; has not made a salary proposal of any type; and that the board's representatives in bargaining have contended they are without authority to make a salary proposal.

The suit acknowledged on salary that the board representatives had indicated they would accept a recommendation of a mediator, however.

A fifth specification contends that the board and NBEA representatives have been in purported negotiations since May, 1976. Supt. Walter Schwarz this morning said this morning that the school board has been waiting for the NBEA to come back to the table for continued negotiations. He said he would comment further on the matter at tonight's school board meeting.

The MEA, also requests the department of labor issue an order directing the board to cease and desist from bargaining in bad faith and for the board to bargain in good faith in accordance with requirements of the Public Employment Relations Act. The MEA also seeks that the board pay costs and other relief deemed necessary.

The Lansing law firm of Foster, Swift and Collins is handling the MEA suit.

The exhibit, organized by the University Museum and Art Galleries at Southern Illinois university, Carbondale, consists of more than 100 objects.

The retrospective represents 200 years of blacksmithing in America and highlights the new direction of artistry in iron.

Towns Developed Around Pastures

Cow pastures were once an important part of any town's urban development.

In fact, most of the early colonial towns were laid out with a village green to provide pasturage for the "common" good. That's how Boston Common got its name in 1634.

STUDENTS BORN OVERSEAS

Announce Essay Winners

Three area students, all born overseas, have been awarded medals by Algonquin Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, for their winning entries in the DAR's American history essay contest.

Theme for the essays this year was "Battles of the American Revolution," according to Miss Charlotte Groff, contest chairman, who has already entered the winning essays in the state contest.

Merel vander Aart, Coloma middle school, was the sixth grade winner. Her essay title was "Yorktown, What a Battle!" She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frans vande Aart, 5402 Coloma North road, Coloma. Born in Voorhout, The Netherlands, she has resided in the United States one year and has learned most of her English since coming to Coloma. Her teacher is Betty Stelter.

Margaret Johnston, seventh grader at Andrews Junior Academy, Berrien Springs, won for her essay on "The Battle of Cowpens." The daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Robert Johnston, 213 Ridge avenue, Berrien Springs, she was born in Seoul, Korea, and spent the first seven years of her life in that country and the Philippines, where her parents were college instructors. She returned home in time to receive all of her education in United States schools. Her teacher is Minerva Straman.

Dantar Oosterwal, whose essay "The Fight for Redoubt 10" was the eighth grade winner, is also a student at Andrews Junior Academy. He is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Gottfried Oosterwal, 309 Hillcrest drive, Berrien Springs, formerly of Rotterdam, The Netherlands. He was born in the interior of New Guinea, where his parents were involved in linguistic research. He later lived in the Philippines, and his first language was Filipino although his family spoke Dutch. Beginning school in the United States, he has more recently added English to his list of languages. He is also a student of Mrs. Straman.

The three winners, their parents and teachers will be guests of Algonquin chapter at its Thursday, March 10 meeting to be held at 1:30 p.m. in the First National Bank of Southwestern Michigan, St. Joseph.

Natüre Dealing Cruel Blows

Mother Nature has and is continuing to deal cruel blows to fresh fruits and vegetables, according to Maryann Beckman, District Extension Consumer Marketing Information Agent. Keeping up with what is happening can help you decide what to buy or not to buy.

Mrs. Beckman added:

The first official reports of Florida freeze damage show less damage than was earlier anticipated for citrus. The record citrus crop of before the freeze is now estimated to be down by only 15 per cent, which still leaves a record crop nationwide. Though prices are up some on citrus fruits, prices are still lower than a year ago.

Though these first figures show less damage than anticipated, the total situation still depends on the weather from here on. If weather warms up too much in Florida, more fruit may drop and deteriorate, which will cause additional losses. Crops from Texas, Arizona and California remain about as they have been.

You will continue to see higher prices on many winter vegetables for the next 70 to 90 days. It takes that long to get the replanted crops to market. Then they will hit the markets at the same time as other spring vegetables from other areas are coming in, so prices may be much, much lower then, due to market gluts.

A good volume of some winter vegetables will be coming in from other areas. Mexico is shipping a large volume of tomatoes, which has lowered prices, and tomatoes, cukes and green peppers will soon be here from the Bahamas.

Lettuce from California and Arizona is increasing in volume and quality so prices are lower. A lot of top quality "other" greens, such as spinach, mustard greens, escarole, are coming to market at seasonally reasonable prices, for other salad choices.

Cabbage for salads is almost "out of sight" in price now, jumping from around 19 to 25 cents a pound two to three weeks ago, to 49 to 59 cents a pound now. Rains in Texas, that have hampered harvest, are the reason. When fields dry out and if quality hasn't been damaged too much, cabbage should soon be lower again.

Carrot prices are higher now, too, because of lower total supplies and increased demand; same with potatoes. When other vegetables are in short supply at much higher prices, consumers turn to some of the old standbys, which then increases both demand and prices.

Increased exports, lack of trucks and too cold weather to ship potatoes are other factors affecting potato prices. The Florida potato crop appears to be in better shape now than anticipated; too, but the crop will be more than a month later than usual.

Mother Nature has been cruel to California growers, too, who are praying for rain and now living with rationed water for crops. When they don't have water, crop yields are down, total supplies are smaller and prices go up.

The outlook for California fresh asparagus looks good though. They need more warm weather to get volume supplies to market, but the first is already here at seasonally high prices. Look for prices to drop by the end of the month.

Another touch of spring, in the form of fresh hot-house rhubarb, is now in markets at very reasonable prices.

Slightly higher prices on apples now are a result of the increased costs of CA (controlled atmosphere) storage over cold storage costs, rather than the weather. Most apples are now from CA storages, which means they taste like crisp, fall-fresh apples. Bananas, winter pears and fresh pineapple are other good fruit choices.

You will still want to include fresh fruits and vegetables in menus, along with processed, so best buying advice is to look over quality and price carefully and then adjust your purchases, based on current knowledge.

Michigan Council For Arts Announces Grant Program

Michigan Council for the Arts has announced that a new grant program, Arts-In-Educatioc being made available for 1978, contingent upon legislative support for funding recently recommended by Gov. William Milliken.

According to Michigan Council for the Arts education coordinator Donald Gheen, the pilot program is designed to involve people of all ages in innovative arts activities which go beyond the traditional school arts curriculum. The program will also explore ways in which the arts and artists can become an integral part oxe ejion process.

Gheen said that this program is intended to provide funding for pilot activities and not for support of current programs or the restoration of programs dropped due to lack of funds.

Deadline for the submission of applications for projects taking place in 1978 is May 27, 1977. Grants will be awarded in amounts over $2,500 but not to exceed $20,000.

Further information, guidelines and application forms may be obtained from the Michigan Council for the Arts, 1200 Sixth avenue, Detroit, Mich., 48226.

Extension Programs March 1

"Clothing Update," and "Foods Today" will be topics for the Tuesday, March 1, Family Living Program to be held at First United Methodist church, St. Joseph.

The programs, offered free of charge to the public, are sponsored by Cooperative Extension Service, Michigan State university.

"Clothing Update" at 10 a.m. will be instructed by Janet Byrd, home economist for Coats and Clark, Inc., Stamford, Conn. She will cover the latest in clothing instruction, threads, machine embroidery, and some craft projects using bias tape and trims. The metric system in clothing construction will be featured. Instructional materials will be provided for all participants.

The afternoon program, "Foods Today," will begin at 1 p.m. Jeanne Hall, instructor in fookfutrition at Andrews university, will conduct the program. Ideas to be explored include good nutrition versus fads, food misconceptions, and a look at vegetarian diets.

Further information may be secured by contacting Mary Search, extension home economist at the Berrien county courthouse, St. Joseph.

Fee, for YWCA overhead, is $1.50 for members and $2 for non-members.

"Mechanics and Bidding of Duplicate Bridge," will meet for four sessions at the YWCA, and will be instructed by Mrs. Alfred (Lillian) Dubinsky and Robert Darvill. Fee is $10 for members and $15 for non-members.

Sessions will be held Thursday mornings, Feb. 24 and March 3, from 9:30 to 11:30, and Monday afternoons, Feb. 28 and March 7, from 1 to 3.

Reservations for the courses may be made by telephoning the YWCA, St. Joseph.

Most Diamonds White

The famous Hope Diamond is as blue as a sapphire. The Saxony Dresden is apple green. The Tiffany is canary yellow, and the incomparable Excelsior is the very rare true blue-white. Such colorful gems are called "Fancies" and are almost beyond price.

'Your Problems' By Ann Landers

Nobody Likes Older Drivers

Dear Readers: A while back I printed two letters chastising the older driver. One was from a daughter who had to take the car keys away from her 84-year-old father. Another was from a wife whose 82-year-old husband "nearly killed the whole family." The feedback was fascinating. Here are some samples:

From Los Angeles: My husband is 81 years old, deaf as a post and his eyes are failing. His driver's license expired four years ago. He insists on drivin on the freeway every day to go visit his sister in Pasadena. We pray before he leaves the house and it helps. There is no other explanation for the man being alive today.

Fort Lauderdale: There's a popular saying down here: "Old drivers never die. They just move to Tampa or St. Pete." It's the Lord's truth, Ann. The arthritic, the lame, the halt and the blind — they're all driving cars in those two lovely cities.

West Virginia: The roads in our state kill more people than old drivers. I hope our smart new governor will do something about it.

Dear Jay: Are you listening?

Wyoming: In this state, if the body is warm and the corpse has the price of a license in his pocket he can drive a car. Sign me — Outraged

Kentucky: In the Bluegrass State, if your license expires you have to take the test again as if you were a beginner. It happened to me and I was furious. But it turned out to be a good thing. I was forced to restudy the rules and I was amazed at what I didn't know. Although they are very tough on expired licenses in Kentucky, if you apply for renewal before expiration you can get it in the mail.

Mississippi: I have a neighbor who claims tax exemption because he is legally blind, yet he has a driver's license. Isn't this the craziest?

Missouri: Mother is 77. She learned to drive on a Model-T Ford. All she knows about a car is how to start it, steer it and stop it. Once when I was with her she drove on the sidewalk (Thought it was the street.) The police officer let her off because she reminded him of his grandmother. I got so mad I had a headache for three days.

Illinois: I am proud to say that every person who wants to drive in our state must take a beginner's test at the age of 70. There are no automatic renewals for old gaffers in The Land o' Lincoln.

Alabama: The worst drivers in the world are running loose on our highways and city streets. If you value your life, stay out of Alabama. (We are moving north next month.)

ANN LANDERS

North Carolina: Our state has been rated first by the American Association of Motor Vehicles Administration more times, consecutively, than any of the other 49. I'm proud to be from North Carolina.

New York: I keep hearing about old drivers being a menace to society. Anyone in the insurance business will tell you it's not the old drivers but the teenagers who are the maimers and killers. Tell it straight, Annie. Figures don't lie. - Big Apple

Dear B.A.: Right you are. The figures support your statement.

My thanks to all who wrote and my apologies to readers outside the United States for ignoring you today.

Confused about what's right and what's wrong in today's "new morality"? You're not alone. If you want honest, down-to-earth information on your sex questions, read Ann Landers's new booklet, "High School Sex and How To Deal With It — A Guide For Teens And Their Parents." Send 50 cents in coin plus a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 1400, Elgin, Illinois 60120.

What Was HMQ?

Mayva popped into my utility room the other morning and said, "So, you've switched to the new laundry detergent ALL NEW SCUM FIGHTER?"

"No, it's the one I've been using for 20 years. It's just had sparkle added to the second rinse."

"I thought they added sparkle last year?"

"No, last year it was Improved with the bleach built in and before that they added an Advanced Formula so I could see the difference."

"Wasn't that the year my detergent was called Revolutionary Clean?"

"No, yours was Power Boosted to eliminate the odor. Remember? People were fainting a lot."

"I remember, but I liked it better when it was Reborn."

"That was the year mine was Streamlined, but then the ecologists screamed and they came out with a low sudser called Perfected."

"Remember the year HMQ was added?" smiled Mayva.

"I certainly do. Incidentally, what was HMQ?"

"I don't know, but their advertising campaign had a fuzzy monster coming out of the washer and grabbing the clothes right off your back."

"You've used your detergent a long time too, haven't you?"

"Yep," said Mayva. "I've stuck with it through Renovated, Futurized, Upgraded and Reinforced to fight grease."

"Me too," I said. "I've hung in there through Newly-Developed, Renewed, Revised and Enriched."

"I was going to buy mine when it was All Modern, but before I could buy a box, it had changed to Advanced."

"You've got to move fast or you miss a step," I said, opening the dryer.

"Was yours ever All Purpose?"

"Oh sure, at one time my laundry detergent was so powerful it could clean without water and would take the liver spots off your hands."

"I wonder where they go from here," asked Mayva. "I mean where do you go after Better! Better! All New! and Ultimate Perfection?"

"Funny you should say that. I just got a new box of my detergent in the cupboard. It reads, "The Original Scum Fighter!"

"We've been had," said Mayva.

"I know."

Dr. Lester Coleman

I awoke one morning and was unable to move the left side of my face. This was three weeks ago, and it's still the same. My doctor calls it Bell's palsy. Can the face ever become completely cured? Is it known what causes this? — Mr. A.H., Calif.

Dear Mr. H.:

I am certain that your doctor has assured you that most cases of Bell's palsy can be cured. It does take time, however. In many instances, it takes six or eight weeks before the muscles of the face begin to function again.

Bell's palsy, named after Sir Charles Bell, the doctor who first recognized and described this condition, may occur as a result of a draft, an injury or a virus infection.

A large nerve, technically known as the "seventh" or "facial" nerve, has three important branches. The first goes to the forehead. The second runs to the upper eyelid and the third controls the muscles of the lower part of the face, and around the lips and mouth.

With Bell's palsy, the electrical impulses that normally flow through this nerve are blocked. The result is that it may be difficult to move the lips easily, to close the eye, or to lift the forehead.

There are now many special tests by which the exact portion of the nerve that is affected can be studied. Early treatment with cortisone is very effective in reducing the duration of this condition. Frequently, "galvanic" and "faradic", electric stimulation to the nerves and the muscles of the face are used to keep up the muscle tone.

Only in some cases is surgery necessary to relieve the pressure on the nerve and to insure speedy recovery.

Is goiter condition inherited? — Miss L.R., Tenn.

Dear Miss R.:

There is little scientific reason to believe that there is any hereditary pattern about the enlargement of the thyroid gland, known as "simple goiter."

The reason that they seem to occur in families has more to do with the area of the country in which the family lives. It is well known that water with a deficiency of iodine may cause goiter in inhabitants of such areas. Inland parts of the country are more apt to have such deficiency of iodine.

Even though goiters are rarely cancerous they should be watched by the doctor and studied at regular intervals in order to insure that no complication arises.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You're on solid footing today as long as your approach is practical. Get down to the nitty-gritty before making your move.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) The feeling of independence is strong in you today and you also have great mobility. You'll be better off declining offers of help.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) If the pace gets too hectic today, withdraw to a quiet corner and get your head together. You'll feel better for it.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Friendships take priority today. Even if you have to subordinate your position to help a friend, you'd be wise to do so.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Early in the day you're not zeroed in on your targets. Later, you'll get the right range. That's when your goals are attained.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Others may offer unsolicited advice today. You'll probably find that your ideas are better in the long run.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) If you're involved in a serious situation, go straight to the heart of the matter.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Use diplomacy and tact in your dealings today. When they see you're willing to compromise, others are likely to follow suit.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You're not unproductive today, you're just a slow starter. You could spend more time sharpening the tools than doing the job.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Though you might have had an active social schedule so far this week, you're not ready to come down to earth. Plan some fun later today.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Faced with a difficult task, you become more persistent today. When the going gets tough, the tough get going.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Someone you're anxious to contact may not be available when you first call. Try to reach the party again later.

Your Birthday

Feb. 22, 1977

The coming year should be a pleasant one for you, with short trips to places you've longed to visit. The best part is you'll be able to afford it!

This Diamond Has Substance

The richest man in the world is said to be the Nizam (prince) of Hyderabad, one of the states of India.

His crown jewels alone are probably worth $21 million. The Nizam's wealth is so extensive he even uses, nonchalantly, one of his larger diamonds as a paperweight!

Jim: "Alan Sontag, one of the best of our young bridge players, has just completed a book called 'The Bridge Bum.' The title is rather misleading since it is about Alan's bridge experiences and Alan is far from being a bum or anything like one."

Oswald: "Since Alan is just 30 you can call him young. He has won plenty of major tournaments including the Vanderbilt and Reisinger. We can show several hands from his book, although we will change the bidding in order to simplify it."

Jim: "Here is a hand bid to seven diamonds by Rubin and Matt Granovetter — partners in an important team match. North's five-notrump bid was the variation of Ely Culbertson's grand-slam force as played by this team. It set diamonds as the suit and asked partner to bid seven with two of the three top honors, six clubs with one and six diamonds with none. Hence, North knew that South held the ace of diamonds and went to the grand slam. Their opponents at the other table stopped at six and both tables made six."

Oswald: "I won't go into all the play but as Alan points out seven is a good contract that can only be made if declarer has seen the opposing cards."

BEST IN FRANCE: French Actor Michel Galabru holds "Cesar" trophy for best actor awarded over weekend in Paris by French motion picture industry. (AP Wirephoto)

Market Owner's Son Accused In Break-In

NILES — The son of a Niles township fruit market owner has been arrested a second time in less than a year in connection with break-ins at his father's business.

Kevin Shelton, 18, Niles, identified by state police here as the son of Shelton's Fruit Stop owner James Shelton, was one of four men arrested over the weekend in connection with recent break-ins in Niles township.

Shelton and Timothy Colcord, 19, were both taken into custody Saturday night on single counts of safe burglary in connection with the early Friday break-in at the fruit market. A safe containing an estimated $5,000 to $6,000 was taken from the market.

Two other men, Mark Ditson, Niles, and Tom Turner, South Bend, both 17, were arrested Friday night.

Police said Ditson was charged with two counts of safe burglary, one in connection with the fruit market break-in and the second in connection with the Jan. 20 break-in at the Country Cookin' restaurant, Niles, in which a safe containing an estimated $800 was reported taken.

Police said two boys, ages 15 and 16, from Niles and South Bend, have been questioned but not formally charged in connection with the burglaries.

Young Shelton was arrested last June 28 in connection with a break-in the day before at the fruit market. He was never brought to trial on the charge because his father refused to testify against him, according to Jeffrey Long, chief assistant Berrien county prosecutor.

Police said they seized what they believe to be the fruit market safe Friday night, and most of the cash taken from the fruit market Saturday night.

Police said this morning they were not certain if a false report of a plane crash near Galien early Friday and the fruit stand break-in were related.

The arrests were the result of an investigation by the south Berrien county metro crime unit, state police and Niles township police.

Ford Library Site Picked

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — University of Michigan regents have approved a location for the Gerald R. Ford library, which will house the former President's political papers. The library will be built south of the Bentley Historical Library on the university's north campus. It was announced earlier that the Presidential library would be built adjacent to that structure, but the exact location had not been decided. The library will be part of the national archives and its operation will be funded by the federal government. It will be built with funds from private sources. Ford will be on the U-M campus April 4-8. He will take part in several classes.

Schools In GR Trim Energy Use

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A successful energy conservation plan developed by the Grand Rapids school system is being made available by Michigan State University for other school districts to use.

Despite 33 per cent colder weather from last July to December, Grand Rapids' public schools trimmed energy usage by 10 to 13 per cent, says Dr. Wally Piper, MSU associate director of student affairs.

A series of workshops are to be launched Tuesday in Grand Rapids to explain the system's energy plan to other school administrators. Other sessions are slated later for Kalamazoo, Marquette, Jackson, Bay City, Grayling and in the Flint-Pontiac area.

The Grand Rapids energy plan involves reducing thermostat settings, readjusting and installing timers to turn heat and lights off when they are not necessary, reducing the size of light bulbs and readjusting air ventilation systems, officials say.

CASSOPOLIS

Threasa Strong Wins Two Titles

CASSOPOLIS — Threasa Strong captured both the queen and Miss Congeniality titles in the 1977 Miss Cassopolis Blossom queen contest Sunday afternoon at the Ross Beatty high school auditorium here.

Miss Strong, 18, is a senior at the school and has been active in basketball, softball, and cheerleading, and also writes for the school paper.

Teresa Schmalkucke, 17, a junior, was named first runner-up. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Terry Schmalkucke, route 5, Cassopolis.

Second runner-up was Tina Groves, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Groves, route 4, Cassopolis. She is 17 and a junior at Beatty high school.

The new Miss Cassopolis is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Strong, route 1, Dowagiac. Following graduation, she said she plans to attend the Kendall School of Arts and Design in Grand Rapids.

Miss Strong is 5 foot 6, has brown eyes and black hair. For the competition she wore a gray, low back gown with matching jacket.

Dan McAndrew served as master of ceremonies for the pageant, which drew an audience of about 350. Mr. and Mrs. Richard Brumbaugh were contest co-chairmen.

Judges included Mrs. Martha Houts, owner of the Dance Shop, Ltd., Kalamazoo; Bill Grossnickle, owner of the Ranch House restaurant, Edwardsburg; and Dick Dowsett, president of Dowsett Spring company, Dowagiac.

Entertainment was provided by the high school jazz band, vocalist Jim Ellis, and the Future Homemaker's club, which performed a dance routine.

Accuse Man Of Cocaine Possession

COLOMA — One South Haven man was arrested on a charge of possession of cocaine and a second was arrested on a charge of driving under the influence of intoxicants after Coloma township police stopped a car early Sunday morning.

Township Officer Gary Wigent said Allan Lee Voisard, 18, route 1, Blue Star highway, was arrested on charges of illegal possession of cocaine and of being drunk and disorderly. Marc Dean Paskin, 18, 1442 Clarke place, was arrested on a charge of driving under the influence of intoxicants, Wigent said.

Wigent said he stopped the car in which the two were occupants after the vehicle weaved across the center line of Paw Paw Lake road about 1:25 a.m., Sunday.

Wigent said Voisard was arrested on the drug charge after police found a small package containing suspected cocaine in the patrol car's back seat where Voisard had been placed.

Crown Miss Three Rivers

By TOM SAWYER
Staff Writer

THREE RIVERS — Shelly Galbreth, a Three Rivers high school junior who hopes to go on to study in the medical field, was crowned Miss Three Rivers for 1977 in a contest Saturday night at the Three Rivers high school cafetorium.

Miss Galbreth, 17, is 5 feet 3¾, has blonde hair and blue eyes. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Galbreth, Jones.

First runner-up was Beth Ruggles, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elwin Ruggles, Three Rivers. Second runner-up was Sally Kiggins, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Kiggins, Three Rivers.

Selected Miss Congeniality by her fellow contestants was Daneen Bowers, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Maynard Ely, Route 6, Box 126, Catherman road, Three Rivers.

Miss Galbreth is president of her class and has been cited for academic achievement including being named student of the year. She is president of the 4-H and German clubs also, and is the organist at her church. She enjoys horeback riding, skiing, camping and fishing.

Contest judges were Adrienne Alexander, a legal secretary from Grand Rapids; Clive Baker, public relations manager for Richland Travel Service, near Kalamazoo, and Terry Ficorelli, director of communications for the Kalamazoo Wings Hockey Club.

Master of ceremonies for the contest was Roger Wiedenbeck, the organist was Lee Hohner and chairman of the contest sponsored by the Three Rivers Chamber of Commerce was Mrs. Luella Karle.

Former Crown Bearer Wins New Troy Title

By JOHN FENNELL
Staff Writer

THREE OAKS — Joy English, who 12 years ago was the crown bearer in the 1965 Miss New Troy contest, was crowned Miss New Troy for 1977 Saturday night during ceremonies at River Valley high school, Three Oaks.

Miss English, 17, a River Valley high school senior, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jim English, Box 141, New Troy. Her father is a carpenter for Pearson Construction Co., Benton Harbor.

The 5 foot 4, green-eyed brunette was chosen over 15 other contestants before an estimated 600 people in the high school auditorium, decorated for the pageant's theme, "Little Queen Pippin."

First runner-up was Laurie Gunderson, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Gunderson, Route 1, Box 564, Sawyer. The second runner-up was Peggy Bahus, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Barney Bahus, Route 1, Box 215, Sawyer. Both girls are seniors at River Valley high school.

Selected as Miss Congeniality was Alice Vance, 17, daughter of Mrs. Howard King, Box 177, New Troy, and Harold Vance of Texas.

The new Miss New Troy is a member of the National Honor society and plans upon majoring in business administration when she attends Hope college, Holland, next fall. She eventually plans upon becoming a certified public accountant.

Contest judges were Stan Holdcraft of Michigan City, Ind., producer of the Miss Indiana pageant; Ann M. Hentschel of Kalamazoo, producer of the Miss Cadillac pageant; and Jim Higley of Kalamazoo, president of Mr. Jim's Beauty Salon.

Master of ceremonies was Howard Nahikian of Whirlpool Corporation.

Other contestants were Jane Frambach, Cathy Ward, Gaye Rosenbaum, Bobbi Malsch, Tammy Weberling, Lexie Nelson, Heidi Critzer, Renee Backus, Kathy Howell, Lisa Davis, Val Vance and Debbie Manley.

The organist for the evening was Nadine Wendt.

AS PROP FALLS

Buchanan Selects Martha Rifenberg

By JOHN DYE
South Berrien Bureau

BUCHANAN — Martha Rifenberg, a 5 foot 5 Buchanan high school senior, was crowned Miss Buchanan Saturday night.

The crowning came just after a small suspended prop fell onto the stage, startling both onlookers and contestants alike, but injuring no one.

A crowd estimated at 300 people by pageant officials was present for the contest in the high school auditorium. Miss Rifenberg, 18, was named the 1977 queen from a field of 15 contestants.

Diana Hall, 18, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Hall, 110 West Dewey street, Buchanan, was named first runner-up. She is a Buchanan high school senior.

Selected second runner-up was Ronda Huebner, 18, a senior at Buchanan high school. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Huebner, 312 Lake street, Buchanan.

Becky Canfield, 18, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Canfield, 505 Woodland drive, Buchanan, was voted Miss Congeniality by her fellow contestants.

Miss Canfield's mother, the former Miss Doris Reese, was Miss Galien of 1955. Becky and Miss Huebner are cousins.

The new queen is a cheerleader and vice president of the senior class. She plans to attend Central Michigan university and study restaurant management. She has blonde hair and blue eyes.

Miss Rifenberg wore a powder blue, princess-style, sleeveless, v-neck gown.

"What Are Little Girls Made Of?" was the theme of the pageant sponsored by the Buchanan Jaycees. Mr. and Mrs. Jack Beatty were chairmen.

Judges were Dr. Paul Matson, a Kalamazoo dentist; Terrance Blakely of Paw Paw, controller of Consumers Asphalt & Concrete Co., Benton Harbor, and Miss Suzanne Smith, a Kalamazoo dance instructor.

Two Buchanan middle school students, Kevin Clem and Douglas Zinninger, provided entertainment. Miss Jean Harman of Berrien Springs was the organist.

Other contestants were Laurene Nelson, Karen Kay, Debra Ward, Carol Burns, Michaline McClellan, Audrea Moten, Sandra Hemminger, Brenda Motil, Julie Chubb, Jane Montgomery and Roxanne Floyd.

Snowmobile Mileage Spotlighted

WAUSAU, Wis. (AP) — The recreation engine may be the next target of an efficiency-minded society interested in reducing gasoline waste, snowmobile enthusiasts were cautioned during the weekend.

Wisconsin Lt. Gov. Martin Schreiber said most snowmobiles get 15 miles to a gallon of fuel, or worse, and that such inefficiency invites mandatory guidelines from government.

Schreiber told delegates to the annual convention of the Association of Wisconsin Snowmobile Clubs that manufacturers should be pressured by their patrons to build machines with greater fuel efficiency.

It may be the only means of preserving the sport, he said.

Cocaine Discovered, Police Say

HILLSBORO, Ohio (AP) — Law enforcement officers said they found cocaine with a wholesale value of $20,000 in an airplane that was forced to land in this area because of bad weather.

The Highland County sheriff's office said a man and a woman were charged with trafficking in drugs, a second degree felony.

Officers identified the two as John Charter IV, 31, of Los Angeles and Lynda Ann Kelley, 24, Bloomfield, Mich.

They were arrested Sunday as they prepared for takeoff. Bad weather had forced the plane down Saturday. The origin and destination of the plane were not divulged.

College Starting Rape Class

DETROIT (AP) — What is believed to be Michigan's first accredited college course on rape begins Tuesday at Wayne County Community College.

"It's really to help women get a better understanding of rape," according to Gail Wingard, 27, a former Detroit Rape Counseling Center volunteer who will teach the course.

"I would hope that what the course does is spread more education about it," she said. "It should have a ripple effect — getting more people involved in the area and spreading more information about it."

The course is geared to older women, who more than younger rape victims need someone to look to for advice on family repercussions and feelings of guilt and shame, she said.

Ms. Wingard said the idea for the class was spawned by a rape trial where the victim, a 72-year-old woman who barely could understand English, was trying to testify in court.

"The case affected me tremendously," she said. "It just really stuck in my mind that rape is not erotic or a crime of passion.

Carter Dam Cuts Stir Controversy

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Officials in 15 states warn that President Carter will be displaying poor judgment and bad timing if he drops funding for 18 dams and other water projects — most of them in the drought-stricken West.

Administration sources said over the weekend that Carter will ask Congress to withhold fiscal 1978 funds from the projects pending a review of their usefulness and environmental safety.

The sources said Carter would announce his decision today or Tuesday.

"It's a completely incomprehensible action," said Felix Sparks, director of the Colorado Water Conservation Board. "We're completely devastated because of the drought and other conditions, and we need the money that's available."

Many of the projects have been controversial, and some opponents were delighted with the prospect of further review.

"I'm thrilled to death," said Donald Landry, an official of Terrebone Parish in Louisiana. "Maybe this is an indication that we have somebody in the White House now who cares a little bit about some of these things."

John Sieh, chairman of the Oahe Conservancy Subdistrict Board in South Dakota, said, "I feel the President has come out on the side of the people in South Dakota."

But attorney Edward Clyde, who has been involved in water planning in Utah for 35 years, predicted that Congress will reject Carter's proposal.

He said "it's inconceivable that rational minds would stop" the Central Utah Project's Bonneville Unit, one of the 18 projects named by administration sources. That unit is designed to carry water from northeastern Utah mountains to arid populated valleys.

Clyde said the project had been underway for 25 years, and already had cost $200 million in federal funds and $20 million in state money.

North Dakota Gov. Arthur Link said he was "shocked" by the reported proposal and called it "unjustified."

"I'm hard put to believe they would take this drastic action," he added.

In Denver, where western and midwestern governors met on Sunday to discuss the drought, Interior Secretary Cecil Andrus said it was "regrettable" that they learned of Carter's plan before he could contact them personally.

"It would have helped this meeting if the announcement had come next week," he said.

Andrus said many of the 18 projects did not meet federal safety, cost-benefit or environmental standards, and he said that was the reason Carter had excluded them from his proposed budget for the 1978 fiscal year.

"We have to have the opportunity to look at safety factors and environmental impact," Andrus said. "And you've got to balance economic benefits against the costs."

He said that just because the projects were excluded from the budget doesn't necessarily mean they will die.

California's secretary of resources, Clare Dedrick, said she agrees with measures to assure the safety of water projects. But once safety has been determined, she said, "the money should be there so it can be spent."

She noted that the $480 million Auburn Dam project on the American River — another of the projects on the administration's list — is curently being studied for earthquake hazards.

L.C. Baldwin, former president of the Sacramento Area Water Works Association, said that if the Auburn project is stopped, "it will shatter the whole master plan for this section of California."

There also was some immediate opposition in Congress.

The chairman of the House Interior Committee, Arizona Rep. Morris Udall, said cutting out the Central Arizona Project would be "an outrage."

However, it was learned that Udall was among 73 congressmen who signed a petition Feb. 14 urging Carter to halt construction of "unnecessary and environmentally destructive dams" and to make a "serious effort to trim off the waste of tax dollars on unnecessary projects."

Udall said after the Carter plans were reported that he thought the petition referred only to new projects.

Maine's two U.S. senators said it would be "premature" to cut funds for the Dickey-Lincoln project in Maine, and pledged to push for full funding.

The other projects that would be eliminated from the 1978 budget are the Dolores and Fruitland Mesa projects in Colorado; the Savery-Pot Hook Project in Colorado and Wyoming; the Garrison Diversion Unit in North and South Dakota; the Oahe Unit in South Dakota; Cache basin in Arkansas; Freeport in Illinois; Grove Lake in Kansas; Dayton, Paintsville Lake and Yatesville Lake in Kentucky; Atchafalaya River and bayous Chene Bleuf and Black in Louisiana; Meramec Park Lake in Missouri, and Lukfata Lake in Oklahoma.

Restaurateur Spanbauer Dies

NILES — Frank James Spanbauer, 62, owner and operator of Dog 'N Suds drive-in restaurants in Berrien Springs, Indian Lake and Watervliet, was pronounced dead of arrival at Pawating hospital here Sunday morning.

Police said Spanbauer collapsed while dancing at the Twin Cables bar here shortly after midnight and was pronounced dead upon being taken to the hospital.

Police said Dr. John Bruni, deputy Berrien county medical examiner, ruled death was caused by a massive heart attack.

Mr. Spanbauer was born Feb. 28, 1914, in Oshkosh, Wis. He resided at 739 Hickory street, Niles.

Survivors include his wife, the former Pauline Burroughs; a daughter, Mrs. Patricia Anderson, Buchanan; three grandchildren; his mother, Mrs. Mary Spanbauer, Fond du Lac, Wis.; and a brother and two sisters in Fond du Lac.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday at 10 a.m. at St. Mary's Catholic church, Niles. Burial will be in Calvary cemetery. Friends may call after 7 p.m. this evening at Pifer chapel of Swem-Smith funeral home. Rosary will be recited Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. at the chapel.

Mrs. J. McPherson

Mrs. John McPherson, 74, Stamford, N.Y., who was here attending the funeral of her sister, Mrs. Mildred Mary Voorhees, who died last Saturday, was taken ill and died in her sister's apartment in Harbor Towers. She was born Jan. 3, 1903, in Eau Claire. Surviving is her husband.

The body has been taken to Stamford for services and burial. Local arrangements were in charge of the Frost funeral home, Benton Harbor.

Hollingsworth

DOWAGIAC — Funeral services for Ewells (Tracy) Hollingsworth Jr., 20, of 505 Walnut street, Dowagiac, will be at 2 p.m., Tuesday in the Groner funeral home here.

Dr. Charles Koudele, a deputy Cass county medical examiner, in a preliminary ruling said Saturday that death was believed to have been from natural causes, but an autopsy was to be conducted.

Mr. Hollingsworth was found dead at his home about 6:30 p.m., Friday.

Mr. Hollinsworth was born Dec. 11, 1956, in Dowagiac, the son of Ewells and Doris Hollinsworth. He was a 1976 graduate of Dowagiac Union high school and was employed as a machinist at Premier Company, Cassopolis.

Surviving besides his parents are three brothers, Donald, South Bend, Ind., Kenneth, Ft. Benning, Ga., and Brian, at home; three sisters, Cynthia, Jackie and Deadria, all at home; his maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Gordon, Niles.

Friends may call at the funeral home Tuesday. A wake will be held at 7 this evening, in the funeral home. Burial will be in Riverside cemetery.

C. Hamilton

DECATUR — Clifford Hamilton, 92, of M51 North, Decatur, died Friday afternoon at Hope Nursing home, Lawton.

He was born Aug. 4, 1884, in Paw Paw township. He was a farmer in the Decatur area for many years before his retirement. He was a member of Decatur Church of God.

His wife, Gertrude, preceded him in death in 1973. A sister, Mrs. Maude White, Paw Paw, survives.

Funeral services were held today at 1 p.m. at Newell funeral home. Burial was in Cuddeback cemetery, Paw Paw township.

Governors Seeking Solutions On Water

By JUDY HERB
Associated Press Writer

DENVER (AP) — Western and midwestern governors, while seeking federal aid to get them through the current drought, are looking for some long-range solutions to persistent water-shortage problems.

Governors from 11 states and representatives from six others met on Sunday with Interior Secretary Cecil Andrus at the invitation of Colorado Gov. Richard Lamm. They unanimously endorsed establishment of a task force to study water problems and ways to ease shortages, and they discussed the need for immediate federal aid.

Andrus met some displeasure from governors who were upset after learning through administration sources that President Carter may eliminate funding for 18 dams and water projects in 15 states.

Andrus said he considered it "regrettable" they heard of the plan before he could contact them personally. "The timing was unfortunate. It would have helped this meeting if the announcement had come next week," he said.

North Dakota Gov. Arthur Link said he didn't think the Carter proposal made sense and added, "It's hardly in keeping with a policy of sensitivity to states' needs."

The Garrison Irrigation Project in North Dakota, which Link said would supply water to 26 communities, is among the projects being considered for fund cuts.

Reporting on the extent of the drought, Jack Barnett, executive director of the Western States Water Council, said the average streamflow in most of the West was 40 to 50 per cent of normal. He said that estimate was "optimistic."

Some governors said they were concerned particularly about effects on agriculture and livestock production — the lifeblood of many western and midwestern states.

"We're in the worst drought us far as Nebraska is concerned since the terrible drought of the 1930s," said Gov. James Exon of Nebraska.

Exon said he felt the federal government should give more aid to farmers, including loans for storage of food surpluses.

Some of the governors said a shortage of hydro-electric power was their main concern, but others, like Oklahoma Gov. David Boren, said they feared the drought's impact on banking.

"We could be forced into foreclosures and other situations that could ultimately affect our financial institutions," Boren said.

Other governors at the meeting were from Oregon, California, Washington, Montana, Utah, Idaho, and South Dakota. Governors of Texas, New Mexico, Kansas, Arizona, Nevada and Wyoming sent representatives.

As a precaution, firefighters poured water on the two propane tankers that did not burn.

An 18-foot crater marked the spot where one of the two cars exploded, and parts of another car were blown into a nearby field. Yards of track on both sides of the blast site disappeared.

Thousands of spectators rushed to the scene as word of the blast spread through the city, hampering efforts to evacuate residents in a 2,000-yard radius of the explosion site.

The explosion sent up a fireball that an airline pilot said he saw 150 miles away.

"It lit up about an eighth of the sky cherry red," said Charles Booker, who saw the blast from 50 miles south of Dallas. "The color stayed there for about five seconds."

"It looked like the sun came up," said Joe Ackerman, 16, who witnessed the blast from about three miles away.

Allegan Firm Is Low Bidder

LANSING — Milbocker and Sons, Inc., of Allegan is the apparent low bidder for a project to reconstruct eight-tenths of a mile of Indiana avenue in South Haven, according to the Department of State Highways and Transportation.

The Allegan firm was the lowest of four bidders at $255,939 for the project which will include widening the road from two to three lanes between Aylworth and Michigan avenue.

The project is being funded through the state, a federal community block grant and local funds, according to City Manager Paul Sharon.

Friends may call at the funeral home. Memorials may be made to Michigan Heart Association.

Lake Ice Will Delay Spring

DETROIT (AP) — Spring will be a little late this year.

That's the tune C. Robert Snider would be humming these days, if he had time. Snider is meteorologist in charge of the Detroit station of the U.S. National Weather Service.

"We definitely expect a late and a cool spring, largely because of the amount of ice in the Great Lakes," said Snider.

In other words, living near the ice-filled lakes is akin to walking past the open freezers at the supermarket. They cool the air, and you feel it.

"The Great Lakes are a very powerful controlling factor in the weather," Snider said. "By observing the state of the lakes, we can sometimes go out a little further on a forecast than other parts of the country can."

But he won't go out on thin ice to predict what kind of summer Michigan folks can expect.

There has been speculation by some so-called experts that the Great Lakes area could have an extremely hot summer as a balance to one of the coldest winters in memory. But don't count on it, Snider said.

Real Estate Brokers Charged With 'Racial Steering'

CHICAGO (AP) — A three-year study of Detroit-area real estate practices accuses brokers of using "subtle discrimination" to discourage blacks from buying homes in white suburbs.

The study's author, University of Illinois sociology professor Diana Pearce, called the brokers "gatekeepers of suburban communities."

"They can decide who's going to live there and who isn't," said Ms. Pearce, who completed the study for a doctoral degree from the University of Michigan.

Among the study's findings was a pattern in which blacks who visit suburban real estate firms serving northern Detroit suburbs are brought back into the city to look at houses.

That practice — of taking blacks and whites to different areas for housing — is called "racial steering" and violates the 1968 Fair Housing Law.

Ms. Pearce arranged in 1974 for several black and white couples to visit about 100 Detroit-area real estate firms, 87 of them in the suburbs.

Other patterns which emerged from the visits included:

—No blacks were shown homes in northern suburbs or the Grosse Pointes to the east.

—Only 13 per cent of the homes shown whites were in Detroit.

—Whites usually were given an estimate of the closing costs, while blacks were not.

—Brokers spent twice as much time with prospective white buyers as [illegible]

"Generally, the larger, more successful and expensive real estate firms are the most discriminatory," said Pearce.

She said failure to show suburban listings to blacks or telling them their income is too low for certain neighborhoods are two forms of subtle discrimination.

When white couples were shown listings and taken to the houses, blacks of similar or higher income were told [illegible] appointments or that the house keys were not readily available, she added.

Blacks are treated as courteously as whites when they come into the real estate offices, she said. "The only difference would be in the way [illegible] and the way [illegible] shown."

Ronald J. Fisher, executive vice president of the board, said he has not seen the study. But he said he is "positive that our real estate brokers are trying to live within the law."

Board President William Johnston, who also had not seen the study, added: "I know of no subtle discrimination by real estate brokers."

Man Says Lineup No Laughing Matter

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — For nine days, William Bradley Jr. was an accused murderer. He was arrested at his home, identified in a police lineup, thrown into jail.

"When they first told me I laughed about it. I just couldn't believe it," said Bradley, who is on probation for possession of stolen property. "When they put me on that lineup, that's when I stopped laughing."

Police declared they had the man who shot a youth to death and wounded his brother during a service station holdup last month. But they had arrested the 22-year-old Bradley for a crime he didn't commit — a fact that came to light when he was released from custody on Sunday.

"It took a lot out of me," said Bradley, admittedly bitter about the ordeal. "I feel a lot better than when I was up there (jail)."

Bradley was freed after two teen-agers were charged Sunday with first-degree murder in the shootings.

Dana Brown and David Green, both 17, were being held for the murder of Derek Henderson, 19. They also were charged with robbery and assault in the wounding of Henderson's 17-year-old brother, Marlon. A third suspect was turned over to juvenile authorities.

Bradley, an unemployed Army National Guardsman, was arrested Feb. 11 after Marlon Henderson picked him out from among police photographs.

"They just grab you off the street and say, 'You're the man,'" Bradley said.

Recycling Helps School Survive

NEW YORK (AP) — A private school founded by poor families fed up with New York public schools is struggling along by recycling what others are tossing away as waste.

The Lower East Side Community School is in its second semester, trying to overcome a $15,000 deficit but confident enough of its future to be considering adding another grade.

"We're already registering people for next year," said Wallie Simpson, the "alternative" school's energetic director.

The school last year took over part of a Manhattan public school that the city had closed and now has seven fulltime teachers and 135 students from pre-school through sixth grade.

It pays $1 a month rent. Its aging, but sound, furniture was salvaged from other schools. Many of the books that are stacked on the floor of what will be its library were donated or similarly salvaged. Two well-used pianos were gifts.

Resourcefulness is an underlying philosophy of the school, says Mrs. Simpson, who said her teaching career began at 15 in a one-room schoolhouse in Marshall, Texas.

Niles Boy Facing Several Charges

NILES — A 15-year-old Niles boy was arrested early yesterday morning following an incident in which the arrested youth, a motorist and two police officers were injured and three autos damaged, police reported.

The boy was lodged in the Berrien county juvenile home after being treated at Berrien General hospital. He was taken into custody on charges of unarmed robbery, auto theft, felonious assault and malicious destruction to police property.

An auto driven by Charles Rush, 18, Niles, was following a pickup truck on St. Joseph avenue when a passenger jumped from the truck, forced Rush to stop his auto and began beating on the windshield of the car with his fists.

Rush told police a scuffle ensued and his wallet, containing $12 was allegedly taken by the youth. When police arrived, they said they found the youth behind the wheel of Rush's auto.

Niles patrolman Michael Graham said he ordered the boy to get out of the car, but instead the boy allegedly backed into the police cruiser parked behind Rush's car, striking Patrolman Scott Campbell who was standing behind the Rush auto.

The boy then allegedly drove away, traveling about a half-block before striking a utility pole and becoming stuck in a snow bank.

Graham said he and four state troopers scuffled with the boy and in the process, Trooper Kenneth Olny, received minor injuries and a window was kicked out of a second Niles police cruiser.

Police said Campbell and Olny were treated and released at Pawating hospital, Niles. Rush did not seek treatment for injuries he sustained, police said.

Noted Chicago Doctor Discredits Ulcer Idea

Dr. Vince Ackerman

One popular idea concerning the cause of stomach ulcers was overturned recently at a meeting of the Society of Internal Medicine.

Dr. Rene Menguy, professor and chairman of the department of surgery of the University of Chicago medical school, said it was not the production of excessive gastric acid which causes some stomach ulcers. Instead, he said, it is a change in the protective mucin which continuously bathes the stomach wall.

In the light of Dr. Menguy's statement, we asked Dr. Ackerman of the Ackerman Chiropractic Center, for his comments on ulcers and their cause, care and treatment.

"I wholeheartedly endorse Dr. Menguy's statement," Dr. Ackerman said. "And I believe his frank comments. As Dr. Menguy noted," Dr. Ackerman continued, "about 5 per cent of the adult population in the U.S. has stomach ulcers, and those millions of sufferers make ulcers truly a national problem." In his words, Dr. Ackerman said the peptic ulcer is a raw sore in the mucous membrane lining of the esophagus, stomach or duodenum. "It starts as a crack in the lining but as it spreads and digs deeper it may eat into a blood vessel and cause bleeding.

"Remember," Dr. Ackerman warns, "The condition can begin at any time. A change of diet or emotional environment may seem to help the problem but it nearly always recurs and usually gets worse."

"As for the symptoms of an ulcer? "They are often vague," says Dr. Ackerman.

"In early stages the victim may complain of repeated heartburn or a feeling of fullness even though he has not eaten for some time. Sometimes indigestion occurs in attacks.

"But the most common sympton," says Dr. Ackerman is hunger pain. It's a pain that gnaws and burns and sometimes aches. The pain is usually relieved by eating," he says, "but it returns later and must be fed again."

Dr. Ackerman also noted that in virtually every case of peptic ulcer there is an increase in hydrochloric acid secreted by the stomach glands.

This means but one thing, the fine, rather delicate nerve network supervising the digestive system has gotten out of balance. The vagus nerve, spinal nerves and the sympathetic and parasympathetic nerve systems, all must act in a coordinated way to achieve the precise timing and regulation necessary to a healthy digestion.

Dr. Menguy also told the Internists he addressed that cortisone, aspirin and other drugs altered the chemistry of the gastric mucin to such an extent that it no longer protected the stomach.

Dr. Ackerman agreed, "I would certainly say that ulcers are a headache...and I don't think aspirin can cure one of them, either," he smiled.

"Seriously," Dr. Ackerman concluded, "if you have a stomach problem, frequent indigestion or abdominal pain, it's only good sense to come in for a check-up immediately."

PILOT PROJECT IN PONTIAC

Trash Is Fuel For GM Plant

By OWEN ULLMANN
Associated Press Writer

PONTIAC, Mich. (AP) — Every day, a group of General Motors men search the sprawling factories of this auto town for trash.

That's because burnable refuse has become a key fuel the company needs to heat its massive new GMC truck assembly plant here. Finding 300 tons of paper, cardboard and wood daily is no simple task.

"People just don't come knocking on our door saying 'I have some garbage for you,'" says Al DeVito, plant engineer for the GMC Truck and Coach Division. "We have to look hard for it."

The trash, mostly packing boxes and crates, is combined with coal in a mixture of 3 parts refuse to 2 parts coal to generate steam heat for the plant.

GM says the recycled trash reduces coal consumption by about 35 per cent, or 30,000 tons a year. The saving is equivalent to 4.7 million gallons of fuel oil or 700 million cubic feet of natural gas — enough to heat 3,600 homes in Michigan each year.

Of greater importance, at least to GM's cost experts, the system eventually should cut the plant's annual heating bill by nearly $1 million.

So far, says DeVito, GM has not encountered any trash shortages — unlike the automaker's problems with natural gas and oil.

The trash-burning project — the first of its kind in the auto industry — is among dozens of energy conservation measures GM has implemented in recent years to reduce its energy use and costs.

At several plants, GM has turned to computers to maximize efficient use of gas, oil and electricity, much the same way as the auto companies have begun using tiny computers to increase fuel economy in car engines.

A central computer at the GMC plant here monitors equipment such as heating, ventilation and electrical systems, conveyors and paint spray booths and ovens.

The computer is programmed to turn machines on just before they are needed to perform a task and turn them off as soon as the function is completed. It also makes sure the equipment is operating properly and alerts maintenance crews when repairs are needed.

Another project, being tested at a Fisher Body plant, involves a dairy milk homogenizer which produces an emulsion of 6 or 7 per cent water in fuel oil. The mixture has increased boiler efficiency by 2 to 5 per cent.

Even small savings of that type add up for the nation's largest automaker, which last year used 225 trillion BTU's of energy — enough to supply the heating, lighting and other energy needs of 1.1 million homes. GM's utility bill came to $700 million.

While many of these projects are designed to deal with short-term oil and gas shortages, GM also has gotten into energy exploration, research and production to provide for its long-term needs.

In Lordstown, Ohio, for example, the company developed its own gas fields several years ago to supply many of its Ohio plants.

Looking toward the more distant future, the company has embarked on a solar energy research program — an effort triggered by the Mideast oil embargo of late 1973.

GM researchers are looking at solar energy both as an alternate fuel and as the basis of a new consumer product line.

The firm's Harrison Radiator Division in Lockport, N.Y., is working on a household hot water heater that would operate from solar energy.

GM officials say the heater is still in the experimental stage, but eventually Harrison may market a package that would include solar collectors and an insulated hot water storage tank.

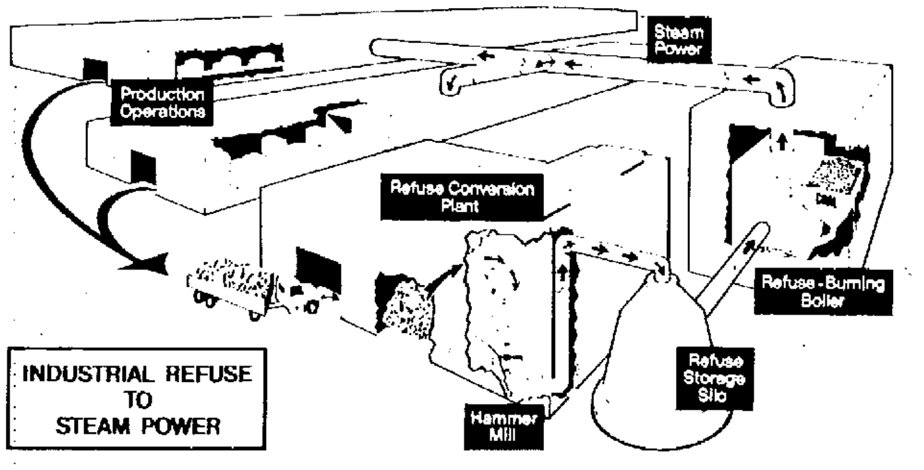
A solar collector consists of a flat metallic surface coated with a special black material capable of absorbing the sun's rays. The collector is installed in an air-tight enclosure and covered with glass to trap the rays.

The rays heat water which is circulated through tubes attached to the collector plates. The water is pumped through heat exchangers to provide energy for devices ranging from hot water heaters to air conditioner refrigeration units.

Much of GM's solar research is conducted at its proving grounds in sunshine-abundant Mesa, Ariz., which is using five hot water heating systems that serve several buildings.

In addition, a new vehicle emissions test laboratory GM is building at Mesa will have a rooftop solar collector system which will provide the facility with heating and air conditioning.

GM also plans to test the potential of solar energy in areas that often have sunshine shortages. A collector system similar to the one in Mesa is being built for a lecture hall at the General Motors Institute in Flint, Mich., GM's birthplace.



FROM TRASH TO ENERGY: Every day, a group of General Motors men search sprawling factories of Pontiac, Mich., looking for burnable refuse to heat massive new GMC truck assembly plant in Pontiac. It takes 300 tons of paper, cardboard and wood daily, combined with coal in a mixture of 3 parts refuse to 2 parts coal, to generate steam heat for the plant. GM says it reduces coal consumption by 35 per cent or 30,000 tons a year. (AP Wirephoto)

Watervliet Recreation Is Topic

WATERVLIET — The Watervliet Recreation council has scheduled a Wednesday, Feb. 23, meeting to begin discussions of summer program activities, according to George Lawton, council chairman.

He said the meeting will begin at 7 p.m., in the teachers' lounge at Watervliet high school.

Lawton said people interested in men's, women's and girls' softball, and baseball for all ages, should attend the session.

GOP Sifts Energy-Saving Ideas

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — House Republicans say the state should pick up part or all of the fares people pay to ride on Michigan's mass transit systems.

Public acceptance of the idea "is going to take a mass education program" but it is the kind of approach needed to deal with the energy crisis, said state Rep. John Mowat of Adrian.

The proposal was one of a dozen advanced by the House Republican Program Steering Committee. The committee is drafting a comprehensive energy policy for the state.

Mowat said he does not know how much any of the proposals would cost. They include: tax credits of 100 per cent for material used to insulate homes, apartments and businesses; state subsidization of increased energy costs for senior citizens; greater authority for the state Energy Administration to monitor energy use in schools, universities and state buildings; empowering the governor to limit the number of hours businesses and public institutions can be open; institute the "point" penalty system for violations of the 55 mile an hour speed limit.

Mowat said some of the actions could be taken by the governor.

Bonding Firm Now Center Of Dispute

DETROIT (AP) — A judicial stew is brewing here over what to do about a Detroit bail firm linked with a bonding scandal involving two judges.

Some Detroit Recorder's Court judges said they favor limiting or suspending the license of Goldfarb Bonding Co.

Others said taking action against the company — which nearly monopolizes bonding for Detroit Recorder's Court suspects — would jeopardize efforts to reduce the court's huge case backlog.

Last October, the Michigan Judicial Tenure Commission charged Judge James Del Rio and Clarence Laster Jr. with improperly ordering the return to Goldfarb of some $75,000 in forfeited bail bond money.

Court records show Charles Goldfarb writes at least 85 per cent of the court's surety bonds, which would have given the firm an income of more than $500,000 in 1976.

"... the judges feel trapped," said one. "They've considered suspending Goldfarb, but they realize that he has the court on its knees. There's no firm in the state that could fill in for him — so if he is suspended, the jail population soars and the crash program falls short."

U.S. Roads Wearing Out

WASHINGTON (AP) — America's federal highways are wearing out faster than they are being repaired, in part because federal overseers have not enforced rules which require states to fix the roads the General Accounting Office charges. The GAO, the accounting branch of Congress, also said the problem might become worse because heavier trucks are being allowed on the roads and because funds for repair are becoming less available. The GAO urged the Federal Highway Administration to get tough with state officials responsible for road maintenance.

"Segments of the interstate highway system appear to have been inadequately maintained, and the highways are now deteriorating 50 per cent faster than they are being replaced," the report said.

The GAO report noted the United States has 3.8 million miles of highways, of which 929,000 miles are on federal-aid systems. Latest available figures show that 1.29 trillion vehicle-miles were traveled in 1974 on the highways, three-fourths on the federal network.

Congress Opens Gas Probe

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress is taking its own look into allegations that natural gas producers deliberately are holding back production to spur deregulation and obtain higher prices. Two House subcommittees, whose chairmen are poles apart on the issue of removing federal price controls from natural gas, have scheduled hearings for this week to delve into the allegations. A House interior subcommittee meets today and a House commerce subcommittee meets Tuesday and Wednesday, both on the same subject. Both panels have summoned Interior Department officials to testify.

Family Planning Supported

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Joseph Califano Jr., says he objects to abortion for religious reasons, but believes family planning "is fine, appropriate and should be pushed much harder than it is." Califano, a Roman Catholic, heads the agency that funds abortions and birth control, both of which his church opposes. Sources in the department say the administration's support of family planning as an alternative to abortion will be evident in President Carter's budget proposals, which will call for increased funding of birth control programs.

China Hikes Grain Purchases

WASHINGTON (AP) — The People's Republic of China has sharply increased its purchases of foreign wheat this year, apparently because of a hard winter and a shrinking stockpile of food grain, the Agriculture Department said today. When China went on a similar buying campaign four years ago it led to huge sales of American grain. But officials say there is no evidence at this time that China will seek U.S. wheat in the near future. China's grain imports in 197677 are expected to total at least 3.5 million metric tons, up 52 per cent from a record low of 2.3 million tons last year, the department's Foreign Agricultural Service said. Most of the grain China has bought this year for delivery by June 30 has been disclosed, including 1.5 million tons of wheat recently purchased from Canada. Other suppliers include Australia and Argentina. A metric ton is 2,205 pounds.

Crim Expected To Modify Rainy Day Fund Stand

By DONALD WOLTAT
Associated Press Writer

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — House Speaker Bobby Crim, who last week had Republicans after his hide, plans to hold a news conference Tuesday to "clarify" the statement that caused all the trouble.

A top aide said Crim isn't changing his position on Gov. William Milliken's proposed rainy day fund. He'll just do what he calls setting the record straight after being "widely misquoted."

In any case, the Davison Democrat is expected to strike a more conciliatory tone on Milliken's high-priority project than he did Feb. 9.

After he had joined with Milliken in a bipartisan call for a budget stabilization fund to set money aside for the state in hard times, Crim suddenly said the state can't afford it this year. In strong language, he said the economic picture is bleaker than Milliken paints it.

GOP House leaders then blasted him as a "slippery politician" who intended to hold up the fund until 1978, when he could claim credit for it during a run for Milliken's job.

Roger Tilles, Crim's top aide, says the speaker never ruled out the possibility of putting money in the fund this year. On Tuesday, he'll say he wants to get together with Milliken's budget director to see if a realistic formula can be worked out to accomplish it.

"Maybe the governor's revenue estimates are low," Tilles said. "Or if the governor can explain the holes in his budget, he (Crim) is not opposed to starting the fund this year."

Milliken wants to put $128.8 million into the fund, then transfer nearly $100 million of it to another fund to beef up the state's cash balance. The state has had to delay payments to schools and colleges because there wasn't enough cash on hand.

Crim wanted to create the fund but not put money in it until the economy improved and Michigan's high unemployment dropped.

Work on a House Republican bill creating both the budget fund and the cash balance fund is expected to start in committee this week.

Also this week, a change in the state game laws is likely to win House approval.

It would close a loophole that lets people guilty of illegal possession of a game bird or animal get off the hook if they only possess part of the animal, such as a deer hindquarter. The bill sponsored by Rep. Thomas Anderson, D-Southgate, would set penalties for possession of part of a bird or animal.

Illinois Hamlet Makes Most Of U.S. Brooms

ARCOLA, Ill. (AP) — Most of the nation's brooms are produced at the rate of 84,000 a week in two factories in this east-central Illinois community.

The Warren Bros. Broom Co. turns out 9,000 a week from broomcorn (fibers). The more automated Libman Broom Co. produces about 15,000 a day, most of them with machine-made polypropylene brushes.

In the early 1900s, virtually all the world's broomcorn was grown on Arcola area farms. But increasing costs of labor needed to hand harvest the crops forced many farmers to switch to other crops. The factories remained, however, and now 95 per cent of their broomcorn comes from Mexico.

Louis Turner, manager of Warren Bros., says broom making is an art that takes more than a year to master.

"An experienced broom maker will earn from $190 to $225 a week," he says. "They can make a broom in 1½ to 2 minutes."

Turner, 26, started at the bottom of the profession. His parents had worked in broom making and he began at the age of 16.

"That broomcorn dust just got in my blood," he said. "I started as a floor worker sorting broomcorn and scraping brooms. Eventually, I became a broom maker and then manager. I can work well with the employes. If they have gripes I understand because I've been there, too."

The Libman firm, operated by brothers Robert and William Libman, has been a family institution since 1896. It was founded in Chicago, moved to Tuscola in the early 1930s and to Arcola in 1956. The Libmans claim the company is the largest broom manufacturer in the world.

The plant is housed in an old grade school. The gymnasium is used for broom production while the classrooms serve as a warehouse. Five building have been added since the firm moved to the school.

Recall Triumph 'Mandate' To Highland Park Mayor

HIGHLAND PARK, Mich. (AP) — A jubilant Mayor Jesse P. Miller, who survived a weekend recall election by a 2-to-1 margin, hailed the results as "a second mandate" that would end allegations of corruption and incompetence in his administration.

Voters on Saturday turned back a drive to recall Miller, 3,457 to 1,743.

The recall group — Citizens for an Improved Highland Park — had charged that Miller's administration lost $11.4 million by making mistakes in federal fund applications.

The group also alleged the mayor had ties with the owner of a topless-bottomless bar in the city — despite Miller's campaign promises to battle pornography and prostitution.

As the recall campaign drew to an end, however, Miller unleashed charges of his own. Miller said the man he defeated in 1975, former Mayor Robert Blackwell, ran up bills of $2,200 after leaving office. Miller also called for a Wayne County grand jury investigation of the city's police department after making vague allegations that some police are selling drugs or women.

Miller has not made an official grand jury probe request to the county prosecutor's office, however.

"The people of Highland Park have given us a second mandate," Miller said in a prepared statement. He also criticized "the upheaval and additional cost to the city that some selfish individuals have caused by this unnecessary recall election."

The citizen's group had said Godfrey Franklin, a former Blackwell aide, would have been their mayoral candidate if Miller had been recalled.

Technical Communication Awards Presented To 22

Awards were presented to winners in the regional Society for Technical Communication competition recently at a banquet of the Southwest Michigan Chapter of the society.

Twenty-two winners from the chapter were recognized. The entries were judged by the Southeast Michigan chapter. Banquet speaker was Dr. W. Earl Britton, University of Michigan professor emeritus and an authority on technical communications.

Top winner in the top category, Award of Distinction, was douglas Bonham of the Heath Co. for a published work, "DC Electronics." Curtis Pitts, also of Heath, was the only other twin city area winner in that category. His entry was a manual, "Model TA-1620 Sound Projection."

Two Awards of Excellence were won by twin city area people. A. Randolph Kaeding, also of Heath, was recognized for his manual for Heathkit HW 2036. Marianna Pratt, managing editor of "Agricultural Engineering" magazine, won in the technical journal category. The monthly magazine is published by American Society of Agricultural Engineers. Mrs. Pratt also received an Award of Merit for the booklet, "Heritage & Horizons," also published by ASAE.

Awards of Merit also were won by several Whirlpool Corporation communicators. Vincent Miller was honored for his entry, "ASTD International News." Tim Cuthbert's entry was "Diagnosing the Wash." Deborah Litchford was honored for the St. Joseph division's house organ, "The Communicator." Another house organ, "Full Line News," won an award for Pat Warkentien.

Other area winners in that category included Lawrence P. Larson for his "Heathkit Assembly/Operational Manual" and Stewart Hill of Ames Co., a Division of Miles Laboratories, for the "Clini-Tek Operating Manual."

Awards of Achievement were won by Ben Lamberg for his manual on the "Compact Ice Maker" and by John Helsey for his book on "Service Management." Both are with Whirlpool.

What's 'Lewd, Lascivious'?

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The state Liquor Control Commission is trying to decide what constitutes obscenity in bars. A new set of rules would spell out what the commission means in its present ban on "lewd and lascivious " behavior in establishments licensed to serve beer, wine and liquor. The commission's proposed regulations forbid customers, performers and employes in bars from showing pornographic movies or slides, exposing certain parts of the body, or doing or pretending to do sex acts. Larry Brya, an assistant attorney general assigned to the commission, said the commission is trying to make current regulations more specific as required by recent court decisions. Violations would carry fines up to $300 and suspension or revocation of liquor licenses. A public hearing was set for March 16 at 10 a.m. in the state Law Building in Lansing. The full commission and then the legislature's Joint Administrarules Committee must approve the regulations.

Scranton Set For New Post

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — William Scranton, U.S. ambassador to the United Nations until last month, is in line to become chairman of the 30,000-member U.N. Association of the United States of America.

The former Pennsylvania governor was the unanimous choice of the U.N.-boosting association's nominating committee for election as chairman at its biennial convention in April.

He will take over the chairmanship from James McDonnell of St. Louis, chairman of the McDonnell Douglas Corp.

Sweet-Unsalted Mazola® Margarine has no salt, milk solids, or cholesterol, and it has a sweet, fresh taste. That's what makes it so special. And remember, Mazola has the goodness of corn—maize—because it contains golden corn oil.
What's more, Mazola Sweet-Unsalted is right in your grocer's dairycase.
So whether you should use a salt-free margarine or you just prefer that sweet, fresh taste, Mazola Sweet-Unsalted is the right choice. Naturally.

Ohio River Spill Danger Dissolving

By MANUEL SCHIFFRES
Associated Press Writer

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — A spill of the dry-cleaning chemical carbon tetrachloride — of debated concentration and danger — is safely passing this Ohio River city because of filtration, officials say.

The Environmental Protection Agency discontinued its suggestion to residents along the river to boil their drinking water.

The source of the 70 tons of pollutant has been traced to a 20-mile section of the Kanahwa River near Charleston, W.Va. Alvin Morris, a deputy EPA administrator, confirmed that investigators were concentrating on one of two chemical plants in the area.

Gordon Robeck, head of the Environmental Protection Agency's Water Quality Research Division at Cincinnati, says it was only the most spectacular case of a continuing problem with chemicals in the river. More than 100 miles of the Ohio have been affected since the chemical was detected late last week.

Carbon tetrachloride — commonly used as a cleaning fluid and known to cause cancer in laboratory animals — can damage the liver and kidneys. Concentrations in excess of 50 parts of the chemical per billion of water are considered dangerous, said Jerry Ford, spokesman for the Louisville Water Co.

Ford said tests of water drawn on Sunday from the river at Louisville stabilized at 20 parts to 21 parts of carbon tetrachloride per billion after reaching a maximum concentration of 22 parts per billion.

"We're optimistic to think that if it has been stable ... that we've passed the maximum readings," Ford said.

He said the amount of carbon tetrachloride in the water "reduces to almost zero after carbon filtration treatment."

However, EPA officials said their tests indicated concentrations ranging from 80 parts to 130 parts per billion at Louisville before filtering.

Despite discontinuing its warning about boiling water, the EPA still is asking utilities to monitor the river continually and undertake special treatment where necessary, said Gary Hutchinson, chief of the water division in EPA's Atlanta office.

The spill was discovered while EPA officials were making a routine check of water supplies in the Cincinnati area.

Robeck said many chemicals have slipped undetected down the river for years, and that luck played a major role in discovery of the carbon tetrachloride.

"It's just scary that to know something like this, you have to stumble onto it," Robeck said.

The river water is not tested every day for pollutants. Periodic checks sometimes show residual traces of a pollutant after its main body has passed by days before, he said.

Michigan Hermit Happily Ignoring Most Of Society

By MARY KELLY

FAYETTE, Mich. (AP) — A normal middle-class suburban life style is exactly what Lewis VanSickle wants to avoid.

He left just such a situation in the Lansing area about four years ago and has set up housekeeping on a remote few acres of land in Fayette, on a peninsula east of Escanaba.

The self-styled hermit is thriving, growing his own food and ignoring, for the most part, the rest of human society.

VanSickle probably is as self-sufficient as a person can be in 20th Century America. Providing most of his own needs, he spent less than $300 last year.

He lives in an ancient but sturdy camper trailer that is functional and without frills. He heats and cooks with wood, uses a kerosene lamp and carries water from Fayette State Park. Even the soap he uses is homemade. A small generator provides power for a light in his root cellar and a radio.

Although he isolates himself from people as much as possible, VanSickle is surrounded by animals and has a deep concern for their care and wellbeing.

There is Mildred, a mammoth sow who is temperamental and has eyes smaller than raisins. Ben is a black Labrador Retriever who he calls "dumb and useless," but who is bursting with energy and good doggy happiness.

There are cats, including one VanSickle calls "Nuisance," and an assortment of geese, chickens and turkeys.

VanSickle does not fit the stereotype role of the grouchy old hermit. He is 42 and has excellent health and vitality. He possesses not only a quick native intelligence but a respectable amount of education and an impressive scope of knowledge.

Before he came to Fayette, VanSickle served in the U.S. Army, worked toward a degree in engineering at Michigan State University and traveled extensively.

He worked with the U.S. Fisheries and Wildlife Service and was a successful butcher for years.

Evasive about his personal life, he says he was married two or three times.

VanSickle doesn't care to socialize, saying he "can't stand to be with most people for more than half an hour."

Contending "80 to 90 per cent of all human activity is fruitless," Van Sickle says "people tend to operate with the Alcoholics Anonymous philosophy of one day at a time."

Politically, he describes himself as conservative. He subscribes to one magazine, called "The Review of the News," which he calls as close to the "John Birch-type of thinking as it is to anything."

He gave serious thought to the recent presidential election and ultimately voted for former President Ford, although he expressed grave concern and said "there was really not much of a choice."

King's Visitors

LONDON (AP) — King Khaled of Saudia Arabia, who reportedly has taken over an entire floor of Wellington Hospital while recuperating from hip surgery, has received his first visitors since the operation.

Among his guests on Sunday were the Emir of Bahrain, Sheik Isa bin Sulman Al-Khalifa, and the Crown Prince and Prime Minister of Kuwait, Sheik Ahmad al-Jabir as-Sabah.

Neil Diamond's TV Performance Makes Up For His Voice, Music

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Let me say right off the bat I don't like the voice or music of Neil Diamond, the reclusive pop superstar whose wares go on display in a one-hour NBC special tonight.

To me, he sounds like a guy whose truss needs adjusting. His tunes are predictable, lack the inventive chord changes, the subtle lyrical and melodic twists of the pop song guru I most admire, Paul Simon.

And Diamond's "Sweet Carolina" only recently has been displaced by "Feelings" as the song most apt to be heard six times a night in any saloon featuring a piano bar, stale peanuts and a hopeful singer.

With that established, let me now say brother Diamond, as fsin tonight's NBC opus, puts on a whale of a show. I don't dig his music, but I sure give him credit as a powerful, first-rate performer.

"The Neil Diamond Special," as it's called, is on tape, taken from the best of two shows he put on last fall at the open-air Greek Theater in Hollywood.

That gig was part of his much-publicized return to stage work after a four-year "sabbatical," and it was a sellout, with thousands of pilgrims demanding entry the moment the box-office opened.

Tonight's only dull spot is in the beginning, when Diamond, seated in a then-empty Greek Theater, imparts wisdom on how an audience is half the performance and solemnly adds: "They've got to be with you or there's nothing."

Suffice it to say, his audience is with him, clapping time, cheering, giving standing ovations as he prowls the stage, clad in a glitter shirt and tight blue pants, doing his thing in a sometimes raspy-baritone that slides off the end of a phrase as if too exhausted to continue.

He works his way with much emotion, much care, through his old and new tunes, going from "Cherry, Cherry" to "Beautiful Noise" and throwing in, yes, "Sweet Carolina," lest the multitudes feel cheated.

Of course, he does "Song Sung Blue," in which he coaxes to the stage obviously surprised Helen Reddy and Henry "The Fonz" Winkler for funny, separate renditions of that ditty.

(Los Angeles Mayor Tom Bradley also had a go at the tune, but NBC snipped him from the tape, as he's seeking re-election and his opponents might demand equal time to assault "Song Sung Blue.")

Granted, a solo sing show on TV has hazards, mainly that home viewers will depart if faced with an hour of watching a vocalist consume a microphone. But there's none of that here.

The show has great pace, crisp execution, and it makes for a wholly entertaining hour you ought to watch tonight.

Stevie Wonder Dominates Grammy Awards

STEVIE WONDER
Big winner

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Stevie Wonder's ambitious personal opus, "Songs in the Key of Life," has earned him four of the recording industry's Grammy awards, giving the blind rhythm-and-blues singer domination of this year's contest.

As he did in 1973 and 1974, Wonder took top album of the year honors, and was also cited for best producer, best performance by a male rhythm and blues singer and best performance by a male pop singer

The 19th annual awards of the National Academy of Recording Arts and Sciences Saturday night also featured George Benson as a big winner. The jazz-oriented guitar player and singer took three Grammies for best single record, "This Masquerade;" best pop instrumental performance, "Breezin';" and Best R&B instrumental performance, "Theme from Good King Bad."

Linda Ronstadt, whose album "Hasten Down the Wind" showed her long attachment to country music being augmented with pop, reggae and rock and roll nostalgia material, was voted best female pop singer. Emmylou Harris, a sometime musical associate of Ronstadt, won for best female country vocal performance.

After years of commercial success and 18 Grammy nominations, Chicago finally won the industry's recognition with three awards, including one for best pop group.

"I'm freakin' out, we're all freakin' out," said James Pankow from Munich, where the group is on tour. "I guess instead of getting older, you get better just like a fine wine."

Natalie Cole, last year's winner for best new artist, took her second Grammy as best female R&B singer. The best R&B song was Boz Scaggs' "Lowdown."

The two-hour live telecast featured a satellite-relayed performance by Wonder from Lagos, Nigeria, where he was attending an African musical gathering. The performance was marred by poor reception.

Other awards included Ronnie Milsap, best male country singer; Larry Gatlin, best country song ("Broken Lady"), and Starland Vocal Band, best new recording act.

Count Basie was awarded best jazz performance by a soloist for "Basie and Zoot;" Chick Corea's group, best jazz group, and Duke Ellington, best big-band jazz performance.

In classical music, the album of the year was Artur Rubinstein's playing of the five Beethoven piano concertos with Daniel Barenboim and the London Philharmonic.

Classroom Use Falls

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The number of classrooms being used in Michigan public schools fell this year for the first time in memory, the state Board of Education said. After a steady climb that began in the 1960s, the number of classrooms in use has dropped to 92,944 — about 1,000 fewer than last school year. The decline reflects dwindling enrollments that started in the 1971-72 school year, state officials said.

BH Man Acquitted By Jury

A Berrien Circuit court jury deliberated about a half-hour Friday before acquitting a Benton Harbor man of a charge of breaking and entering.

Acquitted of the charge was Tommie Scott, 22, of 738 McAllister avenue, who went to trial on a charge of breaking and entering the home of Eddie Sims, at 527 Whitcomb court, Benton Harbor, on Sept. 29.

Coeds Hurt In Smashup

LENOXVILLE, Pa. (AP) — At least 15 Cornell University coeds were injured, two seriously, when a bus carrying the women's basketball and swimming teams skidded off ice-covered Interstate 81 into a field.

State police Sgt. Leroy Rotherford said the Sunday night accident occurred as the bus descended a steep grade about a mile south of this northeastern Pennsylvania town.

Thirteen of the women were taken to St. Joseph's Hospital in Carbondale, and two others, described as "walking wounded," to Binghamton General Hospital in New York, police said.

Loses Degrees

MOSCOW (AP) — Alexander Zinoviev, the Soviet philosopher whose allegorical novel "The Yawning Heights" was labeled "anti-Soviet slander" by some of his colleagues, says his academic degrees have been revoked.

Zinoviev, 55, who was fired last month from his job as professor of logic at the Moscow Institute of Philosophy, said Sunday that he has been denied the right to use his titles of doctor or professor.

Michigan Novelist Warned Of New Ice Age

By JOHN P. GUMINA

MOUNT PLEASANT, Mich. (AP) — Recent record cold in parts of the nation has prompted some scientists to speak of an impending, new Ice Age.

But a Michigan author in 1975 warned of the very thing in his novel, "Fire and Ice."

Author-professor Ray Kytle of Mount Pleasant wrote, "It will begin to snow in places and seasons where it has never snowed during recorded history."

Two years after his prediction, headlines are carrying reports of snowfall in Miami and the Bahamas and describing them in similar words as "the first snowfall in recorded history."

The increased use of the coal sends additional particulate matter into the atmosphere, triggering a cooling effect that becomes irreversible, Kytle wrote.

"Research shows it is a matter of global reflectivity, or albedo," he explained.

"Jet contrails, auto exhaust and emissions of factory smokestacks all increase it. The more particulate matter in the atmosphere, the more reflectivity and the less warmth from the sun reaches the earth's surface. Temperatures begin to fall."

They don't have to fall by much either, Kytle adds.

"The last Ice Age is variously estimated to have been caused by a mean temperature drop of only 5 to 8 degrees centigrade," he said. "And it came in a rush."

Kytle cited the discovery of numerous mammoths and other subtropical animals in the ice packs of England, Europe and Russia.

In the novel, an Arizona couple and their son take refuge with a second couple and their two teenage children in a remote Colorado resort area, shortly before the nation's economic system collapses and mayhem ensues.

Leading to the downfall was the embargo, more complete than the all-too-real embargo of 1972.

"I started the novel almost a year before the first oil embargo," Kytle said. "I had conceived and completed a preliminary draft that postulated an embargo.

Kytle acknowledged there are conflicting theories of the apparent shift in weather patterns in the atmosphere, including the opposite of the Ice Age theory.

But Kytle said, research shows since the mid-40s there has been a gradual cooling trend in the earth's atmosphere.

"At this point," Kytle explained, "debate centers on whether when a major cooling trend occurs, this albedo effect builds up gradually over periods of decades or hundreds of years, or is a trigger point reached that results in a 'climatic flip'."

He said criticism of his ministry has been building ever since he made efforts to integrate the all-white church last fall after a black minister sought membership. He said he was "sure it was the backlash" of these efforts that led to his problems. (AP Wirephoto)

DETROIT ZOO CLASS SITE

Penguin Course Big Hit

By BILL DALTON

A voracious appetite or a hairy hankering for lissome blondes admittedly is lacking. But the plucky little penguins apparently have a lot of just plain people appeal if the sellout of their annual performance at the Detroit Zoo's penguinarium is any indicator.

What's said to be probably the best exhibit in the world devoted solely to those flightless birds renowned for their clownish behavior and tuxedo-clad appearance is the site once again for a unique course offered in part by the University of Michigan's Extension Service entitled simply "Penguins."

The two-day weekend adult education course was filled more than a month before its scheduled first session, Feb. 19.

When it first was offered in 1973 some 150 students tried to get in the course limited in enrollment to 40. And not just latent South Pole explorers either, but housewives, senior citizens and college students looking for something different.

Call it "penguin power" if you like, but U-M's curator of birds for 28 years feels the penguin's popularity is due to the bird's pseudo-human look.

"Really, it's a false impression," says the professor of zoology who oversees quite a flock himself — some 150,000 stuffed birds at the university's Museum of Zoology.

The passel of penguins at the zoo's penguinarium is much smaller. There are 54 birds, including Emperors, Kings, Adelies, Rock Hoppers, Black Feet, Macaronis and Fairys, but much livelier.

The penguinarium people have created a mini-Antarctica for the birds, even though the "snow and ice" in the triangular facility is only white fiberglass.

Automatic dimmers simulate Antarctic nights and days. Water and air is filtered and kept at a chilly 45 degrees, and special pesticide-free salt water herring are flown in to keep the penguins pudgy.

"They'll eat maybe seven to 10 fish a day, depending on size," estimates Detroit Zoo bird curator Keith Cline. The birds also get vitamins.

So far, Cline feels they've succeeded in simulating "Queen Maud Land." A happy penguin is a propagating penguin, Cline says, pointing out some 20 birds have hatched there since the facility opened in 1968. Five of the seven species hatched have grown to maturity.

The success of the penguins course has been attributed in part to its cramming into 14 hours just about everything you ever wanted to know about penguins but were afraid to ask, from nesting behavior to evolution.

The drawing card, of course, is getting to see real live penguins without a trip to the South Pole.

"We have Emperors that are four feet tall. They can weigh as much as 90 pounds, right down to the little Blue Fairy penguins just a foot tall," says Robert Storer, one of the course instructors.

Penguins have been on the planet a long time (fossils of prehistoric penguins 6 feet tall have been found) and are well-studied, according to Storer, who adds, "There isn't much else to look at in the Antarctic."

Berrien Escapee Sentenced

Clifford J. Haskins, 24, of 476 East Marquette Woods road, Royalton township, was sentenced to a one year jail term Friday in Berrien District court after pleading guilty to a charge of jail escape.

He was accused of not returning from day-parole Jan. 5 to the Berrien county jail, St. Joseph, where he was serving a 90 day sentence for a drunk and disorderly conviction. That sentence had been imposed Dec. 15.

Under the parole, Haskins was released from jail weekdays between 2:30 p.m. and 1 a.m. to work.

The one year jail term is to be served consecutively with the remainder of the 90 day term.

Police Captain Arraigned

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP) — Robert C. Graham, a Niles police captain and former police chief, stood mute at his arraignment Friday on 21 counts of violating federal gun laws.

The magistrate gave Graham two weeks to file legal motions, but set no date for further hearings.

Graham was indicted by a federal grand jury last week on charges of failing to keep records required of gun dealers. Federal officials said the charges cover a four-year period. They also contended Graham obtained firearms by claiming falsely they were for police use.

Wright Wins Three Overtime Thriller For St. Joseph

Wright's 25-foot jump shot with nine seconds left in the third overtime capped a brilliant performance and sent St. Joe to a thrilling 91-89 non-league basketball win over South Haven.

The win snapped a four-game Bear losing streak and upped St. Joe's record to 6-12. South Haven, which had a seven-game winning streak snapped, fell to 13-5.

Wright put on a spectacular one-man show for the Bears, pouring in 36 points and pulling down 21 rebounds, both career highs. It was the senior forward who tossed in 10 fourth-quarter points to help St. Joe tie the game in regulation and then added eight more in the three extra periods to win it.

"Dale has been consistent all year from the floor and rebounding for us," beamed Bear coach George Gaunder. "His all-around consistency was really a key for us."

Wright hit on 15 of 24 shots from the floor in his brilliant effort. Kevin Wheeler also played superbly for St. Joe, scoring 12 points. Wheeler scored six points during the third-quarter Bear comeback and his tip-in at the buzzer of the second overtime tied the game.

"Certainly Wheeler threw in some key baskets," Gaunder said. "But we played 12 players and they all deserve a pat on the back. We overcame a big deficit to win."

South Haven blistered the nets on an incredible 21 of 35 shots in the first half (60 per cent) in racing to a commanding 54-42 halftime margin.

But sparked by Wheeler, the Bears trimmed the deficit to 62-57 entering the final quarter. Still trailing 77-70 with just over two minutes left, St. Joe reeled off seven unanswered points to send it into overtime.

"We let it get away," Ram coach M. H. White lamented. "I thought we did real well against their press in the first half. Then we were flat in the third quarter and let them get back in the ballgame. We just let it get away."

Mike Grimes paced South Haven with 25 points, including nine of 11 from the floor and seven of eight from the free throw line. William Gamble added 20, his 27th straight game in double figures. Greg Colton tallied 15.

It was foul trouble which eventually did the Rams in during the overtimes. Playmaking guard Roger Getman fouled out midway through the final period and Gamble exited with 2:10 remaining. Grimes went to the bench with his fifth personal in the first 15 seconds of overtime play.

"I'm sure that foul trouble beat us," White said. "But I was real pleased with the way the reserves played in the overtimes. We were forced to play almost all of the overtimes without our best three players."

Gaunder was pleased with the St. Joe comeback.

"The fact that we gave up 54 points in the first half and then only 23 more in the second half was the most pleasing aspect," Gaunder said. "The first half we did a lot of pressing and that contributed to some of their baskets. But in the second half we didn't press much. We consolidated our defense and played them tighter in the defensive end of the court."

Both teams had their chances to win the game in the extra periods. Ken Cullum's shot went off the side of the rim at the buzzer of the first overtime.

In the second extra period, South Haven held an 87-83 lead with less than a minute to play. Wright's bucket with 25 seconds left trimmed the deficit to two. South Haven was whistled for traveling with 11 seconds to go. With two seconds to go, Wright's 10-footer was off the mark, but Wheeler tipped it in to send the game to a third overtime.

That set up Wright's heroics.

St. Joseph had one of its best shooting nights of the season in posting the win. The Bears hit on 36 of 64 from the floor for a fantastic 56 per cent. The Rams also tallied 36 field goals but needed 77 shots for 47 per cent.

The game was actually decided at the free throw line where St. Joseph cashed in on 19 of 28 charity tosses for 68 per cent. South Haven found the range on 17 of 25, also for 68 per cent.

St. Joe held a 44-33 board edge according to respective charts.

Gamble pulled down 11 and Colton 10 for the Rams.

Spartan Rally Topples Iowa

'M' Closes In On Title

From ASSOCIATED PRESS

Michigan's Wolverines, who play their best against the best and have yet to lose to a contender, are a short stride away from the Big Ten basketball championship and an automatic berth in the NCAA playoffs.

The Wolverines really cut loose Saturday and turned back Minnesota's threat with a crushing 89-70 victory to take retain sole possession of the Big Ten lead.

"When we're doing it right, we can beat any team in the nation," said Wolverine Coach Johnny Orr. "It was one of those games where everything goes right for us."

The Wolverines, who earlier had defeated Minnesota 86-80 at Minnesota, did everything right against the Gophers. Phil Hubbard scored 28 points and grabbed 14 rebounds while Rickey Green, Steve Grote and Tom Staton scored 16 points each.

Minnesota had a 32-point performance from Mike Thompson but that was about it for the Gophers with Coach Jim Dutcher admitting "If Thompson hadn't been in there, it would have been really embarrassing."

The victory left Michigan on top with a 13-2 record and three games to play. Purdue climbed into a second place tie with Minnesota at 11-3 with and 86-79 victory over Indiana Sunday while Ohio State, Northwestern and Michigan State came up with victories Saturday.

Purdue plays at Minnesota Thursday night while Michigan rests until Saturday when the Wolverines take on Michigan State. The Wolverines then have road games at Illinois March 3 and at Purdue March 5 but by that time the Wolverines could very well have clinched the title.

In addition to their two victories over Minnesota, the Wolverines also own a triumph over Purdue.

"We play better against the better teams," said Hubbard. "We just get more fired up. The coaches get us ready for them."

Dutcher singled out Hubbard as the difference in Minnesota's two losses to Michigan.

"If there's a pivotal player in our games with them," said Dutcher, "It's Hubbard. We can contain Kent Benson but Hubbard has that inside quickness. We have a devil of a time keeping him off the boards."

Purdue trailed Indiana at the half 38-37 but the Boilermakers scored six quick points at the start of the second half and were never headed.

The Boilermakers' sagging zone defense contained Benson and held the All-American to 12 points but Jim Wisman took advantage and scored 25 points, many from long range. Eugene Parker led the Boilermakers with 18 points.

"We just seemed to be a step slow in the first half," said Parker. I think maybe we were just a little tight at the start. We were more active in the second half and we just went out and got it."

Ohio State rallied to defeat Illinois 64-60. Northwestern broke a four-game losing streak with a 98-88 triumph over Wisconsin and Michigan State edged Iowa 81-79.

Illinois held a 56-48 lead over Ohio State with 5:34 to play but the Buckeyes ran off 13 straight points, six by Kelvin Ransey, before Illinois could score again with 32 seconds to play. Ransey led the Buckeyes with 16 points. Audie Matthews topped Illinois with 18.

Tony Allen pumped in a career high 25 points and Billy McKinney and Bob Svete scored 19 each to lead Northwestern past Wisconsin. Jim (Stretch) Gregory was high for Wisconsin with 28 points.

Bob Chapman hit on a pair of insurance free throws with 12 seconds to play and scored 27 points in Michigan State's triumph over Iowa which led at one time by as much as 14 points. Ron Lester was Iowa's leading scorer with 18 points.

Less than two weeks remain in the Big Ten race and the next most important game is Purdue's invasion of Minnesota Thursday night. In addition to their two losses to Michigan, the Gopher also have lost to Purdue and have the dubious distinction of not having a victory over a contender in the Big Ten this season.

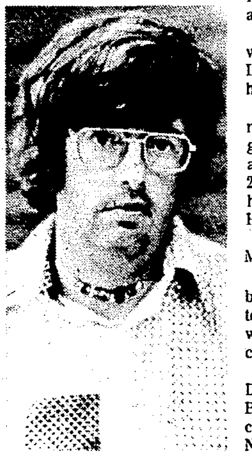
Bees Clinch Arrow Title

Hendricks Gets 100th Victory

BRIDGMAN — Doug Hendrick's 100th victory couldn't have come at a better time as far as Bridgman is concerned.

The veteran Bee's mentor collected his coveted 100th win Saturday night as Bridgman clinched the Red Arrow title with a 68-54 win over Lake Michigan Catholic here.

"We're glad (Bob) Linke got his 1,000th point and I got my 100th victory," Hendricks said. "Now maybe we can just go out and play ball. I'm real glad to have the Red Arrow clinched, however, before we have to go out and play that last ballgame with Watervliet."



DOUG HENDRICKS

The win was the 18th overall this year for the unbeaten Bees. Bridgman, ranked second in the latest Associated Press Class D poll, is 13-0 in league play. Lake Michigan Catholic fell to 1-12 in Red Arrow play and 2-17 overall.

"We're 18-0 and my 100th win couldn't have come any too quick," Hendricks said. "I think maybe our concentration has been a little down. And it's obvious that every team that comes in is really psyched up for us. I thought we looked a little stale and it doesn't get any easier."

That it doesn't for Bridgman, which travels to Michigan Lutheran Tuesday and then hosts Watervliet Friday.

Bob Linke topped the Bridgman scoring attack. Linke, who got his 1,000th point Friday against Eau Claire, pumped in 22, including 14 in the first half. Wolf Wolf added 14 and Howie Mutz tallied 11.

It was ironic that the Bees beat Lake Michigan Catholic to clinch the title. The Lakers were the defending league champions.

"I would like to congratulate Doug on his 100th victory and Bridgman on their conference championship," Laker coach Al Nixon said. "But we felt Bridgman had to work for it.

"I honestly feel it was our best game of the year as far as the effort we put forth. I felt Gary Bartalone and John Spear did a great job of creating pressure. We've had a problem all year with our man-to-man defense exerting pressure. But those two did the job."

Catholic opened with a four-guard offense in an unusual bit of strategy by Nixon. Opening the game were 6-1 Masini, and guards Bartalone (5-9), Phil Banks (5-9), Tony Wallace (5-8) and Spear (5-8). And with the speedy, diminutive lineup, the Lakers raced out to an 8-2 lead.

"When they came in with that real short lineup, we felt they were going to stall," Hendricks said. "We were so conditioned for the stall that it took us about four minutes to readjust and play basketball.

"Then about the time we got adjusted to that, they brought in a new five and tried to stall."

Leading by the six-point margin, the Lakers brought in Tim Gentry, Andy Rodez, Rose, Carmen Bovo and Mike McCrone and attempted to stall. But that strategy failed to work. By the end of the quarter, the Bees had taken the lead for good at 14-13.

"Our plan was to start the smaller and quicker kids," Nixon said. "Then put the big kids in for the last five minutes and stall. I think it was more Bridgman than it was us for our inability to stall. They applied good pressure."

"Matthias did a real nice job coming off the bench," Hendricks said. "He scored six points in the second quarter. He's one of our quicker individuals and did agreat job chasing the ball."

Bridgman broke the game open by outscoring the Lakers 19-6 in the second period for a 33-19 halftime margin.

The Bees hit on 29 of 67 from the floor for 43 per cent. Catholic found the range on 25 of 63 for 40 per cent.

The Bees held a 40-29 board edge with Wolf grabbing 12 and Linke nine. Masini collected nine caroms for the Lakers.

CMU Knocks Off Miami

N. Illinois Shares Lead

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — John McDougal, a 52-year-old rookie college coach, can barely believe his first Northern Illinois team shares the Mid-American Conference basketball lead.

"You can't imagine what a feeling being first is," said McDougal shortly after the Huskies sidestepped host Bowling Green 81-79.

The road victory, Northern Illinois' fifth in six MAC games, moved the Huskies into a share of the lead at 9-2 with Central Michigan, knocking favored Miami from the top spot 92-85.

In other games, Toledo kept alive its flickering hopes by beating Eastern Michigan 60-49, Ohio University used foul shots to nip Kent State 81-80 and Ball State surprised defending champion Western Michigan 70-65.

McDougal can explain why Northern Illinois is a bonafide title threat after being picked for last.

"In the past, we had to go to (Matt) Hicks. This year we're not a one-man club," he said.

Against the Falcons, Hicks had his customary 24, but Paul Dawkins hit a career high 31 and John Harris added 21. That front line trio scored all but five of the Huskies' total and accounted for 33 rebounds.

Miami's defeat was a costly one, sinking the Redskins into third place at 9-3. "We just can't afford to give up 92 points and win. (Ben) Poquette (26 points and 15 rebounds) just outmuscled us," said Darrell Hedric, the Redskins' coach.

Miami outshot Central Michigan 62 to 58 per cent. "A tremendous offensive showing," said Dick Parfitt, the Chippewas' mentor. "Everybody out there was just smoking."

Toledo, picked to finish second behind Miami, can take matters in its own hands this week. The fourth-place Rockets (7-4) entertain Central Michigan Wednesday and Northern Illinois Saturday.

Dick Miller's performance of 13 points and 14 rebounds dropped Eastern Michigan deeper into last place. The Hurons (1-11) got 18 points from Brian Schubert.

Ball State all but eliminated Western Michigan from a second successive title. The Broncos now are 6-5 and three games behind with five to play.

Lanier's Late Hoop Gives Pistons Win

DETROIT (AP) — "Who else they gonna go to?" Bob Lanier asked.

Who else, indeed?

When the Detroit Pistons have needed clutch baskets the last seven years, more often than not it's been Lanier who has gotten the call.

That was the case again Sunday. The 6-foot-11, 255-pound center from St. Bonaventure responded by driving in the lane against 6-10 Dennis Awtrey and dropping in a left-handed hook shot with 16 seconds left.

It gave Detroit a 109-107 National Basketball Association victory over the Phoenix Suns before a Free T-Shirt Day crowd of 7,233 at Cobo Arena and a regional television audience. It was Detroit's 24th victory in 29 home games this season.

"They only feed me when they need me," Lanier said. "When they need me, they know I'm there."

Lanier scored 24 points, had [illegible] shots. Yet, he could have been the goat for taking his shot as early as he did.

The Pistons had the ball and called time out with 24 seconds left. They wanted to run down the clock and get the winning bucket in the closing seconds. They only took eight seconds before Lanier's shot.

Phoenix called time out, but couldn't bust Detroit's defense for a decent shot. Ron Lee's 25-footer in the final second was awry.

"You pass it (the ball) back and maybe you don't get it back because of their defense," Lanier said of his early shot. "I figured I'd shoot it ... I had no choice. I had the man (Awtrey) beat."

The Suns, plagued by injuries, have lost five of their last six games. They've lost 12 of their last 14 on the road.

"I'd like to win one game without all of our people here," Phoenix Coach John MacLeod [illegible] "We have to get healthy [illegible] still think we can do it."

Phoenix, which is last in the Pacific Division, 10½ games behind leader Los Angeles, has gone through eight different starting combinations. The Suns lineup of Alvan Adams, Gar Heard, Curtis Perry, Paul Westphal and Ricky Sobers that went to the NBA finals last year has been intact for only 21 games.

Perry is on the injured list. Heard and Keith Erickson didn't play Sunday because of ailments, and Westphal was hampered by a sore knee.

Muhlenkamp Selected State Grid President

IKE MUHLENKAMP

By JOHN VANDEN HEEDE
Sports Editor

St. Joseph football coach Ike Muhlenkamp is on top again.

The veteran Bear mentor, who has produced the only perfect seasons in school history and several conference championships, was named over the weekend as president of Michigan High School Football Coaches' Association.

"It's kind of a big honor and privilege to be the head of a group like that," declares Muhlenkamp, the winningest coach in St. Joe history "It's the highest thing you can achieve as a coach other than winning something as a team."

Muhlenkamp is a charter member of the coaches' association, now in its sixth year, and he is proud of its accomplishments.

"Our basic philosophy is to work for better football in the state of Michigan," adds Muhlenkamp. "The thing we have the most pride in is helping the state get the playoff system into effect."

The group also helps earn recognition for football coaches through its coach of the year selections.

And it gives honorary awards to persons outside of coaching who have given general help to football. Among those receiving special honors over the weekend at the coaches' annual clinic at Ann Arbor Pioneer high school were Dr. Chester Zwissler and Dr. Allen F. Kennedy, who have served as team doctors for local football teams.

Muhlenkamp became president of the 1,400-member coaches' association after serving last year as first vice president. He previously held positions as a director and second vice president.

Muhlenkamp came to St. Joseph from Albion, where he posted a 22-3 mark, including a perfect season in 1967.

The Ohio native is 56-24-1 at St. Joseph, including perfect seasons in 1971 and 1973 and five conference championships.

Muhlenkamp's 6-3 season last fall moved him ahead of Harry Lee and Henry Howe on St. Joe's winning list.

"That surprised me," recalls Muhlenkamp, "because I knew Harry Lee and Henry Howe had some very good years and were here a long time."

Lee posted a 53-31-5 mark in 1936-46, while Howe was 54-42-12 from 1921-31 and for the 1933 season.

Muhlenkamp, who plans to stay in coaching, says success at the prep level depends a great deal on "gaining the respect of the kids and working for them."

Muhlenkamp calls St. Joseph an "excellent place to work," but he doesn't rule out the possibility of moving up to a college job sometime in the future. "I would think that is always a possibility," he notes.

No matter where his career might take him, Ike is certain to remain No. 1 in the hearts of St. Joseph football fans.

25 Area Wrestlers State Qualifiers

Powerful Bobcats Win Regional

If there were any doubts as to how tough Brandywine's wrestling team is this season they were erased Saturday at Galesburg-Augusta high school.

The Bobcats placed seven grapplers in the championship round of the Class C regional and five of them came out winners as Brandywine rolled to the team title with 148½ points.

But it turned out to be "Black Saturday" for southwestern Michigan's Class A and B wrestlers in the regionals.

Both A wrestlers, Jim Foulkes of St. Joseph and Tim Mallett of Niles, failed to qualify at Lansing Sexton while only five of the 14 grapplers entered in the B regional at Marshall made it to the state meet.

The top four wrestlers in each weight class qualified for the finals next Friday and Saturday. All totaled, the area had 25 earn the right to try for a state title.

The Brandywine champions and their weight classes are Steve Kersch (105), Murray Wilson (119), Mitch Jeffrey (155), Scott Adams (178) and Rick Creswell (191). Kelly Low at 126 pounds and Mike McCombs at 165 were beaten in the title round while Mike Bailey (138) was third.

All in all, the Bobcats will have eight matmen in the state finals at Middleville-Thornapple Kellogg.

Brandywine more than doubled the score of second-place Constantine, which had 64 points. Cassopolis was seventh with 45 points, Eau Claire finished eighth with 44 and Buchanan had 35½ points for ninth spot.

A pair of Eau Claire grapplers, Joe Simaz (138) and Dave Yircott (145), also won their weight classes. The Rangers will be represented by Earl Sorsby, Vince Weatherspoon and Wendall Mitchum while the Bucks had Mark Fisher, John Lubben and Craig Jacquez make it.

Also qualifying were Don Parsons and Craig Humphreys of Edwardsburg, Richard Rice of Decatur and Joe Mastanka of Fennville.

Foulkes was pinned in both his matches — first by Bill Jones of Bay City Handy in 2:42 and them by Gary Porter of Lansing Eastern in 55 seconds.

Mallett lost his first match 6-0 to Ed King of Owosso, advanced on a forfeit but was then beaten 4-1 by Jim Alrick of Lansing Eastern.

Doug Smith of Lakeshore, which was sixth at 46 points, ran his record to 38-0 by winning the 105-pound class. Teammate Terry Runge took the 112-pound division for the only area champions in the B regional.

The Lancers' Jamie Lingle fell from the ranks of the unbeatens when he was decisioned by Bud Sager of Delton 10-9 in the quarterfinals. But he came back to take third at 132.

Vic Vukorpa of Paw Paw and Clay Strieter of River Valley were both fourth.

A big upset came when undefeated grappler Gus Thaler of South Haven failed to advance to the state meet. The junior won his first match 4-1 but then was pinned by Tracy Damron of Marshall in 3:00. He was knocked out of the competition when he lost to Bob Kuiper of Plainwell 5-4.

The five B matmen will now go to the state meet at East Kentwood.

Covert's Freeman Second

Freeman pinned Tom Ramos of Adrian-Madison in the second period to win his first match. He then won an 11-6 decision over Dan Myers of Manistee Catholic.

But in the finals, he was pinned by Craig Crambiet of Holton in the third period.

"It was a close match all the way," reported Bulldogs' head coach Jim Babcock. "They were exchanging points right and left...there were quite a few reversals."

But Freeman got into trouble in the third period when he didn't move out from the bottom and he got caught in a cradle.

"Ray is 5-8 and Craig is about 6-4 and he used his length to great advantage," Babcock stated.

Two other Bulldog grapplers weren't as fortunate as Freeman. Marlo Howard at 112 pounds lost his first match to Robert Tindall of Adrian-Madison 6-3 but came back to win his second match against Glen Clark of Detroit Country Day 6-3.

But he lost to Max Mitchell of Marion in the next round by a pin.

Kevin Erwin at 126 lost his first match by a 5-0 score to James Pulling of Dansville but came back and pinned Bill Hill of Morenci in the third period. But he lost 6-0 in Scott Brown of Concord in the next round.

Dave Skopec of Bridgman at 178 had about the same luck as the trio of Covert grapplers. He pinned Ted Leonard from the Michigan School of the Deaf in the first period, but lost his second match to Robin Crawford of Frankfort 10-0 in overtime.

He was eliminated in the third round when he lost to Rich Judy of Adrian-Madison 4-0.

Free Throws Difference As Lutheran Falls In OT

Free throws proved to be the difference as Michigan Lutheran dropped a 63-56 overtime decision to Saginaw Michigan Lutheran Seminary Saturday night in a non-league basketball game.

Both teams finished with 26 field goals, but Saginaw hit on 11 of 16 at the foul line to four of nine for the Titans.

Kurt Holzhueter was the big thorn in Lutheran's side, tossing in 28 points, including 12 in the fourth quarter. Tony Lechner added 16.

Guard Bob Guse was the big gun for the Titans, scoring 25 points. Guse also poured in 12 fourth-quarter points. Randy Wolf tallied 10.

The Saginaw school held a 24-21 halftime lead. But the Titans rallied for their only lead of the game at 49-47 with 1:48 to play on a bucket by Guse.

The visitors hit on 26 of 68 for 38 per cent. The Titans found the range on 26 of 70 for 37 per cent.

Saginaw, now 11-4, held a 48-40 board edge with Wolf pulling down 12 for Michign Lutheran.

The Titans, who fell to 11-6, turned the ball over 14 times to 15 for Saginaw.

Sizzling Shooting Sparks Roadrunners Past Kazoo

DOWAGIAC — Southwestern Michigan College was near perfect from the floor in the second half as the Roadrunners topped Kalamazoo Valley Community College 98-89 here Saturday night in a Western Collegiate Conference basketball game.

SMC ended up hitting an amazing 24 of 30 shots in the last half (80 per cent) while outscoring the Cougars 52-38.

Free throws also helped bring the Roadrunners their fifth straight win. The hosts canned 24 of 34 charity tosses (70.6) while KVCC only shot 19 free throws, making 15 of them (78.9).

"The free throws helped us come back and so did our zone press in the second half," commented Roadrunners' head coach Jim Tansey. "I think the zone press kind of confused them. This was the first time in seven or eight games that we have used that press."

Ricky Hubbert tallied 25 for the Cougars to lead all scorers. Kerry Williams added 23, Alan Moorehead 17 and Ollie Talbert 12.

The Roadrunners are now 13-8 on the season and 10-3 in the league.

Garner Scores 29 In Big Niles Win

NILES — Tim Garner tossed in 29 points and guard George Seals added 24 Saturday night as Niles ran past Michigan City Rogers 80-60 in a non-league basketball game here.

The win upped the Vikings record to 13-4, while Michigan City fell to 7-11.

Garner poured in 18 of his points in the first half as Niles put the game away. Leading 27-20 early in the second period, the Vikings ran off 13 straight points for a 40-20 edge. The outcome was never in doubt after that.

Kevin Seitz added 13 points and a game-high 24 rebounds for Niles, which held a commanding 37-15 board edge.

The Vikings return to Big Seven play by hosting Portage Northern Tuesday in the makeup of a contest postponed during the recent blizzard. The Vikings take 8-3 league mark into the game, trailing only Battle Creek Lakeview (9-2).

Niles also won the junior varsity contest 70-54 with George Allen tossing in 21 points and Gary Langer 14.

Purtzer's Victory Continues Golf's New Look

LOS ANGELES (AP) — There's a growing cadre of bright young men who are giving golf a new look — perhaps even a new spelling.

In the last 13 months, 12 players have scored their initial tour victories. The "Z's" are very prominent.

It started in the team championship, the last event of the 1976 season, when rookie Bill Kratzert was the key figure in a triumph with Woody Blackburn.

This year Bruce Lietzke dominated things, winning two events, finishing second and fourth in others and collecting $123,000 before he had to skip a week because of the illness of his father.

With him out, Tom Purtzer and Fuzzy Zoeller moved to the fore, Purtzer sinking a critical, par-saving putt on the 72nd hole Sunday for a one-stroke victory over Lanny Wadkins in the $200,000 Glen Campbell-Los Angeles Open.

As an indication of the change in the game, Purtzer's first tour triumph lowered to 25.4 the average age of the winners this season and marked the first time since 1970 that the tour had finished its western swing without Jack Nicklaus, Arnold Palmer or Johnny Miller winning at least one event.

They didn't even come close. They had no top 10 finishes. Miller and Palmer missed the cut for the final 36 holes more often than they made it. Nicklaus played only twice and missed once. The rest of the game's more established players suffered similar fates.

And while the names that have dominated the game so long were suffering and struggling, such players as Lietzke and Purtzer, along with Fuzzy Zoeller (third in this tournament) and Bobby Walzel (winner of $18,103 in the West) were moving into prominence.

Purtzer, an obscure, non-winning longshot, had to survive the rigors of the Monday qualifying round even to gain a spot in the tournament field with such names as Palmer, Billy Casper, Gary Player and Tom Watson — all of whom missed the cut for the final two rounds.

Purtzer prevailed with a gritty, hard-won, one-over-par 72 in the last round over the 7,029 yards that make up the famed old Riviera Country Club course. He finished with a 273 total, 11 under par.

Purtzer, 25, an Arizona State product and another of the tour's weekly Bible-study group, played erratically over the last round, blew a three-shot lead, trailed, was tied, led, blew that lead then had to scramble out of trees and deep rough in a [illegible] for the par on the 18th that won it. He finished it off with a five-foot putt while Lanny Wadkins watched from the sidelines, waiting for Purtzer to miss and set up a playoff.

It didn't happen. Purtzer rammed the putt into the back of the cup and was a winner.

Wadkins, now apparently a winner over the deep slump that has plagued him since surgery two years ago, had a last-round 70 and a 274 total.

Zoeller closed with a spectacular six-under-par 65 and was third at 276. Craig Stadler was next at 70-277, followed by Graham Marsh and Bob Gilder, Purtzer's roommate in their college days, at 278. Marsh had a last round 68, Gilder a 72.

Toronto Blasts Hawks, 10-8

From ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Toronto Maple Leafs have been scoring goals in clusters lately. They scored 10 against the Washington Capitals nine days ago, and reached that total again Sunday night, beating the Chicago Black Hawks 10-8.

It was just an average hockey game: nine goals in the third period — four within 1 minute, 36 seconds — five ties, four major fighting penalties and a gross misconduct penalty.

The Maple Leafs, completing a stretch of seven games in nine days, closed out the string with a flourish. Errol Thompson scored three goals, while George Ferguson and Lanny McDonald each had two, leading Toronto's triumph in the wacky contest.

"If I knew what would make the game deteriorate like this, or why, I could make a lot of money," said Chicago Coach Bill White after goalie Gilles Villemure was strafed for the 10 goals on 38 shots. "Our defense was shoddy at best."

"In all my years in the National Hockey League, and that's 30 years, I have never seen a game like this," said Maple Leafs Coach Red Kelly. "Fortunately, though, we had the last shot and we won the game.

"We've played seven games in nine nights, five of them on the road, and I think our guys were a little on the weary side," Kelly continued.

They were not too tired to score five times in the nine-goal third period which decided the contest. Defenseman Ian Turnbull, who earlier this season scored five goals in one game, closed out the scoring with 32 seconds remaining — skimming a 160-foot shot into the empty Chicago net.

In the other NHL games Sunday, the Philadelphia Flyers downed the Buffalo Sabres 4-2, the Pittsburgh Penguins beat the staggering Cleveland Barons 4-1, the New York Rangers trimmed the Detroit Red Wings 3-2, the Washington Capitals and New York Islanders tied 22, and the Colorado Rockies beat the Minnesota North Stars 3-2.

The Sabres saw one streak continue and two streaks end against the Flyers. The ones that ended were a six-game winning string and five consecutive unbeaten performances by rookie goaltender Don Edwards.

Ron Schock scored a goal and set up another, carrying Pittsburgh past Cleveland in what may have been the Barons' last game. The team may strike Tuesday if its owner does not come up with all due back pay.

Colorado's victory increased its lead over Minnesota to five points in the battle for the final playoff spot in the Smythe Division.

FIRST VICTORY: Tom Purtzer lets out a whoop as his final putt drops on the 72nd hole to give him the title in the Glen Campbell-Los Angeles Open Sunday. The 25-year-old won his first tournament by one stroke over Lanny Wadkins. (AP Wirephoto)

Rankin Blossom Winner

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — "I play well in the wind because I'm experienced at it," Judy Rankin said after winning the $50,000 Ladies Professional Golf Association's Orange Blossom Classic by five strokes.

Mrs. Rankin, ignoring Sunday's gusty wind, fired a final-round 69 for a 54-hole total of 208, eight-under par, and won the $7,500 first prize.

"I came into the tournament wanting to play well partly because of losing the playoffs last week, but also because I have never really done anything in this tournament," said the Midland, Tex., golfer who was last year's leading LPGA moneywinner.

Joyce Kazmierski, who started the final round three strokes behind Mrs. Rankin, could not keep pace and finished with a par 72 for a total of 213. Mrs. Kazmierski, of n Beach, Fla., won $5,040.

Sandra Palmer was third with a final 71 for a total of 214 and earned $3,620. Mary Mills finished fourth and was the only other player to shoot par or better in the three-day event, the second stop on the 1977 LPGA tour. She had a final round 71 and collected $2,700 for her par 216.

Fouls, Schoolcraft Top Lawton

LAWTON — Second-half foul trouble proved too much for Lawton to overcome here Saturday night.

Outscoring the Blue Devils 55-20 in the second half, Schoolcraft rolled to a 75-50 non-league basketball victory.

Lawton raced out to a 30-20 halftime lead. But the Blue Devils lost their two tallest players, 6-3 John Lepley and 6-2 Mike Webber, in the third quarter with five fouls. After that it was no contest.

"It really hurt us," Lawton coach Bill Shaw said of the foul trouble. "Losing Webber and Lepley really hurt. Their our big guys and I really believe we were controlling the boards until they fouled out."

Jack Bastian paced the Blue Devils with 16 points and 10 rebounds. Lepley added 15 points.

Doug Ryskamp poured in 28 points, including 24 in the second half for the winners. He tallied his 1,000th career point late in the ballgame.

Schoolcraft hit on 29 of 73 from the floor for 40 per cent. Lawton, which fell to 4-12, found the range on just 22 of 70 for 31 per cent.

Bangor First Round Winner

The Bangor 'A' team topped Saugatuck 35-21 with Rocky Johnson topping the winners with 12 points.

In other games, Todd Gobles had 10 points to lead Decatur past Bangor's 'B' team 39-27. Paul Valentine netted 11 for the losers.

Gobles beat Lawrence 32-22 with Andy Weede getting 11 for the winners. Javier Aranda had 10 for Lawrence. Mattawan smothered Bloomingdale 46-16 with Kim Johnson scoring 14 and John Dominques 12 for Mattawan.

Play will continue Tuesday in the loser's bracket.

Survives New Racing Adversary: Trash

Yarborough Winner Of Daytona 500

Trash.

It knocked out some of his toughest opposition. It played tricks with visibility. It brought the race almost to a standstill. Twice. And once it almost cost him the race.

The garbage that a gusty wind pulled out of the mammoth 135,000 crowd plugged the radiators and caused cooked engines in the cars of Richard Petty, David Pearson, Dave Marcis and others.

"The dust and trash was so bad," said Johnny Rutherford, "that when you would come out of the turns, it would look like a car had spun on the straightaway. So you had to drive with the idea that there might be 'll that dust."

Yarborough found some of that trouble after 275 miles, and he wound up a full lap behind the leaders.

"I had a flat tire," Yarborough said of the incident. "I ran over something out there. I don't have any idea what it was, but there was plenty of stuff it could have been. The paper and sand was real bad all day.

"I lost a lap, and I felt pretty bad about it. But I knew it was early enough in the race if we didn't have any problems, we could make it up on a caution flag."

The yellow flag did come out 14 laps later but Yarborough found himself in the middle of the action.

"Salt Walther turned right, right into Buddy Baker (who was leading). I was right on Buddy's bumper. I went low, down on the outside on the grass, and I got out of it.

"I was lucky."

Yarborough weaved through and made up the lost ground. From then on, it was just a matter of dodging the garbage, and shaking Benny Parsons the final few laps.

Yarborough crossed the finish line 1.39 seconds in front of Parsons, who has been first, third and second in the last three Daytona 500s.

It was Yarborough's third victory in four days of racing activity here, and the $63,700 first prize pushed his earnings since Thursday to $93,300.

That was almost Petty's fate Sunday. His Dodge started smoking on the parade lap, and he made a series of pit stops, losing a lap before the problem was diagnosed and corrected. Thirty-ninth at one point, he was first at lap 61. But the five-time Daytona winner was done after 111 of the 200 laps.

His old rival Pearson, last year's winner, was gone a few laps later. Both had a common ailment — dropped valves in engines that overheated because of trash blocking the air intakes.

In the early going the race was stopped twice so maintenance crews could pick up the worst of the mess. The crowd was asked to pick up loose paper and stuff it in a pocket, or sit on it.

Pole position starter Donnie Allison was done after running over debris. A tire disintegrated and tore up the rear of his Chevrolet. A.J. Foyt had similar but less serious debris problems. He used 22 different tires in the race.

Guthrie Leading Rookie

Piston Problem Ruins Top Ten Bid

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Janet Guthrie led a half-dozen rookie drivers in the Daytona 500 stock car race by finishing 12th in her Chevrolet, but said she found the effort disappointing.

"I am definitely aiming at top-10 finishes this year," the 39-year-old driver said Sunday. "I would have had that if that little black cloud hadn't cropped up at the end."

She referred to what her crew believed was a piston problem, which developed with six laps to go. She finished the 200-lap event at Daytona International Speedway at a comparative crawl to drop from ninth place.

But the New Yorker said it was gratifying to be the top rookie at the event and added, "The first woman to ever do something doesn't mean anything to me. I'm just a driver and what I do as a driver does means something."

Miss Guthrie started out at the back of the pack — 39th in a field of 42 cars. It was her highest finish in six National Association For Stock Car Auto Racing events and earned her $7,390.

"We put in a whole new setup last night and it took a while to get used to it, but then I could run with them," she said. "The wind didn't really bother me. The car was handling right and it was the least of my problems."

Despite 13 years of road racing experience, she met with skepticism from her male counterparts when she joined the circuit last year. But she no longer feels she has anything to prove.

"There were a couple of squirrels out there today," she said, refusing to identify which drivers she was criticizing. "I dropped off to be far enough back to avoid them. Sure enough, they knocked themselves out of competition later."

Miss Guthrie, who plans to run in 17 NASCAR Grand National races and six United States Auto Club championship races this year, said it has taken other drivers a couple of years to reach championship caliber and asked her fans to be patient.

"I'm a doggone good race driver," she said. "But I'm not Wonder Woman. Anyone who expects me to beat Richard Petty right off isn't realistic.

Speedy Ford Accelerates Tar Heels Past Virginia

From ASSOCIATED PRESS

Road games in the Atlantic Coast Conference take a lot out of coaches. It's a good thing that North Carolina's Dean Smith has a Ford to give him a lift.

Phil Ford, one of the slickest, quickest guards in the country, helped accelerate North Carolina into a big halftime lead, then put a stop sign up on Virginia Sunday.

The result was a tenuous 66-64 college basketball victory for the 13th-ranked Tar Heels.

"We did not tell our players to go to Ford especially," said Smith. "It's just a tendency for players to do that."

Ford scored 16 of his 21 points in the first half to stake the Tar Heels to a 36-24 advantage. Later, he drove the Cavaliers to distraction by operating Smith's famous "Four Corner" offense that aborted a Virginia rally.

Mike O'Koren also gave the North Carolina machine a push at the end, scoring 10 of the Tar Heels' last 13 points.

Sunday's regionally-televised games followed a rash of upsets Saturday. In the worst day of the season collectively for nationally-ranked teams, nine of The AP's Top 20 suffered upsets.

Oregon stunned No. 3 UCLA 64-55; No. 4 Alabama was beaten by No. 14 Tennessee 92-89; No. 7 Wake Forest lost to Virginia Tech 98-97 in overtime; Memphis State defeated No. 8 Louisville 87-77; ninth-ranked Marquette was surprised by Wichita State 75-64; Rutgers shocked No. 10 Cincinnati 89-70; Duquesne nipped No. 15 Detroit 95-88 in double overtime; Utah whipped 17th-ranked Arizona 76-61 and Appalachian State tripped No. 19 VMI 62-58.

Elsewhere, top-ranked San Francisco beat Pepperdine 81-73. No. 2 Kentucky trimmed LSU 90-76; No. 5 Michigan turned back No. 12 Minnesota 89-70; No. 6 Nevada-Las Vegas whipped Portland State 112-96; No. 11 Arkansas stopped Texas 73-61; No. 18 Clemson defeated North Carolina State 68-66 and No. 20 Syracuse walloped St. John's 79-55.

The Hoosiers, who have had several players walk off the team this year, were further troubled by the injury of center Kent Benson. The All-America player injured his back late in Sunday's game and may be lost to Indiana for the rest of the season.

Greg Ballard scored 28 points to lead Oregon's upset of UCLA. The decision had historical significance in the Pacific-8 Conference, marking the first time that Oregon had ever beaten UCLA twice in one season. It also marked the first time since 1962-63 that a Pac-8 foe had whipped UCLA twice in one year.

A 26-point performance by Ernie Grunfeld and 21 each from Bernard King and Mike Jackson powered Tennessee over Alabama, virtually dashing C.M. Newton's Southeastern Conference title hopes.

James Bradley's 24 points led Memphis State past Louisville. Robert Elmore scored 19 points, grabbed 13 rebounds and blocked five shots as Wichita State beat Marquette in Al McGuire's final home game as the Warrior coach. James Bailey's 29 points led Rutgers over Cincinnati. Duquesne scored eight straight points in the second overtime, four of them by Norm Nixon, to beat Detroit.

Jeff Jonas had 24 points and dazzled Arizona with his ballhandling in the waning minutes to help Utah beat the Wildcats. Tony Searcey and Walter Anderson scored 18 each as Appalachian State beat VMI. San Francisco stopped Pepperdine behind Bill Cartwright's 21 points.

Jack Givens had 21 points and 12 rebounds to pace Kentucky over LSU. Phil Hubbard scored 28 points, leading Michigan past Minnesota.

A ROBERTS LAUNCHING: Anthony Roberts, senior forward for Oral Roberts University, gets off one of his 35 shots (he made 25) against North Carolina A&T Saturday night. He wound up with 66 points to outpoint the 64 the Aggies had in their 110-64 loss to ORU. (AP Wirephoto)

MICHIGAN CITY, Ind. — [illegible] Luegars and [illegible] Pilaeski combined for [illegible] points Saturday night as Michigan City Marquette dumped New Buffalo 72-64 in a non-league basketball game here.

Luegars tossed in 26 points, including 10 of 12 from the free throw line, while Pilaeski added 24 as the Indiana team upped its record to 8-11. Mark D'Amato tallied 19, Roger Lujewski 17 and Jim Wold 11 for the Bisons, who fell to 2-16 with their 12th straight loss.

Pilaeski poured in 11 points in the first quarter and Luegars added 11 in the final period.

For the game, the Bisons hit on 25 of 56 from the floor for 45 per cent.

76ers Erase 24-Point Deficit

From ASSOCIATED PRESS

A message for Philadelphia basketball fans: when there is a Doctor in the house, the patient is not dead until the final buzzer.

The Philadelphia 76ers trailed 89-65 with 22 seconds left in the third period and by 13 with just 3:19 remaining in Sunday's game against Cleveland. Some fans at the Spectrum in Philadelphia gave up.

"A lot of people left with two minutes to go," said Julius Erving, the marvelous Dr. J. "I noticed that. They'll be surprised when they read tomorrow that we won."

Philadelphia Coach Gene Shue described the comeback as incredible, but not Erving, who scored seven of his team's last nine points.

"I've seen teams come back on us," said Erving. "So why not us? In this game, you never say die until it's over."

Elsewhere in the NBA Sunday, the Boston Celtics nipped the Golden State Warriors 114-112, the Denver Nuggets defeated the Atlanta Hawks 111-95, the New York Knicks beat the New York Nets 100-80, the San Antonio Spurs whipped the New Orleans Jazz 129-109, the Los Angeles Lakers beat the Washington Bullets 108-101, the Detroit Pistons nipped the Phoenix Suns 109-107, and the Indiana Pacers routed the Seattle SuperSonics 135-115.

The 76ers trailed 107-95 with 2:40 remaining but outscored the Cavaliers 17-4, handing Cleveland its 19th road defeat in the last 22 games.

George McGinnis added 24 points and Doug Collins 21 for Philadelphia, while Austin Carr topped Cleveland with 26.

Boston scored 10 straight points in the final minutes to win. John Havlicek's jumper from the corner put the Celtics in front with four minutes remaining, then Boston added four more baskets and went ahead by nine.

Denver led by just two points heading into the final period but won going away as David Thompson and Dan Issel each scored 28 points. John Drew netted 33 for Atlanta.

Kareem Abdul-Jabbar scored 17 points, staking Los Angeles to a 60-44 halftime lead, then teamed with Lucius Allen for the last 13 points as the Lakers turned back a Washington comeback. Abdul-Jabbar finished with 35 points, while Elvin Hayes scored 29 for the Bullets.

The Knicks, who broke open the game with a run of 13 straight points in the second half, got 22 points and 22 rebounds from Bob McAdoo and 18 points and 15 rebounds from reserve forward Tom McMillen.

Coby Dietrick scored 16 of his team-high 24 points in the fourth quarter and Larry Kenon added 22 points for San Antonio, which led all the way.

Bubble Pops For Titans

DETROIT (AP) — Knowing it's going to happen doesn't help.

University of Detroit basketball coach Dick Vitale was down Sunday when his team arrived back here with the bad news. Duquesne had ended the Titans' school record winning streak at 21.

"I'm not totally disappointed," said the colorful Vitale. "You know eventually it's going to happen. But I'm just disappointed for our kids and the people."

One loss does not a spoiled season make, however. The usual band of faithful followers turned up at the airport to greet the returning Titans. And Vitale says a single loss isn't enough to dampen his hopes for three more wins and an NCAA tournament berth.

"I feel that 25-2 has got to warrant an NCAA berth," said Vitale. "But I'm not on the committee."

Duquesne's 95-88 victory Saturday came in double overtime at Pittsbrgh.

"The typical out would be that we were still high over the Marquette victory," Vitale said, "but I don't buy that. Maybe we were still partying. Maybe we hadn't come down yet."

Duquesne guard Norm Nixon turned in 29 points to lead his team, while U-D's Terry Tyler ran into foul trouble, playing only 29 minutes. Tyler — the Titans' big inside man — fouled out with 16 points and 10 rebounds. John Long had 32 points to pace the Titans.

New Son Makes M.L. Carr Late

DETROIT (AP) — M.L. Carr was more concerned Sunday about his new son than the Suns.

Carr was scheduled to be in the Detroit Pistons' starting lineup at forward for their National Basketball Association game against the Phoenix Suns.

But he missed an hour of pregame warmups and was on the bench for the first quarter of the 109-107 Detroit triumph.

Carr had been at St. Joseph Hospital in Ann Arbor helping his wife, Sylvia, deliver their first child. It was a son, Michael Leron, who weighed 6 pounds, 13½ ounces.

Mother, son — and father — were doing fine.

"That's why I didn't start," Carr said, grinning. Coach Herb Brown "said I was mentally out of it."

"This is the greatest day of my life," Carr said.

The proud papa said the baby was 21 inches long. A future basketball player, maybe?

"Aw, I don't know," he said.

"I helped in the delivery. We wanted a natural childbirth because we didn't want any drugs involved that might hurt the baby.

"The doctor said my wife was one of the most calm patients he ever had. As soon as the baby came he was crying. The doctor didn't have to slap him or anything."

Carr said Cindy Eberhard, wife of Pistons forward Al Eberhard, also helped in the delivery.

Despite his preoccupation with his wife and son, Carr didn't do badly in the game. He played 27 of the 48 minutes, scoring 11 points and grabbing six rebounds. He sank five of seven shots from the field, had two assists and two steals.

He didn't dawdle afterward. As he hurried from the locker room he yelled to his teammates: "I gotta go and see the superstar."

Injury Forces Connors To Concede

Stockton Toronto Winner

From ASSOCIATED PRESS

Jimmy Connors is usually good enough to beat most tennis players on one leg.

But he wasn't Sunday.

The generally recognized international king of tennis suffered a torn knee muscle in the final of a World Championship Tennis Tournament at Toronto and as a result, had to concede his match against Dick Stockton.

"I really wanted to continue playing," said Stockton, "but I could see that Jimmy was in a lot of pain. Up to that point, I was playing well and I thought I could have won the match.

"But I didn't want it to end this way. I'd have rather lost than to win this way."

A WCT spokesman said Connors suffered a tear in the vestus medialis muscle in his left knee and will be sidelined for at least two weeks.

In another professional tennis final at Los Angeles, Chris Evert defeated Martina Navratilova 6-2, 2-6, 6-1 in a battle of two of the world's top women players. Miss Evert, of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., rated No. 1 in the world, won $20,000 for beating the Czechoslovakian defector, who is rated No. 3.

At San Jose, Calif., eighth-seeded Sandy Mayer of Palo Alto, Calif. beat 40-year-old Australian Roy Emerson 6-2, 6-4 in semifinal action at the $50,000 Grand Prix Tennis Tournament. Mayer earned a shot in tonight's final against Jiri Hrebec of Czechoslovakia, who won his final berth with a 6-1, 6-4 victory over 1975 NCAA champion Billy Martin of Palos Verdes, Calif.

Mary Struthers of La Jolla, Calif., defeated top-seeded Laura DuPont of Matthews, N.C., 6-2, 6-0 and won the $2,800 top prize in an international tennis tournament for young players at Norcross, Ga.

Third-seeded Matt Mitchell of Palo Alto, Calif., won the men's singles title and Barbara Hallquist of Arcadia, Calif. won the women's singles crown in the U.S. Tennis Association national amateur indoor championships at Salisbury, Md. Mitchell defeated Jai DiLouie of Dallas 6-2, 4-6, 6-2, and Miss Hallquist beat Anne Smith, also of Dallas, 1-6, 7-6, 6-2.

St. Joe Earns Swimming Win

John Worthington and Mike Borre posted three wins each while pacing St. Joseph swimmers to a 95-77 victory over Birmingham Brother Rice Saturday afternoon at the Bear pool.

Worthington set a senior class record while winning the 50 freestyle in 22.74 seconds. He also captured the 100 backstroke (57.2) and teamed with Borre, Randy Chinery and Kevin Brown for a victory in the medley relay (1:45.6).

Borre's other wins came in the 200 individual medley (2:05.0) and 100 breaststroke (1:04.0).

Tom Starks got the other St. Joe win in the 500 freestyle (5:03.5) as the Bears won seven of 11 events while posting 18 career best times.

Eric Peet was third in diving, but set a freshman class record with 187.6 points. The frosh record at the beginning of the season was 124.

St. Joe, now 9-3, ends its dual meet season at home Tuesday at 7 p.m. against Battle Creek Central.

Michigan's Furst Sets 880 Mark

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Eight records toppled Saturday as the University of Michigan held onto its Central Collegiate Indoor Conference track championship here.

Michigan scored 148 points to outdistance Eastern Michigan with 114. Third-place Penn State had 66.

The Wolverines won six events, including record fieldhouse performances by Dave Furst, of Niles-Brandywine, who captured the 880-yard run in 1:52.55 and James Henry, who won the long jump with a leap of 24-8½.

Wolverine Doug Hennigar tied a meet record in the 60-yard dash with a time of 6.1 seconds and teammate Greg Meyer equaled a meet record with his 8:50 two-mile victory.

The Air Force Academy provided another meet highlight with a blistering 3:12.7 mile relay victory, the fastest collegiate time in the nation and a fieldhouse record.

Other fieldhouse records included Kent State's Joe Dubina, who won the mile in 4:02.96. That was a meet record.

Missionary's Teaching Legal Or Not?

By DAVID GRUBER

CAMDEN-FRONTIER, Mich. (AP) — Once a month, Paul Dudenhofer appears in the Camden-Frontier Elementary School, teaching morals or religion, depending on how you interpret his lessons.

And depending on your interpretation, he may be breaking the law.

Dudenhofer is a missionary of the Rural Bible Mission, an organization based in Kalamazoo.

The classes he gives in the Camden-Frontier school district near the Michigan-Ohio border comprise one of several programs of Bible instruction which the mission conducts across the state year-round.

What sets this program apart, however, is the brand of illegality placed upon it by Michigan Atty. Gen. Frank J. Kelley.

Last Sept. 2, Kelley sued the school district to have the mission's classes stopped.

His interpretation of the program found it to be in violation of federal and state constitutional laws promoting separation of church and state and prohibiting public support of established religion.

Being of a different mind, the members of the Camden-Frontier Board of Education answered the suit on Sept. 21. The decision was made before an assembly of some 700 poster-carrying townspeople rallying in support of the program in the high school gymnasium.

The case now is awaiting a hearing in the Hillsdale County Circuit Court. Spokesmen for the school district, in more impassioned moments, have vowed they will appeal the case to the U.S. Supreme Court if necessary to keep the program intact.

At the center of the controversy is missionary Dudenhofer, standing before a group of children in a public school, relating a Bible story from which he attempts to derive a moral concept which he feels might benefit the children in their everyday lives.

He contends it is not the mission's purpose to indoctrinate students.

"Our purpose is not to teach doctrine or to be evangelistic in the public schools," Rood explains. Rather, he adds, it is to give a Bible lesson that "has practical application for moral living."

'Our purpose is not to teach doctrine or be evangelistic in public schools'

There is a difference, Roos says, between "telling someone what I believe and forcing them to believe what I believe.

Tom Dove, Camden-Frontier school superintendent, says the Rural Bible Mission's classes are part of a larger school program through which students learn about religions of all kinds.

Their first exposure to different religions, he remarks, comes in the third and fourth grades.

Dove does not believe the mission program constitutes the teaching of religion. But the state suit, he feels, does constitute a threat to the autonomy of his school district.

"Do we have freedom enough left in the United States," Dove asks, "to allow people that want to attend these classes?"

And does the school district have the authority to determine its own curriculum?

These are questions that have yet to be answer adequately, Dove says.

Jack Barker, school district attorney, believes the Rural Bible Mission program is within the law because it has omitted specific elements outlawed by the U.S. Supreme Court.

Bible reading, praying, singing and the distribution of Biblical literature are no longer undertaken in the classroom, Barker says.

Echoing the spirit of court decisions made in the early 60s, Atty. Gen. Kelley says religious freedom is possible only when people, in practicing their religions, are free from government interference.

"That's really what it's about in the (Camden-Frontier) situation," Kelley says. "The government, therefore, is not allowed to be put in a position to favor any religion, one over the other."

Did State's GOP Leaders Get Message?

Narrow Victory Warning For Party Chairman

By MALCOLM JOHNSON
Associated Press Writer

DETROIT (AP) — The big question left after the bruising Republican state convention is whether party leaders got the message of dissatisfaction from the rank and file — and what they'll do about it.

Gov. William Milliken and party Chairman William McLaughlin narrowly survived a serious challenge to their leadership by F. Robert Edwards. The former state lawmaker from Flint came within 128 votes of upsetting McLaughlin in Saturday's balloting.

McLaughlin, 44, won a fifth two-year term — which he acknowledged will probably be his last — in an 818-690 vote over Edwards, 36.

The party now faces the task of uniting after the intense battle. And Edwards' followers will be watching closely to see if McLaughlin makes good on his pledge to pay more attention to grass roots campaigns and complaints.

Both McLaughlin and Milliken assured delegates they would heed the message, and both claimed the fight was good for the party.

"This has been healthy," McLaughlin said. He said he would meet with Edwards to discuss improving the party, and said the two sides can get together again.

"It has given me a chance to hear how people feel," said a relieved Milliken after his candidate had won. He said by wiping out the party's debt — now down to about $80,000 — more attention can be paid to local candidates. "We'll be able to cover the top and the bottom."

But the narrowness of the vote was a rebuke to both men, and demonstrated resentment at how their forces run the party and channel its energies to the top-of-the-ticket offices of governor and U.S. Senate. Edwards also said new blood was needed to recoup recent GOP losses at the polls.

Milliken put his leadership of the party on the line, and barely survived without a serious defeat. In his vigorous campaign for McLaughlin he offended some delegates by making the vote a matter of personal loyalty.

"I ask you to stand united with me," he urged the convention just before the vote. "This governor is listening to you."

Edwards began his uphill campaign as a long shot, but in the end the McLaughlin-Milliken camp was devising strategies to avoid an outright defeat. Insiders said they stopped losing support only when they declined to fight a secret ballot.

Edwards wanted a closed vote to remove the threat of retaliation from party leaders toward his backers. And he won victories in the rules committee and the convention itself on the issue.

Although Milliken and McLaughlin wanted an open vote as in the past, aides said they did not want to further irritate delegates by staging a floor fight.

Afterwards, McLaughlin said his first task was to meet with local leaders and listen to their gripes and suggestions. He wants a public relations staff to better promote the GOP's stands, and increased recruitment of party members.

Edwards said he will remain active in the party, and pledged his support to McLaughlin and the re-election of Milliken and Sen. Robert Griffin if they run again.

Agriculture Department Caught In Political Swirl

By LARRY McDERMOTT
Associated Press Writer

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The people who run the state Department of Agriculture never dreamed it could become such a political arena. B. Dale Ball says the seat he sits in gets hotter every day.

Verbal salvoes are being thrown at the department from nearly every corner these days. Ball is the director, the man catching most of the flak. But he hasn't been standing still long enough lately to get hurt badly.

He hopscotched from here to Washington, back again and then off to Canada last week, armed with his statistics and his answers to the No. 1 problem the department faces — PBB.

People spit the three letters out when they talk about polybrominated biphenyl, which was accidentally mixed into animal feed nearly four years ago and later found its way into the state's food supply.

A great many people probably don't know what PBB is. They only know it's a bad word, that it means trouble for farmers and consumers. It means headaches for Ball like he's never had before in his 20 years with the department.

Pressure has been mounting in recent weeks to have him ousted, but the 61-year-old man, who escapes from the arena when he goes to his small farm near Perry, won't quit.

"As far as I'm concerned, I'm not under any pressure to quit. I sure as hell don't plan to quit. And if they ask me to resign, I'm going to refuse because I haven't done anything wrong.

"If they're going to get rid of me, they're going to have to fire me. I'm not going to resign to make somebody else look good. Nor will I take anybody else off the hook, regardless of who it is," he said last week.

The commission, not the department, decided early last week to give in to pressure from Milliken and support lowering the level of PBB that would be considered safe when eating Michigan meat.

"I told them (the commission) there was the political problem that maybe our industry was going to be unnecessarily jeopardized because people were thinking the meat was unsafe at the higher levels," Ball said.

"From the standpoint of safety, and I also told the governor this: whatever it costs to do this (lowering the levels, testing and reimbursing farmers for cattle to be slaughtered), it's not going to buy any more public protection than we have now because it (PBB) isn't in the food supply now," he added.

The agriculture department is being made a scapegoat, he contends. "Irresponsible people are trying to scare the public," Ball says.

But even Ball knows a political time bomb like PBB could explode in the weeks or months ahead, bringing more threats to his job.

"I'd be very surprised if I got fired, but I've been around a few years. No matter how much you think you know, you do get surprised sometimes," he said.

Death Penalty Gets Backing Of Republicans

DETROIT (AP) — Michigan Republicans went on record over the weekend in favor of reinstating the death penalty for murder.

Holmes has initiated a petition drive to place the issue of capital punishment on the 1978 ballot. It is banned by the state constitution.

Speaking against the resolution, Betty Jane Owen of East Lansing, said improved rehabilitation procedures and parole reform are the ways to attack the crime problem.

"The legislating of murder in the name of the state is not the answer," she said. "No one has the right to take the life of another human being."

On other issues, GOP delegates endorsed establishing a solar energy research institute in Michigan and favored a petition drive to require persons convicted of violent crimes to serve minimum sentences.

Union Protesting Detroit Troopers

DETROIT (AP) — The Metropolitan Detroit AFL-CIO wants an end to state police patrols of Detroit freeways so Wayne County Sheriff's deputies — who are AFL-CIO members — can take over that task.

AFL-CIO branch President Tom Turner said he will propose at a meeting Thursday with state lawmakers that funds appropriated for state police patrols be transferred to the sheriff's department.

He said he will urge the legislators to oppose Gov. William Milliken's plan to provide $31 million from the highway trust fund for extra state police patrols for Detroit and outstate areas.

The county deputies are members of Local 502, the National Union of Police Officers, an AFL-CIO affiliate, but Turner did not link that relationship with his opposition to continued State Police patrols.

He said taxpayers would realize savings with county patrols because deputies already patrol long stretches of roads in the area.

"We feel the money could be better appropriated to beef up the Detroit Police Department and the sheriff's department," he said.

Milliken authorized the use of state police to patrol freeways in Detroit last August, after a wave of summertime crimes that plagued motorists. Detroit officials said they were unable to beef up police patrols at the time because of budget cutbacks.

Berrien Earnings Total $1.5 Million

Berrien county Treasurer William C. Heyn announced in his annual report that the county earned $1,586,788 in interest from short term investments during 1976.

Heyn noted the earnings were up from $1,308,601 earned during 1975 but below the 1974 record of $2,386,849. The largest share of the 1976 earnings, $716,219, went to the county's board of public works.

Heyn explained that as soon as tax and bond issue monies are received at the treasurer's office, the amount which is not immediately needed is placed in short term investments with local banks to mature on dates to meet payroll and other expenses.

He predicted 1977 earnings would be similar or slightly lower than last year's earnings because 1976 interest rates were mostly between 5 and 6 per cent while current rates are from 4½ to 5 per cent. Heyn added that economic conditions could change the rates later in the year.

Heyn said monies from each department or fund earn interest only for that particular department or fund. He said earnings for various departments were: general fund, $401,082; road commission, $83,033; building authority, $46,549; courthouse fund, $41,381; and bridge fund, $25,627.

Others included: federal revenue sharing, $38,452, library fund, $5,768, retirement fund, $226,165; and drain fund, $2,506.

Heyn pointed out the total assets of the retirement fund are now over $3.7 million and the assets are invested in non-risk U.S. government notes and bonds. He said the interest from these investments is "more than paying all current benefits."

Car Sale Outlook

DETROIT (AP) — Turning their thoughts to the traditionally strong spring selling season, the nation's automakers plan to build more than 900,000 cars in March, the highest monthly output in 3½ years.

Waterliet Hospital Bids Due March 2

WATERVLIET — Bids for construction of the proposed $5.2 million Community hospital here will be opened March 2, according to hospital Administrator Kaylor Shemberger.

The bids for the new building to replace the present facility were to have been opened last Wednesday, but bid opening was rescheduled when state fire and health officials suggested changes in construction plans.

Deadline for new bids is 2 p.m. Bids will be opened at Watervliet city hall and will be studied before being awarded, Shemberger said.

Area Pay Phones Go To 20c

SOUTH HAVEN — General Telephone company has started converting its coin telephones to take 20 cents for local calls in the exchanges included in the southwestern division, according to L. K. Moench, division manager.

The company anticipates that all 1,040 coin phones in the division will be converted within two months.

The conversion is part of a statewide program in which the cost of a local call from a coin telephone is being increased from 10 cents to 20 cents. The company said it is the first increase in local coin phone rates in 25 years.

Engines Derailed

TRAVERSE CITY, Mich. (AP) — Two 120-ton engines and two boxcars belonging to Michigan Northern Railroad of Cadillac derailed early today at a crossing south of Traverse City.

Railroad officials said the accident was caused by ice on the rails. There were not injuries, officials said.

At That Moment

AFTERMATH

Sam and Mary Nocella of Philadelphia are combining work and pleasure abroad. After years as a news photographer Sam is a freelancer and they are touring Yugoslavia and Greece taking travel pictures Sam will sell when they return home.

They arrive in Skopje, Yugoslavia, Thursday, July 25, 1963. It is about 8 p.m. The night clerk at the Hotel Macedonia shrugs hopelessly and tells them there is no room. He points the way to the Jordan Hotel down the street. Tired and lugging suitcases and camera equipment, the Nocellas find a vacancy there. They have dinner and by midnight are asleep.

They awake with a shock. There is what seems a roaring explosion. The walls are swaying, and the chandelier is doing a crazy dance on the ceiling. Their thermos of water falls from the night table and shatters. By the time they reach the door they realize in terror that it is no explosion. Earthquake. The key won't turn. Plaster is falling all around them. Finally Sam manages to get the door open.

Mary rushes downstairs in her pajamas. Sam stops long enough to pull on a pair of pants and grab his camera. In the square, in the early morning light, the air is full with a mist of mortar as dense as smog. Dust still rises from a mound of debris — and, terribly, voices rise from it too. It was, minutes before, an apartment house, home for 30 families. While the Nocellas stand there among the dazed and screaming, two survivors are pulled from the tomb of brick and rock, an old man and a baby. The earth tremors have stopped now. Sam is aiming his camera everywhere, but he stops as an anguished father approaches, still in his night clothes and barefoot, his dying baby in his arms.

Down the street the Nocellas find the Hotel Macedonia. There is nothing left but litter. Two hundred and 60 sleeping guests perished in the wreckage of the four-story building. Mary suddenly remembers the night clerk. "He saved our lives," she says.

It takes days to clear the debris in this city of 270,000 people. In the end, the dead number 1,100; the injured and homeless are in the thousands.

500-Gallon Gift

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Drought-stricken Gogebic County will soon have a 500-gallon water tank from the village of Houghton, Gov. William Milliken said. In addition, he said, arrangements have been made to provide the villages of Champion and Michigamme with two 2,500-gallon water trucks. The trucks will be used to fight fires. Parts of the Upper Peninsula are experiencing their worst drought in years and some communities have been forced to haul water from long distances.

Elementary School Pupils Man Own Assembly Line

By DAVID WHITING

Instead, the factory was a unique method of education dreamed up by fifth-grade teacher Bob Cook to give the youths first-hand knowledge of what assembly line work is like.

Inspectors and foremen kept an aloof watch and union stewards were ready to file grievances. The only thing different from the real thing, it seemed, was that most of the workers found their jobs interesting.

Jim Elliot, 10, shouldered the responsibility of having the first job on the first level of the main line. The fifth grade pupil sandpapered and measured floors for the treasure chests.

After four days on the job, Jim said he still preferred his work to getting an education. But he had a complaint.

"Sometimes the line moves too fast," he said. "I wish I had a helper."

Down the line from Jim was 10-year-old Tammy Walker, also in the fifth grade. Her job was to nail a 10-inch "log" to the cabin's base.

"Even if I were busy, I would rather do math because this is still boring," she said. Anna actually was glad to return to school on a fulltime basis.

One of the few children on the Denton Elementary assembly line who had no beefs about his job was fourth grader Randy Smith, who said he found the job interesting.

But there was speculation that Randy was bucking for foreman or floor manager. He refused to either confirm or deny the rumors.

The treasure chests were not made to be sold. The limited edition of 110 allowed each pupil to take one home.

Poisonous Gas Cloud Dissipates

PLAQUEMINE, La. (AP) — A cloud of poisonous chlorine gas from a Dow Chemical plant here sent 17 persons to hospitals and forced 50 families to leave their homes for two hours.

A company spokesman said 200 pounds of chlorine leaked into the air on Sunday after a tank ruptured at a chlorine production unit on the Mississippi River.

At one point, an Iberville Parish deputy sheriff described the leak as a green cloud "a thousand feet high." The cloud moved eastward, over an agricultural area across the river.

The cause of the leak was not immediately known. State police and sheriff's officers said there was an explosion at the plant, but a Dow spokesman denied it.

Deputies said residents were evacuated from homes around the plant and near St. Gabriel across the river. Chlorine can burn the eyes and skin and, when inhaled, can cause nausea.

The Dow plant is about 20 miles south of Baton Rouge, where on Dec. 10 about 10,000 people were evacuated when a 42-mile-long cloud of chlorine escaped from Allied Chemical Co.

The earlier leak involved an estimated 100 tons of chlorine, about one thousand times the amount of gas the Dow spokesman said escaped on Sunday.

Today In History

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

On this date in 1956, Black Muslim leader Malcolm X was shot and killed as he was about to speak at a rally of several hundred black followers in New York City.

On this date:

In 1795, the Dutch surrendered the Indian Ocean island of Ceylon to the British.

In 1838, Samuel Morse gave the first public demonstration of the telegraph.

In 1916, the longest and bloodiest battle of World War I, the battle of Verdun, began in France. More than one million were killed in the fighting.

In 1919, after World War I, the Allies recognized the Polish government of Ignace Paderewski, the famous pianist.

Ten years ago: The U.S. Government unveiled a new savings note to help meet the costs of the war in Vietnam.

One year ago: Former President Richard Nixon arrived in Peking for a visit and was greeted by high officials.

Van Buren Divorces

Jones, Weldon C. of Hartford, and Gwendolyn C. Married Jan. 14, 1961.

No For The 4th Time

WHITE CLOUD, Mich. (AP) — For the fourth time in less than a year, voters in Newaygo County's White Cloud school district have refused to approve an increased operating millage. A request to boost taxes 2.5 mills was defeated 534-430. District voters rejected other millage increases last March, June and September. District school board members said they would meet March 9 to decide how to operate schools on 23 mills. Millage defeats have prompted school officials to cut athletics, eliminated physical education for elementary pupils and trimmed purchases, including school books.

College Graduates Exceeding Demand

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Young workers from now until at least the mid-1980s, and probably well beyond that time, will have to keep their competitive instincts razor sharp.

The reason: competition. The cause: The desire of young Americans to obtain college degrees.

U.S. Labor Department studies continue to show that the supply of college graduates will exceed demand through the mid-1980s, forcing many workers to settle for less skilled jobs.

As a consequence, competition is likely to be stiff not only among college graduates, but among college graduates and those with less education, thus exerting pressure throughout all occupational levels. It is estimated that about 18 per cent of the requirements for college graduates through the mid-1980s may come from upgrading educational requirements — that is, by requiring a college education where a high school education might previously have been sufficient.

If the estimates are borne out, it could mean that millions of young people will consider themselves underemployed, convinced they are working far below the limits of their talent.

For those lower on the job ladder it could mean being pushed down a rung into positions requiring minimal skills and, most likely, offering minimum income.

The education-job equation isn't expected to apply uniformly. Even when armed with a college degree, a youngster might find he or she does not have a strong competitive advantage.

"In the case of crafts, persons with vocational training will be in greater demand than those with a baccalaureate degree," writes Chester Levine, a labor economist, in the government "Occupational Outlook Handbook."

Levine also foresees the situation where "employers will be reluctant to hire college graduates as operatives or laborers because of the high risk of job dissatisfaction."

In addition, he continues, "college graduates are likely to face increasing competition for paraprofessional and technical jobs."

Nevertheless, it remains generally axiomatic, labor authorities say, that the greater the educational achievement the more secure and better-paying is the job.

With 13.1 million college graduates expected to enter the labor market in the years 1974-1985, to fight for an estimated 12.1 million job openings, the situation isn't hard to discern.

Still, despite his or her own problems, the college-educated individual is still expected to be at the top of the pyramid. The potentially more serious social problems might concern those on the bottom rung.

For individuals with less than a high school education, the available jobs are mostly in blue-collar, private household and farm categories. Even without competition from above, individuals in such jobs are finding the relative number of openings diminishing.

About the only answer to the situation seems to be that youngsters should be encouraged to seek more education in order to remain competitive.

But even that answer is no solution, because the evidence now indicates that, in the immediate future, a higher education might not as surely lead to job satisfaction and financial reward as it once did.

Auto Theft Is Charged

Berrien sheriff's Deputy Robert Greer early Sunday stopped an auto for speeding on I-94, Coloma township, and then arrested its two occupants after a computer check indicated the auto was stolen from Newark, N.J.

Booked on charges of receiving and concealing stolen property over $100 (the auto) were Willie J. Chatman, 27, Detroit, and James T. Taylor Jr., 29, Highland Park.

Greer said the auto was stopped at 12:38 a.m. on westbound I-94 near Friday road. He said a computer check indicated the auto—a 1975 Matador—was stolen from Carol Smith, Newark.

Fire Damages South Haven House

The fire gutted the interior of the two-story, frame home, firemen said. Damage to the building and contents is expected to surpass $40,000, according to firemen.

The Everett family was not home when the fire was discovered by a passerby at 1:37 a.m. The blaze is believed to have started in an electrical box in the basement and spread through the walls.

In another fire, South Haven firemen removed smoke from a house trailer owned by Robert Murphy, 65th street, Geneva township at 10:30 p.m. Saturday.

Ad Campaign Controversy

DETROIT (AP) — When is a consumer not a consumer? When she is paid to boost a firm's image under the guise of consumer advice, says the Michigan Citizens Lobby. The Citizens Lobby said over the weeked it plans to file a formal complaint with the Federal Communications Commission in an attempt to block a Detroit supermarket chain's advertising campaign. The consumer organization also asked televison and radio stations and newspapers not to accept the Chatham chain's advertisements and urged shoppers to call local television stations to protest the ads. The ad campaign involves reports by the so-called "Consumer Food Council of Metro Detroit." Despite its official-sounding name, the "council" is a group of housewives hired by Chatham, through its advertising agency and a local firm called Research 1, to do comparison shopping in competing supermarkets.

Fatal Plane Crash Probed

CARLETON, Mich. (AP) — Federal Aviation Administration officials continue their investigation of a plane crash that killed a Dearborn Heights woman and critically injured her husband Sunday. Paulette Antoinette Meintz, 24, a passenger, was killed when the single-engine aircraft plunged into a heavily wooded area near Carleton in northern Monroe County, sheriff's deputies said. The pilot, 26-year-old Gerald W. Meintz, was hospitalized in critical condition. Witnesses said the plane's tail broke off, and it seemed to strike a power line before hitting the ground. The crash was reported at 2:30 a.m. Sunday, but deputies said they did not find the wreckage for several hours.

Green Light For Fraser

DETROIT (AP) — Douglas Fraser has received the unanimous support of the United Auto Workers' steering committee in his bid to succeed retiring Leonard Woodcock as the union's president. The committee, made up of UAW officials from throughout the country, also recommended a replacement for Fraser, who is UAW's Chrysler department vice president. The UAW's largest political caucus, meeting Saturday in preparation for the union's Los Angeles convention May 15 through May 20, endorsed Regional Director Martin Gerber to fill Fraser's position. Union officials said the recommendation all but assures that Fraser will succeed Woodcock, who will retire in May. Besides heading the Chrysler department, Fraser, 60, is chairman of the skilled trades department and of the union's Michigan political action arm.

AFL-CIO Hopes To Axe 'Right-To-Work' Law

By ROBERT A. DOBKIN
AP Labor Writer

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The AFL-CIO, looking for backing in the Democrat-controlled Congress, has chosen this spring to fight for an omnibus revision of basic labor laws, including repeal of the "right-to-work" provision of the Taft-Hartley Act.

A tax on the labor federation's 14 million members will finance a public relations campaign aimed at winning public support and understanding. An AFL-CIO source said the tax is expected to raise $750,000.

Labor's senior legislative strategists decided on the one bill approach rather than a piecemeal attack during private weekend meetings here. The union's executive council, which holds its winter meeting today, is expected to approve the program and AFL-CIO President George Meany will unveil it Tuesday.

Although labor sources say they expect a hard fight in Congress, they believe chances for success are the best in a decade with Democrats controlling both Congress and the White House.

Labor Secretary Ray Marshall, who met with union officials last week, indicated the Carter administration will stay out of the fight over repeal of the Taft-Hartley "right-to-work" provision, known as Section 14-b. The section allows states to ban union-shop contracts.

According to sources, labor lobbyists will seek to use a bill already introduced by Rep. Frank Thompson Jr., D-N.J., chairman of the House labor subcommittee, as the vehicle for the changes they want. His bill would make major changes in the 41-year-old National Labor Relations Act.

The Thompson bill, called the Labor Reform Act of 1977, would ease union organizing efforts by speeding the representation process. Through amendments AFL-CIO lobbyists would include repeal of Section 14-b in the bill.

Union officials view the Thompson bill as an effort to redress what they contend is a legal imbalance that permits employers to delay union organizing attempts. They say employers often find it cheaper to break the law and pay the fines rather than permit unionization of their employes.

Also a part of the legislative strategy — and as the first test of Carter's campaign promises — the AFL-CIO is pushing for quick passage of four bills that were vetoed by former President Ford.

These measures would expand union picketing rights at construction sites, remove the ban on political activities by federal workers, require that half of all imported oil be carried on U.S. ships, and set strict requirements on the restoration of strip mined land.

"We consider this the unfinished business of Congress," an AFL-CIO spokesman said. "For the last eight years we've had a hostile president in the White House prepared to veto everything that came down the pike."

Custom Products Appoints Three Vice Presidents

Three men have been promoted to posts as vice presidents at Custom Products, Inc., a Stevensville metal manufacturing firm, according to company president Robert Sevran.

Bunnell, 39, 575 Ridgeway, St. Joseph, will be concentrating on new processes, special projects and new product development, as well as serving as administrative assistant. He worked for the firm when it was founded in South Haven in 1964 and rejoined it again in 1971. He is a St. Joseph high school graduate and a member of the Society of Manufacturing Engineers.

Kirksey, 30, will have control of all manufacturing operations including tooling, prototype and assembly. Since joining the company in 1967 he has worked in all phases of the plant including foreman, fabricating manager and production manager. He and his wife Bonnie have three children and live at 1733 Marquette Woods road, Stevensville.

Heyn, 30, has responsibility for sales, engineering and preliminary processing with primary emphasis on existing customers and products. He joined the company in 1970 and has served as tooling foreman, tooling and engineering manager and sales manager. He and his wife, Brenda, have two children and live at 1518 Greg drive, Stevensville. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Heyn.

White House Workers Watching Luxuries Melt Away

WASHINGTON (AP) — Top White House officials who are too busy to leave their desks for lunch can no longer summon butlers to bring trays of hot food to their offices.

Some White House workers may soon have to share newspapers and magazines with their colleagues.

And if they want to watch the boss' news conference, they may have to watch in the press office. The color television sets once located in offices throughout the White House have been taken away.

President Carter, voicing determination to cut the costs of government, is finding there is no easier target for economies than the mansion where he lives and works.

So White House workers are watching their perquisites, those treasured little privileges that come with the job, melt away.

The man in charge of making the White House more efficient is Hugh Carter Jr., a 34-year-old former businessman and the President's second cousin. He is finding a good place to economize is in perquisites, lovingly referred to by government employes as "perks."

Since becoming special presidential assistant for administration, the soft-spoken Hugh Carter has been checking costs of the White House operation, ranging from Air Force One to office stationery.

"Our objective is to make the White House complex a well-managed operation, with waste and excess as absent as we can make them," Hugh Carter said in an interview in his White House office. "We want to make it a symbol for other government agencies."

A native of Plains, Ga., Hugh Carter holds a master's degree in business administration from the University of Pennsylvania's Wharton School and served as vice president of an Atlanta check printing firm. He says he hopes to apply to the White House some of the business and management techniques he used in his old job.

"We just don't want the staff cradled by too many luxuries and frills," he said of his cutback of perquisites. "We want to keep them a little more used to ordinary life."

The White House staff didn't have a chance to get used to "perks" like chauffeured limousines, which were taken away immediately.

Hugh Carter says he has distributed only 40 of the more than 500 television sets to the White House office complex and will give out a few more before selling the rest as surplus. He also plans to cut back on the 250 AM-FM radios in the White House.

In his study of costs, Carter discovered $50,000 was spent for newspaper subscriptions last year. That will be cut, he says. "In some cases, we might ask people to share newspapers," he said.

The President last weekend said Hugh Carter had "saved much more than his salary" by cutting newspaper subscriptions alone.

He also stopped the delivery of meals by waiters to White House offices and opened the White House dining rooms to more employes.

Another part of the cost-cutting program involves top aides. The President said he hopes to cut his staff by one third and has urged Cabinet officers to trim their high-level staffs by the same amount.

Hugh Carter now is looking at the costs of office supplies, the White House telephone system and the operation of the permanent staff of the mansion, which he said could be more efficient.

Camp David, the presidential retreat in Maryland, and the presidential yacht will be used by the President. Hugh Carter said the staff workers probably won't have the free run of Camp David.

Carter said he has heard little serious dissatisfaction from employes about the reduction in the number of "perks."

"There have been a few wisecracks here and there, but nothing major. People expected this," he said.

The TV cutbacks caused more furor than any other cuts, he added.

Hugh Carter said he consulted "quite a lot" with his cousin the President about better management of the White House.

"I go see him when I feel a need to, which is usually several times a week," Carter said. "If he has something he wants me to look into, he sends a memo."

Stressing his educational and business background, Carter said: "When I first talked to Jimmy about this job, we had an understanding that I would be like any other staff member. If anything, I'll probably have to prove myself a little more."

Surveillance Efforts Studied

FBI Case Files 'Scary'

By TIMOTHY HARPER
Associated Press Writer

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Michael Fellner, a reporter for a weekly counterculture newspaper, and some of his fellow antiwar activists wanted to see their FBI files. They got more than they bargained for: thousands of pages of photocopies.

And the material — pounds and pounds of it — represents but a fraction of the information in FBI files in Washington on Fellner and a dozen other people once active in the anti-war movement on the University of Wisconsin campus.

Fellner has received 7,000 pages of previously confidential FBI files under the Freedom of Information Act. The Justice Department says it has processed an additional 28,000 pages and refused to release them under exemptions such as national security.

And federal officials are still sifting through the files he has requested under a court order to process 4,600 pages a month. Fellner says there's no way of telling how much more is forthcoming.

Fellner, 25, was active in the anti-war effort and continues to be involved in radical politics.

"We never imagined what we were getting into," he says.

> 'They're still adding things to my file all the time...'

If there are tens of thousands of pages on a few individuals in Madison, he says, imagine how massive the entire FBI files must be for anti-war surveillance during the 1960s and early 1970s.

"The most important thing we've gotten is confirmation of enormous and widespread data gathering and surveillance," he says. "The FBI continues these practices, and the files show it, for anyone still involved in political activity."

Fellner's file summarizes his comments at meetings, which marches he marched in, which demonstrations he participated in and which articles he wrote against government policies. Some of the copies of his articles are recent, within the last few months.

It shows his one arrest, for assaulting an officer after former President Richard M. Nixon was pardoned in 1974. It also shows that he was finally fined under a non-criminal county misconduct charge. It also shows he was involved in various Yippie-type activities such as the "wheel chairs for Wallace" parade during the 1976 presidential campaign.

Under "marital status," all three pages are blacked out, exempted by the Justice Department. Fellner has never been married.

"I wonder what it says," he muses. "Must be all about my sex life."

He turns to the pages with the current FBI assessment of Michael Fellner as a threat to the republic.

"Fellner is a person having a highly emotional personality, who is not believed to possess propensity to initiate or direct revolutionary acts of violence," the file says.

"In essence, they say I'm just a punk with a big mouth," he says. "It's kind of embarrassing, but they won't let it go at that and forget about me. They're still adding things to my file all the time."

He says the files he is receiving are mostly those of former student activists never involved in any serious trouble, though he has also received files for Rep. Robert Kastenmeier, D-Wis., and convicted bomber Karleton Armstrong.

The FBI report on the mayor, now given to three-piece suits and liberal Democratic politics during his current campaign for a third two-year term, reads:

"This information was not intended for outside dissemination, but was meant to apprise the bureau of Soglin's full background since he has indicated a desire to advance to higher positions in his political career and it was believed information concerning him might be of value in the future."

"They're saving it to use against him," is the way Fellner views Soglin's file. "He has been involved in nothing radical for a long time, yet his file increased after he was elected mayor. The file constructs him as a commie dupe."

Soglin, who is first mentioned in the file at age 12, was reluctant to comment but finally said: "There's a lot of material that seems trivial to a law enforcement investigation."

Fellner says surveillance has dropped off for anti-war activists who forsook politics and became teachers, medical or law students, housewives, or went to other careers and gave up involvement in all types of politics.

"But anybody involved in any type of political activity, whether legal or illegal, is still under surveillance," he says.

Fellner has a file on a woman who had a baby and applied for welfare. The FBI contacted welfare officials about her to tell them of her past radical politics activities, even though she was never convicted of anything.

There's the file of a man arrested for fire-bombing and finally convicted under a local leaf burning ordinance. His surveillance dropped off sharply after several years of living at home with his parents, attending medical school and staying away from all politics.

The files show how FBI agents infiltrated dozens of campus groups, tried to set up wiretaps and bugging devices in homes and hid in cabooses in the railroad yard across from Fellner's house.

South Africa Plans Crackdown

By LARRY HEINZERLING
Associated Press Writer

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — Racial unrest at home, mounting pressures for change from abroad and guerrilla wars along its borders apparently have convinced Prime Minister John Vorster to meet the black peril head on.

Following the widespread black riots last year, South Africa's white minority is convinced it is fighting for survival, like the whites in neighboring Rhodesia. Vorster's answer is to get tougher.

New legislation will give the government sweeping emergency powers to quell disorders. The police will continue to crack down on black dissidents, and the government is preparing to increase defense spending.

Vorster says apartheid, the official policy of race segregation, is not the cause of South Africa's woes. He blamed "Soviet imperialism," "Marxist agitators," the underground African National Congress and the outlawed Communist party.

"If there is a Communist onslaught against South Africa, openly or through agents, then we shall have to withstand it alone," Vorster told Parliament last month.

The government is expected to develop this thesis in a series of trials soon of about 100 blacks arrested during the troubles last year. Prosecutors are reported ready to produce Soviet-made guns, hand grenades and explosives as evidence that "terrorists" fomented the riots in which some 500 blacks were killed.

Officials close to Vorster and some foreign diplomats agree that further external pressure on South Africa's 4.5 million whites will push them deeper into a fight-back position.

The government is telling foreign correspondents and others privately that white South Africa accepts the need for racial reform and a "new dispensation" for the 18 million voteless blacks but will never agree to black majority rule.

But growing numbers of prominent Afrikaner academics, businessmen and newspaper editors contest the official view. The rift is reported to have reached into Vorster's cabinet.

The Afrikaners, descendants of the Dutch and French Huguenots who first settled here three centuries ago, dominate politics and the government of South Africa.

An example of growing uneasiness among the Afrikaner intelligentsia comes from Andre du Toit, a professor at Stellenbosch University, who recently symposium on the future of the Afrikaner people:

"Today the Afrikaner is in danger of confrontation politics brought about by his own power. His unwillingness to concede power, precisely in a time of crisis, may make it impossible for him to even test the possibility of conciliation and negotiation."

Prof. Dreyer Kruger of Rhodes University warned: "A storm is coming and the laager (defense) of Afrikaner nationalism has been formed in a river bed that has been dry for the past 300 years. The question now is whether the leaders will move in time or erect barricades in an attempt to stem the flood."

These views are supported by the small white opposition parties, anti-apartheid church groups and others who say the only way to peace is a multiracial society with equal rights, including the vote, for all.

Government officials claim South Africa is ready for "controlled" change and plead that Vorster's conservative electorate makeSouth Africa in loose confederation with independent or semi-autonomous black states within the country's existing boundaries.

To facilitate this, a government commission is studying possible constitutions to replace the existing system based on the British parliamentary model.

Whites would fully control their areas and blacks, coloreds (mixed race) and Asians theirs. White areas would gradually ease racial segregation of public facilities although residential segregation would probably remain.

They claim that the current partition plan — the controversial homelands policy which gives the blacks only 13.7 per cent of South Africa's land area and the whites the rest — is negotiable.

They argue that the United States, Britain and Western European countries should support such a policy as an alternative to growing conflict.

Now It's Food For Soul

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Figuring that breakfast cereal also can provide food for the soul, a Minneapolis minister has made "Jesus Jackets" to cover cereal boxes. The Rev. James Schneider, pastor of Grace United Methodist church, made the silk-screen covers for members of his church. He said he got the idea after staring at cereal boxes while eating breakfast.

The four-color "Jesus Jacket" has Bible verses relating to Jesus and food on the front, a Jesus quiz on the side and a blank space entitled "Daily Bread" on the side. The space is for taping on Bible verses that are mailed weekly to the congregation. Members of the church design and produce the jackets. "If the idea seems feasible we plan to market them and give the proceeds to charity," Schneider said.

Home Filled With Smoke

Benton Harbor Patrolwoman C.J. Medders said she was asked by a woman for help in getting into a locked home, only to find the dwelling filled with smoke when entry was gained, Saturday afternoon.

The smoke was coming from food on a stove, Medders said, adding that city firemen cleared the smoke with ejectors. Medders said she went to Mercy hospital herself for an irritated throat from the smoke. The officer was released.

Medders said she was on routine patrol at 3:54 p.m. when approached by Mrs. Clydie Partee, who reported being locked out of her home. Firemen said damage from the burning food was minor.

Woman Reports Sunday Escape In Parking Lot

A woman employe of the Ramada Inn, Benton township, told state police early Sunday that a man entered her auto in the inn parking lot and ordered her at knife-point to drive away with him.

Trooper Larry Squires of the Benton Harbor post said the woman reported she escaped with a minor hand cut after sounding the car horn and breaking free during a brief struggle. The would-be abductor was not located.

The post was notified at 2:35 a.m. by Ramona A. Ketch, 30, an inn employe, who said she was accosted after leaving work and while waiting for her car engine to warm up. She had a minor cut of the left hand, it was reported.

Miss Ketch said she was joined in her auto by a friend, who talked briefly and then returned to the inn where he was staying. He was identified as Sandy Hicks, 35, a truck driver from Denver, Colo. Miss Ketch said after Hicks left, a man in an adjacent auto opened her car door and asked if she had a jumper cable. He was reportedly referred to the desk clerk. Miss Ketch said the man turned away, but suddenly spun around and entered the front passenger door of her auto.

In a separate police report, Berrien Sheriff's Deputy Tom Page said Sandy Hicks, Denver, Colo., at 10:47 a.m. Saturday, reported that all eight tires of his truck trailer, valued at $750, were stolen. Page said the theft occurred while the trailer, owned by Midwestern Haulers, Denver, was parked for repairs at Meadowbrook and Tubbs roads, Benton township.

The woman's assailant was described as a white man about 165 pounds, between 5-feet, 9-inches and 5-feet, 11 inches tall and wearing a large mustache. His auto was described as an older dark blue Ford convertible.

Police Roundup

Benton Harbor police at 7:40 a.m. Saturday, investigated the theft of an IBM electric typewriter valued at $700 from the X-ray department of Mercy hospital, 960 Agard street.

Benton Harbor Patrolman Dale Easton said $200 in cash and cigarettes valued at $6 were stolen during a breakin Saturday at the Metro gasoline service station, 248 Colfax avenue.

Easton said he discovered the breakin while on routine patrol about 1:10 a.m.

The principal's office, candy store, and nurse's office at St. Joseph high school, 2521 Stadium drive, were broken into Sunday morning between 1:30 and 11, St. Joseph police said. A list of stolen goods was not compiled, pending futher investigation, police reported.

A Benton Harbor woman was arrested and booked into Berrien county jail early Sunday morning on a charge of carrying a concealed weapon after a city patrolman allegedly found a .22-caliber pistol in her purse, Benton Harbor police said.

Gladys B. Hamilton, 24, of 110 Linden court was arrested after police observed her leave a house at 815 Lavette street and get into a parked car, police said.

Police said an unidentified caller summoned them to the house saying an armed man was trying to enter a house where an argument had occurred during a birthday party.

Rev. T.N. Wilkins, owner of the Neighborhood Grocery, 1120 Columbus avenue, reported the theft of a tape player, pocket radio, cigarettes and soft drinks, all valued at $87, from his store early Sunday morning, Benton Harbor police said.

SHOULD YOUR HOUSE BE SOLD AFTER THE CHILDREN ARE GROWN?

This is a problem many parents have to face. You hate to leave a home with sentimental attachments. Yet, when the children are gone, it seems impractical to "keep up" so much more space than you need: cleaning it, heating it, mowing grass, shoveling snow, making repairs, running up and down stairs, etc.

The time comes when a smaller place or a compact apartment might make life infinitely easier for you. And you may be pleasantly surprised at how big a lump sum the old homestead will bring, nowadays!

We are prepared, both to help you relocate more suitably and also to sell your house for spot cash. Consult us without obligation. Come right in, or phone.

We're here to answer your questions until 7 p.m. on Fridays and Mondays and until 5 p.m. all other days except Sunday. Appointments anytime, at your convenience.

Vereen's Brief Fling With Liza Drew Hate Mail

VEREEN: He posed with Liza

DINAH: After Burt, few dates

Q: I loved Ben Vereen in "Roots" and wonder if it's true this talented black actor once dated Liza Minnelli. — R.H., Great Falls, Mont.

A: Liza and Ben were a duo during the winter of 1974-75. They posed semi-nude for photographer Scavullo (the picture appeared in a national magazine) and for a time, Liza wore a single earring to match Ben's. Each got lots of hate mail during the short-lived relationship.

Q: Do you think anyone will ever get the Beatles to hold a musical reunion or is that possibility dead forever? — V.Z., Sacramento, Calif.

A: Since they turned down Bill Sargent's offer of $50 million for a closed circuit world-wide TV appearance, there is a possibility that none other than Queen Elizabeth may accomplish this miracle. the Queen reportedly would like to see a reunion and if she makes the request, the Beatles probably would not refuse her.

PEOPLE

By Robin Adams Sloan

Q: I keep reading about Burt Reynolds and his new girl friends, but what about Dinah Shore's romance since they broke up? — D.C., Savannah, Ga.

A: It's been two years since the Shore-Reynolds love affair ended but Dinah rarely dates except for the obvious social necessities while Burt's been busy playing the field. Dinah's friends are beginning to get concerned about her.

Q: Is it true that Robert Redford stopped the presses on a book about him because he didn't like the contents? — E.M., St. Louis

A: Not quite. When Redford discovered a new book about his films was in the final stages he made a deal with the publisher to make some changes. He willingly put out more than $10,000 to cover the cost of changes in the book which was already set in type. He toned down some quoted material about his colleagues in the film world and made his childhood appear less unhappy.

Q: I've read that the Sonny and Cher TV show is doomed. If true, what plans does Cher have for continuing her career? — W.F., Centerville, Iowa

A: Cher is just as ambitious as Sonny, despite numerous stories to the contrary. Cher has no plans to take a rest if CBS drops her show. Cher hopes to turn her attention to the movies. She has her eye on the plum lead in the new version of "The Merry Widow," which Ingmar Bergman wants to make as his first American production. The great Swedish director is seriously considering Cher and her chief competition, believe it or not, is Diana Ross.

Q: With all the noise about Howard Hughes these days, why hasn't Jane Russell spoken out or written a book about being his protegee? — D.G., Denver

A: Jane's terribly loyal to the memory of the man who made her a big sex star with "The Outlaw" back in the 40's. Still, Jane's a shrewd business woman, making as much money in real estate these days as she did as a movie star. She is now seeking bids for her autobiography, which, of course, will be dominated by Hughes.

OLD SCHOOL TIES that bind: Even though he's a conservative Republican, look for William Scranton, our recent ambassador to the U.N., to get an important post under the Democrats. Bill has just quietly turned down the job of ambassador-at-large to the forthcoming Law of the Sea conference. But he may well turn up as our ambassador to the Geneva meeting on the Middle East. Bill and Secretary of State Cyrus Vance were classmates and good friends for seven years at Yale and the Yale Law School.

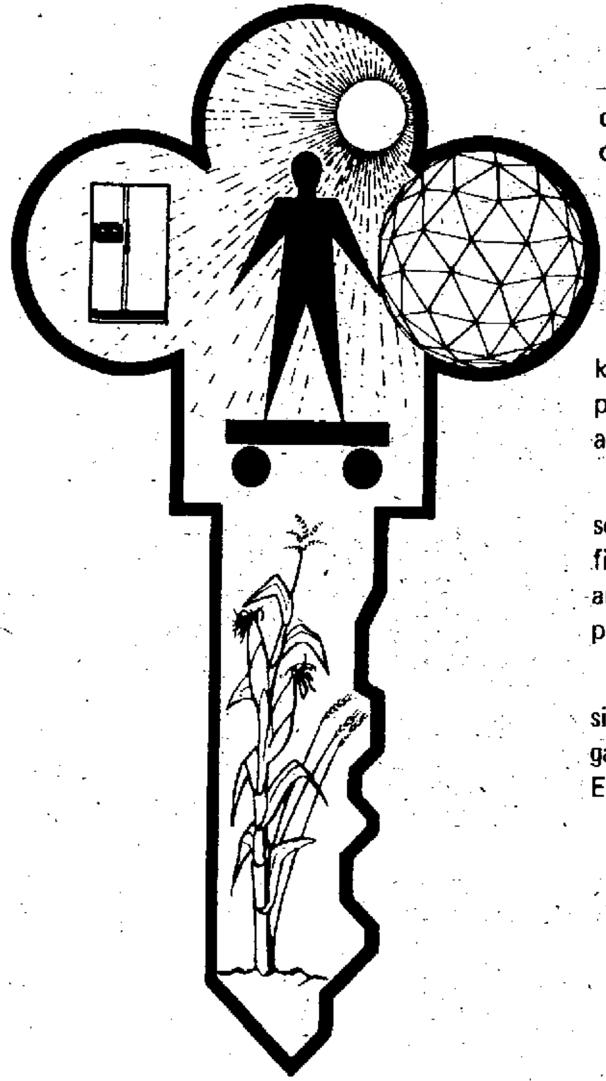
ENGINEERING



As our nation turns the key to our third century, we face many difficult challenges and opportunities . . .

Energy	Food
Environment	Transportation
Housing	Materials

Engineers of today and tomorrow are the keys of the future, working to develop new products and systems to aid Americans in adapting to changing lifestyles.

Hundreds of engineers at Whirlpool, representing more than 25 different engineering fields, are turning the keys — opening new doors and solving some of our nation's toughest problems.

Whirlpool Corporation salutes the professional engineer and encourages others to investigate engineering opportunities during National Engineer's Week . . . February 20-26.

William G. Milliken
Governor of the State of Michigan
Presents this Executive Declaration in Observance of February 20-26, 1977
as
ENGINEERS' WEEK

Throughout the 200 years of our Nation's history, the achievements of engineers have built the foundation for progresss and development. Engineers have contributed greatly in making America the leading technological nation in the world.

Today we are confronted with many challenges to our way of life; our standard of living—the highest in the world; and our free enterprise system. Engineers can help us find and develop better programs for energy independence, affordable mass transportation, environmental protection, better housing, increasing food production and other key elements which help our society realize the American dream.

Truly, the Key to the Future is Engineering, an appropriate theme for 1977 Engineers' Week. I call upon all engineers, all Michigan Engineering Technical Societies, and the Michigan Society of Professional Engineers to use their leadership and expertise to meet the critical needs of Michigan citizens.

Therefore, I, William G. Milliken, Governor of the State of Michigan, do hereby declare February 20 - 26, 1977, Engineers' Week in Michigan, and urge all citizens to give appropriate recognition to the skilled and dedicated men and women engineers in our state, a profession which plays an increasingly important role in bringing about a better Michigan.

AREA STUDENTS RECEIVE SCHOLASTIC AWARDS

Once again the Blossomland Chapter of Michigan Society of Professional Engineers has taken an active roll in the area of providing scholarships to prospective engineering students.

The Chapter offers two scholarships at Lake Michigan College and participates with the State and National societies in the selection of recipients for many additional scholarships.

This year, the Blossomland Chapter scholarship finalists are: Craig Eric Hadaly of Lakeshore High School; Victoria Eileen Kemp of Lakeshore High School; Burton A. Leland of Lakeshore High School; Stephen Russel Snyder of Benton Harbor High School.

Mr. Stephen Snyder was selected as the State finalist for the National Society of Professional Engineers scholarship. This is a $1000 grant to any NSPE accredited engineering school.

Mr. Burton Leland was selected as the State finalist for the Valparaiso University scholarship. This is a $1000 scholarship for four years at Valparaiso University.

In addition to the above scholarships, other awards will be made at the State meeting in March enabling these young people from our area to stand a very good chance of receiving a scholarship which will aid them in pursuing their education in the field of engineering.

This supplement is provided by the Blossomland Chapter of the Michigan Society of Professional Engineers in cooperation with companies in the Southwestern Michigan area. Throughout our nation's history, engineers have made important contributions in the design and development of most of the things that make America work for us. America is maturing, and the Hallmark of Maturity, in man as well as nation, is the wisdom to recognize change and the strength to accomodate it. If engineers are to continue to meet the challenge that a free economy offers we must supply the ever growing demand for trained engineers. "Key to the Future...Engineering" Our 1977 theme represents encouragement and guidance for the young potential engineer.

The Blossomland Chapter of the Michigan Society of Professional Engineers would like to thank the following organizations for help in publishing this supplement.

engineering for growth

For more than a quarter-century Heath engineers — men in shirt sleeves at design benches — have been calculating, building, testing. Engineering the growth of a company in the complex world of electronics. Engineering the growth of the unique idea of do-it-yourself electronic kits. Today, Heath has 105 engineers who have produced the present line of nearly 400 different kits.

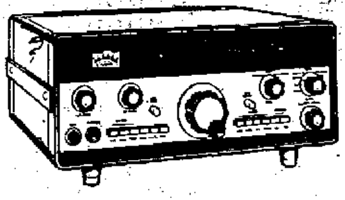
INSTRUMENTS ENGINEERING

Heath's first kit was a test instrument — an oscilloscope. It was designed by two men. Today there are twelve men in the instrument engineering group, headed by M. Rockwell. Including indicating instruments, generating instruments and automotive instruments, the instrument line today totals over one hundred models including both kit and factory assembled versions. The instrument engineering staff includes: R. Ashton, L. Bailey, N. Bradshaw, L. Collyer, P. Gahlback, C. Jones, K. Kuhlman, T. Leighton, F. Newton, M. Rapaich, E. Taylor, and R. Warner.

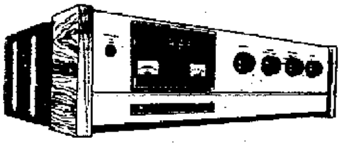
HOME COMPUTER PRODUCTS

Heath's newest design group has been formed to bring out a soon-to-be-introduced line of personal computing products. Directed by T. Yeager are H. Archer, K. Bates, N. Benedlitz, B. Cubbage, B. Davis, C. Goy, G. Letwin, J. Huber, R. McLemore, D. Plumhoff, A. Schulz, B. Suzor, M. Thomas and L. Unger.



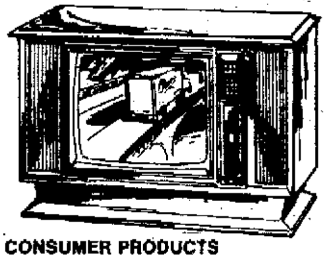
COMMUNICATIONS ENGINEERING

This design group has grown from one engineer and one product in 1952 to a staff of twelve with a product line of more than seventy-five models for amateur radio operators and shortwave listeners. Directed by H. Myers, the staff includes D. Evans, R. Fernau, T. Glover, W. Keller, R. Knapp, L. Lambert, R. Mann, T. Perdue, D. Poulson, W. Simciac, J. Smiley and R. Trapp.



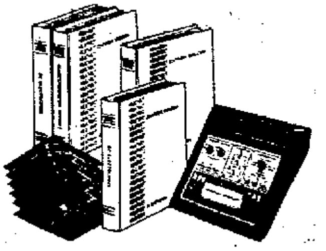
AUDIO ENGINEERING

Twelve men engineer this extensive line of stereo and 4-channel components which has grown to over fifty different models of receivers, amplifiers, tuners, speakers and accessories. D. Klauck directs H. Banick, J. Bruss, O. Dehn, W. Griffin, B. Hodges, J. Kessler, L. Lemon, K. McCavit, D. Plangger, W. Schewe and B. Weackler.



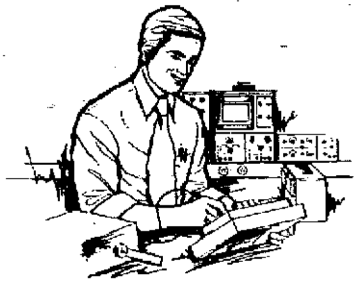
CONSUMER PRODUCTS ENGINEERING

Today, sixteen men engineer a comprehensive line of TV kits and other consumer products. The group, directed by R. Brockway, includes G. Baumgarten, R. Brahman, D. Buzalski, G. Covert, M. Gaishen, B. Heyning, B. Lange, R. Lechner, D. Hornback, J. Ludlam, J. Maldups, I. Mertes, D. Thomas, B. Trump and D. Wood.



EDUCATIONAL ENGINEERING

This group will soon be producing its fourth electronic learn-at-home course and appropriate laboratory equipment. This specialized group is headed by B. Capes, directing D. Bonham, P. Cole, R. Furtaw, and L. Larsen.

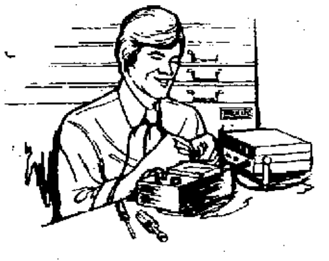


ENGINEERING SERVICES

Originally each engineer performed the functions now offered by this group. Those functions include component analysis, drafting and styling. The staff, headed by W. Kooy, includes C. Fischer, H. Krenz, R. Nelson, J. Park, D. Scharnowske, H. Seeley, C. Shine, S. Sizer and F. Thompson.

PRODUCT ENGINEERING

The engineers who make it all happen after the design engineers have finished. Devising production line techniques, not just for normal assembly processes, but also for the unique aspects of kit production...special packaging sequences and testing of processes. The group of nine, directed by B. Lieberg, includes C. Christian, O. Cook, R. Devens, H. Eich, R. Herron, D. Hinsdale, K. McCuffin, M. Rapp and R. Rulz.



QUALITY ASSURANCE ENGINEERING

One of the largest groups in the company...analyzing, checking, testing...incoming parts, production output and every step in between...helping prove Heath customers get more than their money's worth. K. Meyer directs D. Baldridge, D. Barnick, S. Gwyer, J. McCann, K. Nelson, J. Olson, R. Renken, P. Thielen, G. Tolsma and H. Zelmer.

Jack A. Druckemiller, Environmental Manager To Speak to Area High School Students

He was graduated from Purdue University with a degree of Bachelor of Science in Electrical Engineering in 1948. He also has attended two summer sessions at the University of Michigan conducted expressly for executives of I&M and its parent firm.

Mr. Druckemiller as manager of environmental affairs is responsible for all of the utility's activity relating to the environment, including regulations by federal, state, county and municipal environmental agencies. He has been closely associated with environmental acitvities involved in the construction of his company's first and one of the world's largest nuclear generating stations on the shore of Lake Michigan.

He was a resident of Stevensville, Michigan before moving to I&M's General Offices in Fort Wayne.

The topic of Mr. Druckemiller's talk will be "The High Cost of Energy Independence". It will consist of a brief discussion of the present energy situation and the possible short-term solutions. New sources such as Geothermal, Solar, Nuclear Fusion, Windmills and Ocean Thermal Gradients are mentioned as possible future energy sources.

On February 23rd, the Blossomland Chapter of the Michigan Society of Professional Engineers is providing an opportunity for high school students in Southwestern Michigan to learn more about engineering as a possible profession. Through the cooperation of area companies, the Chapter will provide an "Engineer for a Day" program and tours of companies, engineering displays and an opportunity to interact with practicing engineers at the Engineers' Week Banquet held at Andrews University. If you have a son or daughter interested in engineering, have them contact their high school guidance counselor to participate in the program.

The Blossomland Society of Professional Engineers is comprised of members who are dedicated to developing new and improved engineering methods which provide solutions to the many problems in industrial development, human safety, transportation, pollution, world health, environment, and energy.

THE ENGINEER'S CREED

As a professional engineer, I dedicate my professional knowledge and skill to the advancement and betterment of human welfare.

I PLEDGE:
To give the utmost of performance;
to participate in none but honest enterprise;
To live and work to the laws of man and the highest standards of professional conduct;

To place service before profit, the honor and standing of the profession before personal advantage, and the public welfare above all other considerations.

In humility and in need of Divine Guidance I make this pledge.

To participate in none but honest enterprise.
